

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

UNANIMOUSLY PASSED BY THE CONGRESS OF THE THIRTEEN
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, JULY 4, 1776.*

When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the Powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his Assent to Laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his Assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other Laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of Representation in the Legislature, a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their Public Records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

*The following text and its appended historical note are reprinted from the United States Revised Statutes, 2d ed., 1873.

He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the legislative Powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise; the State remaining in the mean time exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the Laws for Naturalization of Foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new Appropriations of Lands.

He has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his Assent to Laws for establishing Judiciary Powers.

He has made Judges dependent on his Will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harrass our People, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, Standing Armies without the Consent of our legislature.

He has affected to render the Military independent of and superior to the Civil Power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his Assent to their acts of pretended Legislation:

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by a mock Trial, from Punishment for any Murders which they should commit on the Inhabitants of these States:

For cutting off our Trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing taxes on us without our Consent:

For depriving us in many cases, of the benefits of Trial by Jury:

For transporting us beyond Seas to be tried for pretended offences:

For abolishing the free System of English Laws in a neighboring Province, establishing therein an Arbitrary government, and enlarging its Boundaries so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these Colonies:

For taking away our Charters, abolishing our most valuable Laws, and altering fundamentally the Forms of our Government:

For suspending our own Legislature, and declaring themselves invested with Power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated Government here, by declaring us out of his Protection and waging War against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our Coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of Cruelty & perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the Head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow Citizens taken Captive on the high Seas to bear Arms against their Country, to become the executioners of their friends and Brethren, or to fall themselves by their Hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavoured to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian Savages, whose known rule of warfare, is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions.

In every stage of these Oppressions We have Petitioned for Redress in the most humble terms: Our repeated Petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a Tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free People.

Nor have We been wanting in attention to our British brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which, would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our Separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, Enemies in War, in Peace Friends.

We, therefore, the Representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress, Assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the Name, and by Authority of the good People of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of Right ought to be Free and Independent States; that they are Absolved from all Allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain, is and ought to be totally dissolved; and that as Free and Independent States, they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce, and to do all other Acts and Things which Independent States may of right do. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the Protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor.

(Signed) JOHN HANCOCK.

And by the delegates from New Hampshire, Massachusetts Bay, Connecticut, Rhode Island, etc., New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia.

CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

PREAMBLE.

We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquillity, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

ARTICLE I.

SECTION 1. All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

SECTION 2. The House of Representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several States, and the electors in each State shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State legislature.

No person shall be a Representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen.

*[Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several states which may be included within this Union, according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons.] The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of Representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand, but each State shall have at least one Representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the State of New Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New York six, New Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland six, Virginia ten, North Carolina five, South Carolina five, Georgia three.

When vacancies happen in the representation from any State, the executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

The House of Representatives shall choose their Speaker and other officers; and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

SECTION 3. The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, chosen by the legislature thereof, for six years; and each Senator shall have one vote.

Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the Senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year, and of the third class at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one-third may be chosen every second year; and if vacancies happen by resignation, or otherwise, during the recess of the legislature of any state, the executive thereof may make temporary appointments [until the next meeting of the legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies.]

* The clause included in brackets is amended by the fourteenth amendment, second section.

No person shall be a Senator who shall not have attained to the age of thirty years and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that State for which he shall be chosen.

The Vice President of the United States shall be President of the Senate, but shall have no vote, unless they be equally divided.

The Senate shall choose their other officers, and also a President pro tempore, in the absence of the Vice President, or when he shall exercise the office of President of the United States.

The Senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose, they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the President of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside: And no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust or profit under the United States: but the party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment and punishment, according to law.

SECTION 4. The times, places and manner of holding elections for Senators and Representatives, shall be prescribed in each State by the legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing Senators.

The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

SECTION 5. Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner, and under such penalties as each house may provide.

Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member.

Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house on any question shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

Neither house, during the session of Congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

SECTION 6. The Senators and Representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the Treasury of the United States. They shall in all cases, except treason, felony and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

No Senator or Representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof should have been increased during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States, shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office.

SECTION 7. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives; but the Senate may propose or concur with amendments as on other bills.

Every bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate, shall, before it become a law, be presented to the President of the United States; if he approve he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it, with his objections to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such reconsideration two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the President within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their adjournment prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

Every order, resolution, or vote to which the concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the President of the United States; and before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

SECTION 8. The Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts and excises, to pay the debts and provide for the common defence and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States:

To borrow money on the credit of the United States;

To regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian tribes;

To establish an uniform rule of naturalization, and uniform laws on the subject of bankruptcies throughout the United States;

To coin money, regulate the value thereof, and of foreign coin, and fix the standard of weights and measures;

To provide for the punishment of counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United States;

To establish post offices and post roads;

To promote the progress of science and useful arts by securing for limited times to authors and inventors the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries;

To constitute tribunals inferior to the Supreme Court;

To define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and offenses against the law of nations;

To declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water;

To raise and support armies, but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer term than two years;

To provide and maintain a navy;

To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces;

To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrections and repel invasions;

To provide for organizing, arming, and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, reserving to the States respectively, the appointment of the officers, and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by Congress;

To exercise exclusive legislation in all cases whatsoever, over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular States, and the acceptance of Congress, become the seat of the government of the United States, and to exercise like authority over all places purchased by the consent of the legislature of the State in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dockyards, and other needful buildings; and

To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this Constitution in the Government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof.

SECTION 9. The migration or importation of such persons as any of the States now existing shall think proper to admit, shall not be prohibited by the Congress prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight, but a tax or duty may be imposed on such importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each person.

The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in cases of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require it.

No bill of attainder or ex post facto law shall be passed.

No capitation, or other direct tax shall be laid, unless in proportion to the census or enumeration hereinbefore directed to be taken.

No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any State.

No preference shall be given by any regulation of commerce or revenue to the ports of one State over those of another: nor shall vessels bound to, or from, one State, be obliged to enter, clear, or pay duties in another.

No money shall be drawn from the treasury, but in consequence of appropriations made by law; and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published from time to time.

No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States: And no person holding any office of profit or trust under them, shall, without the consent of the Congress, accept of any present, emolument, office, or title, of any kind whatever, from any king, prince, or foreign State.

SECTION 10. No State shall enter into any treaty, alliance, or confederation; grant letters of marque and reprisal; coin money; emit bills of credit; make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts; pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts, or grant any title of nobility.

No state shall, without the consent of the Congress, lay any imposts or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws: and the net produce of all duties and imposts, laid by any State on imports or exports, shall be for the use of the Treasury of the United States; and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of the Congress.

No state shall, without the consent of Congress, lay any duty of tonnage, keep troops, or ships of war in time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another State, or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE II.

SECTION 1. The executive power shall be vested in a President of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and, together with the Vice President, chosen for the same term, be elected as follows:

Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in the congress: but no Senator or Representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

[*The electors shall meet in their respective States, and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same State with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and of the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate. The President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the House of Representatives shall immediately choose by ballot one of them for President; and if no person have a majority, then from the five highest on the list the said House shall in like manner choose the President. But in choosing the President, the votes shall be taken by States, the representation from each State having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the States, and a majority of all the States shall be necessary to a choice. In every case, after the choice of the President, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors shall be the Vice President. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the Senate shall choose from them by ballot the Vice President.]

The Congress may determine the time of choosing the electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes; which day shall be the same throughout the United States.

No person except a natural born citizen, or a citizen of the United States, at the time of the adoption of this Constitution, shall be eligible to the office of President; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

In case of the removal of the President from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the Vice President, and the Congress may by law provide for the case of removal, death, resignation or inability, both of the President and Vice President, declaring what officer shall then act as President, and such officer shall act accordingly, until the disability be removed, or a President shall be elected.

The President shall, at stated times, receive for his services, a compensation, which shall be neither increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected, and he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States, or any of them.

Before he enter on the execution of his office, he shall take the following oath or affirmation:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States, and will to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the constitution of the United States."

SECTION 2. The President shall be commander in chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several States, when called into the actual service of the United States; he may require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices, and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offenses against the United States, except in cases of impeachment.

He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the Senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall appoint ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, judges of the Supreme Court, and all other officers of the United States, whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law; but the Congress may by law vest the appointment of such inferior officers, as they think proper, in the President alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

The President shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session.

SECTION 3. He shall from time to time give to the Congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient; he may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both Houses, or either of them, and in case of disagreement between them, with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper; he shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers; he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

SECTION 4. The President, Vice President and all civil officers of the United States, shall be removed from office on impeachment for, and conviction of, treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

ARTICLE III.

SECTION 1. The judicial power of the United States, shall be vested in one Supreme Court, and in such inferior courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain and establish. The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

SECTION 2. The judicial power shall extend to all cases, in law and equity, arising under this Constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority; to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or more states; between a state and citizens of another State; between citizens of different states; between citizens of the same State claiming lands under grants of different States, and between a State, or the citizens thereof, and foreign States, citizens or subjects.

In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a State shall be party, the Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned, the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions, and under such regulations as the Congress shall make.

The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury; and such trial shall be held in the State where the said crime shall have been committed; but when not committed within any State, the trial shall be at such place or places as the Congress may by law have directed.

SECTION 3. Treason against the United States, shall consist only in levying war against them, or, in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act or on confession in open court.

The Congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason, but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture except during the life of the person attained.

ARTICLE IV.

SECTION 1. Full faith and credit shall be given in each State to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of every other State. And the Congress may by general laws prescribe the manner in which such acts, records and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof.

SECTION 2. The citizens of each State shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several States.

A person charged in any State with treason, felony, or other crime, who shall flee from justice, and be found in another State, shall on demand of the executive authority of the State from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the State having jurisdiction of the crime.

No person held to service or labor in one State, under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor, but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labor may be due.

SECTION 3. New States may be admitted by the Congress into this Union; but no new State shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other State; nor any State be formed by the junction of two or more States, or parts of States, without the consent of the legislatures of the States concerned as well as of the Congress.

The Congress shall have power to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States, or of any particular State.

SECTION 4. The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion; and on application of the legislature, or of the executive (when the legislature cannot be convened) against domestic violence.

ARTICLE V.

The Congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution, or, on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several States, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several States, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the Congress; provided that no amendment which may be made prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight shall in any manner affect the first and fourth clauses in the ninth section of the first article; and that no State, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the Senate.

ARTICLE VI.

All debts contracted and engagements entered into, before the adoption of this Constitution, shall be as valid against the United States under this Constitution, as under the Confederation.

This Constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof; and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land; and the judges in every State shall be bound thereby, anything in the Constitution or laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding.

The Senators and Representatives before mentioned, and the members of the several State legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several States, shall be bound by oath or affirmation, to support this Constitution; but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

ARTICLE VII.

The ratification of the conventions of nine States shall be sufficient for the establishment of this Constitution between the States so ratifying the same.

Done in convention by the unanimous consent of the States present the seventeenth day of September in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty-seven and of the Independence of the United States of America the twelfth. In witness whereof we have hereunto subscribed our names,

AMENDMENTS.

ARTICLE I.

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

ARTICLE II.

A well regulated militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed.

ARTICLE III.

No soldier shall, in time of peace be quartered in any house, without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE IV.

The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

ARTICLE V.

No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life and limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation.

ARTICLE VI.

In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the state and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation, to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of counsel for his defense.

ARTICLE VII.

In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried by a jury, shall be otherwise re-examined in any court of the United States, than according to rules of the common law.

ARTICLE VIII.

Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

ARTICLE IX.

The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

ARTICLE X.

The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.

ARTICLE XI.

The judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by citizens of another State, or by citizens or subjects of any foreign State.

ARTICLE XII.

The electors shall meet in their respective States and vote by ballot for President and Vice President, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same State with themselves; they shall name in their ballots the person voted for as President, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as Vice President and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as President, and of all persons voted for as Vice President, and of the number of votes for each, which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate;—the President of the Senate shall, in presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates and the votes shall then be counted;—the person having the greatest number of votes for President, shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers not exceeding three on the list of those voted for as President, the House of Representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the President. But in choosing the President, the vote shall be taken by States, the representation from each State having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the States, and a majority of all the States shall be necessary to a choice. And if the House of Representatives shall not choose a President whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the Vice President shall act as President, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the President.—

The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice President, shall be the Vice President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed, and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list, the Senate shall choose the Vice President; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of Senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice. But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of President shall be eligible to that of Vice President of the United States.

ARTICLE XIII.

SECTION 1. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

SECTION 2. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

ARTICLE XIV.

SECTION 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

SECTION 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice President of the United States, Representative in Congress, the executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such state, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion, or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

SECTION 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath, as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

SECTION 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

SECTION 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

ARTICLE XV.

SECTION 1. The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

SECTION 2. The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

ARTICLE XVI.

The Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several States, and without regard to any census or enumeration.

ARTICLE XVII.

The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, elected by the people thereof, for six years; and each Senator shall have one vote. The electors in each State shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State legislatures.

When vacancies happen in the representation of any State in the Senate, the executive authority of such State shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies: Provided, That the legislature of any State may empower the executive thereof to make temporary appointment until the people fill the vacancies by election as the legislature may direct.

This amendment shall not be so construed as to affect the election or term of any Senator chosen before it becomes valid as part of the Constitution.

CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF WISCONSIN.

PREAMBLE

We, the people of Wisconsin, grateful to Almighty God for our freedom; in order to secure its blessings, form a more perfect government, insure domestic tranquillity and promote the general welfare; do establish this Constitution.

ARTICLE I.

DECLARATION OF RIGHTS.

SECTION 1. All men are born equally free and independent, and have certain inherent rights; among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness: to secure these rights governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed.

SECTION 2. There should be neither slavery, nor involuntary servitude in this state, otherwise than for the punishment of crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted.

SECTION 3. Every person may freely speak, write and publish his sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of that right, and no laws shall be passed to restrain or abridge the liberty of speech, or of the press. In all criminal prosecutions, or indictments for libel, the truth may be given in evidence, and if it shall appear to the jury, that the matter charged as libelous be true, and was published with good motives and for justifiable ends, the party shall be acquitted; and the jury shall have the right to determine the law and the fact.

SECTION 4. The right of the people peaceably to assemble, to consult for the common good, and to petition the government, or any department thereof, shall never be abridged.

SECTION 5. The right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate; and shall extend to all cases at law, without regard to the amount in controversy; but a jury trial may be waived by the parties in all cases, in the manner prescribed by law.

SECTION 6. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor shall excessive fines be imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

SECTION 7. In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to be heard by himself and counsel; to demand the nature and cause of the accusation against him; to meet the witnesses face to face; to have compulsory process to compel the attendance of witnesses in his behalf; and in prosecutions by indictment, or information, to a speedy public trial by an impartial jury of the county or district wherein the offense shall have been committed; which county or district shall have been previously ascertained by law.

SECTION 8. No person shall be held to answer for a criminal offense with out due process of law, and no person for the same offense shall be put twice in jeopardy of punishment nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself. All persons shall before conviction be bailable by sufficient sureties except for capital offenses, when the proof is evident or the presumption great and the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless when in cases of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require it.

SECTION 9. Every person is entitled to a certain remedy in the laws, for all injuries, or wrongs which he may receive in his person, property, or character; he ought to obtain justice freely, and without being obliged to purchase it, completely and without denial, promptly and without delay, conformably to the laws.

SECTION 10. Treason against the State shall consist only in levying war against the same, or in adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason, unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

SECTION 11. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated; and no warrants shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath, or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

SECTION 12. No bill of attainder, ex-post facto law, nor any law impairing the obligation of contracts shall ever be passed, and no conviction shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture of estate.

SECTION 13. The property of no person shall be taken for public use without just compensation therefor.

SECTION 14. All lands within the State are declared to be allodial, and feudal tenures are prohibited; leases and grants of agricultural land, for a longer term than fifteen years, in which rent, or service of any kind shall be reserved, and all fines and like restraints upon alienation, reserved in any grant of land, hereafter made, are declared to be void.

SECTION 15. No distinction shall ever be made by law, between resident aliens and citizens, in reference to the possession, enjoyment, or descent of property.

SECTION 16. No person shall be imprisoned for debt arising out of, or founded on a contract, expressed or implied.

SECTION 17. The privilege of the debtor to enjoy the necessary comforts of life, shall be recognized by wholesome laws, exempting a reasonable amount of property from seizure, or sale for the payment of any debt, or liability hereafter contracted.

SECTION 18. The right of every man to worship Almighty God, according to the dictates of his own conscience, shall never be infringed, nor shall any man be compelled to attend, erect, or support any place of worship, or to maintain any ministry against his consent; nor shall any control of, or interference with, the rights of conscience be permitted, or any preference be given by law to any religious establishments, or modes of worship; nor shall any money be drawn from the treasury for the benefit of religious societies, or religious, or theological seminaries.

SECTION 19. No religious test shall ever be required as a qualification for any office of public trust under the State, and no person shall be rendered incompetent to give evidence in any court of law, or equity, in consequence of his opinions on the subject of religion.

SECTION 20. The military shall be in strict subordination to the civil power.

SECTION 21. Writs of error shall never be prohibited by law.

SECTION 22. The blessings of a free government can only be maintained by a firm adherence to justice, moderation, temperance, frugality and virtue, and by frequent recurrence to fundamental principles.

ARTICLE II.

BOUNDARIES.

SECTION 1. It is hereby ordained and declared, that the State of Wisconsin doth consent and accept of the boundaries prescribed in the act of Congress entitled "An act to enable the people of Wisconsin Territory to form a Constitution and State government, and for the admission of such State into the Union," approved August sixth, one thousand eight hundred and forty-six, to wit: Beginning at the northeast corner of the State of Illinois—that is to say; at a point in the center of Lake Michigan, where the line of forty-two degrees and thirty minutes of north latitude crosses the same; thence running with the boundary line of the State of Michigan, through Lake Michigan, Green Bay, to the mouth of the Menomonie river; thence up the channel of the said river to the Brule river; thence up said last mentioned river to Lake Brule; thence along the southern shore of Lake Brule in a direct line to the center of the channel between Middle and South Islands, in the Lake of the Desert; thence in a direct line to the head waters of the Montreal river, as marked upon the survey made by Captain Cramm; thence down the main channel of the Montreal river to the middle of Lake Superior; thence through the center of Lake Superior to the mouth of the St. Louis river; thence up the main channel of said river to the first rapids in the same, above the Indian village, according to Nichollet's map; thence due south to the main branch of the river St. Croix; thence down the main channel of said river to the Mississippi; thence down the center of the main channel of that river to the northwest corner of the State of Illinois; thence due east with the northern boundary of the State of Illinois to the place of beginning, as established by "an act to enable the people of the Illinois Territory to form a constitution and State government, and for the admission of such State into the Union on an equal footing with the original States," approved April 18th, 1818. [Provided, however, that the following alteration of the aforesaid boundary be, and hereby is proposed to the Congress of the United States as the preference of the State of Wisconsin, and if the same shall be assented and agreed to by the Congress of the United States, then the same shall be and forever remain obligatory on the State of Wisconsin, viz.: Leaving the aforesaid boundary line at the foot of the rapids of the St. Louis river; thence in a direct line, bearing south-westerly, to the mouth of the Iskodewabo, or Rum river, where the same empties into the Mississippi river, thence down the main channel of said Mississippi river as prescribed in the aforesaid boundary.]

SECTION 2. The propositions contained in the act of Congress are hereby accepted, ratified and confirmed, and shall remain irrevocable without the consent of the United States; and it is hereby ordained that this State shall never interfere with the primary disposal of the soil within the same by the United States, nor with any regulations Congress may find necessary for securing the title in such soil to bona-fide purchasers thereof; and no tax shall be imposed on land, the property of the United States; and in no case shall nonresident proprietors be taxed higher than residents. Provided, that nothing in this Constitution, or in the Act of Congress aforesaid, shall in any manner prejudice, or affect the right of the State of Wisconsin to five hundred thousand acres of land, granted to said state, and to be hereafter selected and located by and under the Act of Congress entitled "An act to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of the public lands, and grant pre-emption rights," approved September fourth, one thousand eight hundred and forty-one.

*The proposal contained in the bracket was rejected by the Act of May 29, 1848, admitting the State.

ARTICLE III.

SUFFRAGE.

[Section 1, as amended by a vote of the people at the General Election, November 7, 1882, and November 3, 1908.]

SECTION 1. Every male person of the age of twenty-one years or upwards, belonging to either of the following classes, who shall have resided in the State for one year next preceding any election, and in the election district where he offers to vote, such time as may be prescribed by the Legislature not exceeding thirty days shall be deemed a qualified elector at such election.

1. Citizens of the United States.

2. Persons of foreign birth who, prior to the first day of December, A. D. 1908, shall have declared their intentions to become citizens conformable to the laws of the United States on the subject of naturalization, provided that the rights hereby granted to such persons shall cease on the first day of December, A. D. 1912.

3. Persons of Indian blood who have once been declared by law of congress to be citizens of the United States, any subsequent law of congress to the contrary notwithstanding.

4. Civilized persons of Indian descent not members of any tribe; provided that the legislature may at any time extend, by law, the right of suffrage to persons not herein enumerated, but no such law shall be in force until the same shall have been submitted to a vote of the people at a general election, and approved by a majority of all the votes cast at such election; and provided further, that in incorporated cities and villages, the legislature may provide for the registration of electors and prescribe proper rules and regulations therefor.

SECTION 2. No person under guardianship, non-compos mentis, or insane, shall be qualified to vote at any election; nor shall any person convicted of treason, or felony, be qualified to vote at any election, unless restored to civil rights.

SECTION 3. All votes shall be given by ballot, except for such township officers as may by law be directed, or allowed to be otherwise chosen.

SECTION 4. No person shall be deemed to have lost his residence in this State, by reason of his absence on business of the United States, or of this State.

SECTION 5. No soldier, seaman, or marine in the army or navy of the United States shall be deemed a resident of this State, in consequence of being stationed within the same.

SECTION 6. Laws may be passed excluding from the right of suffrage all persons who have been or may be convicted of bribery, or larceny, or of any infamous crime, and depriving every person who shall make, or become directly, or indirectly interested, in any bet or wager depending upon the result of any election, from the right to vote at such election.

ARTICLE IV.

LEGISLATIVE.

SECTION 1. The legislative power shall be vested in a Senate and Assembly.

SECTION 2. The number of the members of the Assembly shall never be less than fifty-four, nor more than one hundred. The Senate shall consist of a number not more than one-third, nor less than one-fourth of the number of the members of the Assembly.

[Section 3, as amended by a vote of the people at the General Election, November 8, 1910.]

SECTION 3. At their first session after each enumeration, made by the authority of the United States, the legislature shall apportion and district anew the members of the Senate and Assembly, according to the number of inhabitants, excluding Indians not taxed, and soldiers and officers of the United States Army and Navy.

[Section 4, as amended by a vote of the people at the General Election, November 8, 1881.]

SECTION 4. The members of the assembly shall be chosen biennially, by single districts, on the Tuesday succeeding the first Monday of November, after the adoption of this amendment, by the qualified electors of the several districts, such districts to be bounded by county, precinct, town or ward lines, to consist of contiguous territory, and be in as compact form as practicable.

[Section 5, as amended by a vote of the people at the General Election, November 8, 1881.]

SECTION 5. That senators, shall be elected by single districts of convenient contiguous territory, at the same time and in the same manner as members of the assembly are required to be chosen, and no assembly district shall be divided in the formation of a senate district. The senate district shall be numbered in the regular series, and the senators shall be chosen alternately from the odd and even-numbered districts. The Senators elected or holding over at the time of the adoption of this amendment shall continue in office till their successors are duly elected and qualified; and after the adoption of this amendment all senators shall be chosen for the term of four years.

SECTION 6. No person shall be eligible to the Legislature, who shall not have resided one year within the State, and be a qualified elector in the district which he may be chosen to represent.

SECTION 7. Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own members; and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business: but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may compel the attendance of absent members in such manner and under such penalties, as each house may provide.

SECTION 8. Each house may determine the rules of its own proceedings, punish for contempt and disorderly behavior, and with the concurrence of two-thirds of all the members elected, expel a member; but no member shall be expelled a second time for the same cause.

SECTION 9. Each house shall choose its own officers, and the Senate shall choose a temporary president, when the Lieutenant-Governor shall not attend as president, or shall act as Governor.

SECTION 10. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings and publish the same, except such parts as require secrecy. The doors of each house shall be kept open except when the public welfare shall require secrecy. Neither house shall, without consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days.

[Section 11, as amended by a vote of the people at the General Election, November 8, 1881.]

SECTION 11. The legislature shall meet at the seat of government at such time as shall be provided by law once in two years, and no oftener, unless convened by the Governor, in special session, and when so convened no business shall be transacted except as shall be necessary to accomplish the special purposes for which it was convened.

SECTION 12. No member of the Legislature shall, during the term for which he was elected, be appointed or elected to any civil office in the State, which shall have been created, or the emoluments of which shall have been increased, during the term for which he was elected.

SECTION 13. No person being a member of Congress or holding any military or civil office under the United States, shall be eligible to a seat in the Legislature, and if any person shall, after his election as a member of the Legislature, be elected to Congress, or be appointed to any office, civil or military, under the government of the United States, his acceptance thereof shall vacate his seat.

SECTION 14. The Governor shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies as may occur in either house of the Legislature.

SECTION 15. Members of the Legislature shall in all cases, except treason, felony and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest; nor shall they be subject to any civil process, during the session of the Legislature, nor for fifteen days next before the commencement and after the termination of each session.

SECTION 16. No member of the Legislature shall be liable in any civil action, or criminal prosecution whatever, for words spoken in debate.

SECTION 17. The style of the laws of the State shall be "The people of the State of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:" and no law shall be enacted except by bill.

SECTION 18. No private or local bill which may be passed by the Legislature shall embrace more than one subject, and that shall be expressed in the title.

SECTION 19. Any bill may originate in either house of the Legislature, and a bill passed by one house may be amended by the other.

SECTION 20. The yeas and nays of the members of either house, on any question shall, at the request of one-sixth of those present, be entered on the journal.

[Section 21, as amended by a vote of the people at the General Election, November 8, 1881.]

SECTION 21. Each member of the legislature shall receive for his services, for and during a regular session, the sum of five hundred dollars, and ten cents for every mile he shall travel in going to and returning from the place of meeting of the legislature on the most usual route. In case of an extra session of the legislature, no additional compensation shall be allowed to any member thereof, either directly or indirectly, except for mileage to be computed at the same rate as for a regular session. No stationery, newspapers, postage or other perquisite except the salary and mileage above provided, shall be received from the state by any member of the Legislature for his services, or in any other manner as such member.

SECTION 22. The Legislature may confer upon the boards of supervisors of the several counties of the State, such powers of a local, legislative and administrative character, as they shall from time to time prescribe.

SECTION 23. The Legislature shall establish but one system of town and county government, which shall be as nearly uniform as practicable.

SECTION 24. The Legislature shall never authorize any lottery, or grant any divorce.

SECTION 25. The Legislature shall provide by law, that all stationery required for the use of the State, and all printing authorized and required by them to be done for their use, or for the State, shall be let by contract to the lowest bidder, but the Legislature may establish a maximum price; no member of the Legislature, or other state officer, shall be interested, either directly or indirectly, in any such contract.

SECTION 26. The Legislature shall never grant any extra compensation to any public officer, agent, servant, or contractor, after the services shall have been rendered, or the contract entered into; nor shall the compensation of any public officer be increased, or diminished during his term of office.

SECTION 27. The Legislature shall direct by law in what manner and in what courts, suits may be brought against the State.

SECTION 28. Members of the Legislature, and all officers, executive and judicial, except such inferior officers as may be by law exempted, shall before they enter upon the duties of their respective offices, take and subscribe an oath, or affirmation to support the Constitution of the United States, and the Constitution of the State of Wisconsin, and faithfully to discharge the duties of their respective offices to the best of their ability.

SECTION 29. The Legislature shall determine what persons shall constitute the militia of the State, and may provide for organizing and disciplining the same in such manner as shall be prescribed by law.

SECTION 30. In all elections to be made by the Legislature, the members thereof shall vote viva voce, and their votes shall be entered on the journal.

[Sections 31 and 32, as amended by a vote of the people at the General Election, November 7, 1871, and amendment to section 31, adopted November 8, 1892.]

SECTION 31. The Legislature is prohibited from enacting any special or private laws in the following cases: 1st. For changing the name of persons or constituting one person the heir-at-law of another. 2d. For laying out, opening or altering highways, except in cases of state roads extending into more than one county, and military roads to aid in the construction of which lands may be granted by Congress. 3d. For authorizing persons to keep ferries across streams at points wholly within this state. 4th. For authorizing the sale or mortgage of real or personal property of minors or others under disability. 5th. For locating or changing any county seat. 6th. For assessment or collection of taxes or for extending the time for the collection thereof. 7th. For granting corporate powers or privileges except to cities. 8th. For authorizing the apportionment of any part of the school fund. 9th. For incorporating any city, town or village, or to amend the charter thereof.

SECTION 32. The Legislature shall provide general laws for the transaction of any business that may be prohibited by section thirty-one of this article, and all such laws shall be uniform in their operations throughout the state.

ARTICLE V.

EXECUTIVE.

SECTION 1. The Executive power shall be vested in a Governor, who shall hold his office for two years; a Lieutenant-Governor shall be elected at the same time, and for the same term.

SECTION 2. No person except a citizen of the United States, and a qualified elector of the State, shall be eligible to the office of Governor, or Lieutenant-Governor.

SECTION 3. The Governor and Lieutenant-Governor shall be elected by the qualified electors of the state, at the times and places of choosing members of the Legislature. The persons respectively having the highest number of votes for Governor and Lieutenant-Governor, shall be elected; but in case two or more shall have an equal and the highest number of votes for Governor, or Lieutenant-Governor, the two houses of the Legislature, at its next annual session, shall forthwith, by joint ballot, choose one of the persons so having an equal and the highest number of votes, for Governor, or Lieutenant-Governor. The returns of election for Governor and Lieutenant-Governor, shall be made in such manner as shall be provided by law.

SECTION 4. The Governor shall be Commander-in-Chief of the Military and Naval forces of the state. He shall have power to convene the Legislature on extraordinary occasions, and in case of invasion, or danger from the prevalence of contagious disease at the seat of government, he may convene them at any other suitable place within the State. He shall communicate to the Legislature, at every session, the condition of the state; and recommend such matters to them for their consideration as he may deem expedient. He shall transact all necessary business with the officers of the government, civil and military. He shall expedite all such measures as may be resolved upon by the Legislature, and shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

SECTION 5. The Governor shall receive, during his continuance in office, an annual compensation of five thousand dollars which shall be in full for all traveling or other expenses incident to his duties.

SECTION 6. The Governor shall have power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons after conviction, for all offenses, except treason and cases of impeachment, upon such conditions and with such restrictions and limitations as he may think proper, subject to such regulations as may be provided by law relative to the manner of applying for pardons. Upon conviction for treason, he shall have the power to suspend the execution of the sentence, until the case shall be reported to the Legislature at its next meeting, when the Legislature shall either pardon, or commute the sentence, direct the execution of the sentence, or grant a further reprieve. He shall annually communicate to the Legislature each case of reprieve, commutation or pardon granted, stating the name of the convict, the crime of which he was convicted, the sentence and its date, and the date of the commutation, pardon or reprieve, with his reasons for granting the same.

SECTION 7. In case of the impeachment of the Governor, or his removal from office, death, inability from mental or physical disease, resignation, or absence from the state, the powers and duties of the office shall devolve upon the Lieutenant-Governor, for the residue of the term, or until the Governor, absent or impeached, shall have returned, or the disability shall cease. But when the Governor shall, with the consent of the Legislature, be out of the State in time of war, at the head of the military force thereof, he shall continue Commander-in-chief of the military force of the state.

SECTION 8. The Lieutenant-Governor shall be President of the Senate, but shall have only a casting vote therein. If, during a vacancy in the office of Governor, the Lieutenant-Governor shall be impeached, displaced, resign, die, or from mental, or physical disease become incapable of performing the duties of his office, or be absent from the State, the Secretary of State shall act as Governor, until the vacancy shall be filled, or the disability shall cease.

[Section 9, as amended by a vote of the people at the General Election, November 2, 1869.]

SECTION 9. The Lieutenant-Governor shall receive, during his continuance in office an annual compensation of one thousand dollars.

[Section 10, as amended by a vote of the people at the General Election, November 3, 1908.]

SECTION 10. Every bill which shall have passed the Legislature shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the Governor; if he approve, he shall sign it, but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large upon the journal and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of the members present shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of the members present it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting for or against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the Governor within six days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law unless the Legislature shall, by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

ADMINISTRATIVE.

SECTION 1. There shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the State, at the times and places of choosing the members of the Legislature, a Secretary of State, Treasurer and Attorney General, who shall severally hold their offices for the term of two years.

SECTION 2. The Secretary of State shall keep a fair record of the official acts of the Legislature and Executive department of the State, and shall, when required, lay the same and all matters relative thereto, before either branch of the Legislature. He shall be ex-officio auditor, and shall perform such other duties as shall be assigned him by law. He shall receive as a compensation for his services yearly, such sum as shall be provided by law, and shall keep his office at the seat of government.

SECTION 3. The powers, duties and compensation of the Treasurer and Attorney General shall be prescribed by law.

[Section 4, as amended by a vote of the people at the General Election, November 7, 1882.]

SECTION 4. Sheriffs, coroners, registers of deeds, district attorneys, and all other county officers, except judicial officers shall be chosen by the electors of the respective counties, once in every two years. Sheriffs shall hold no other office and be ineligible for two years next succeeding the termination of their offices; they may be required by law to renew their security from time to time, and in default of giving such new security their office shall be deemed vacant, but the county shall never be made responsible for the acts of the sheriff. The governor may remove any officer in this section mentioned, giving to such a copy of the charges against him and an opportunity of being heard in his defense. All vacancies shall be filled by appointment and the person appointed to fill a vacancy shall hold only for the unexpired portion of the term to which he shall be appointed, and until his successor shall be elected and qualified.

ARTICLE VII.

JUDICIARY.

SECTION 1. The court for the trial of impeachments shall be composed of the Senate. The House of Representatives shall have the power of impeaching all civil officers of this State, for corrupt conduct in office, or for crimes and misdemeanors; but a majority of all the members elected shall concur in an impeachment. On the trial of an impeachment against the Governor, the Lieutenant-Governor shall not act as a member of the court. No judicial officer shall exercise his office, after he shall have been impeached, until his acquittal. Before the trial of an impeachment, the members of the court shall take an oath or affirmation, truly and impartially to try the impeachment according to evidence; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present. Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office, or removal from office and disqualification to hold any office of honor, profit or trust under the state; but the party impeached shall be liable to indictment, trial and punishment according to law.

SECTION 2. The judicial power of this State, both as to matters of law and equity, shall be vested in a supreme court, circuit courts, courts of probate, and in justices of the peace. The legislature may also vest such jurisdiction as shall be deemed necessary in municipal courts, and shall have power to establish inferior courts in the several counties, with limited civil and criminal jurisdiction. Provided, that the jurisdiction which may be vested in municipal courts, shall not exceed, in their respective municipalities, that of circuit courts, in their respective circuits, as prescribed in this constitution: And that the Legislature shall provide as well for the election of judges of the municipal courts, as of the judges of inferior courts, by the qualified electors of the respective jurisdictions. The term of office of the judges of the said municipal and inferior courts shall not be longer than that of the judges of the circuit court.

SECTION 3. The supreme court, except in cases otherwise provided in this constitution, shall have appellate jurisdiction only, which shall be co-extensive with the state; but in no case removed to the supreme court shall a trial by jury be allowed. The supreme court shall have a general superintending control over all inferior courts; it shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus, mandamus, injunction, quo warranto, certiorari; and other original and remedial writs, and to hear and determine the same.

[Section 4, as amended by a vote of the people at an election held April 7, 1903.]

SECTION 4. The chief justice and associate justices of the supreme court shall be severally known as justices of said court, with the same terms of office of ten years respectively as now provided. The supreme court shall consist of seven justices, any four of whom shall be a quorum, to be elected as now provided, not more than one each year. The justice having been longest a continuous member of said court, or in case two or more such senior justices shall have served for the same length of time, then the one whose commission first expires shall be ex officio, the chief justice.

SECTION 5. The state shall be divided into five judicial circuits, to be composed as follows: The first circuit shall comprise the counties of Racine, Walworth, Rock and Green; the second circuit the counties of Milwaukee, Waukesha, Jefferson and Dane; the third circuit, the counties of Washington, Dodge, Columbia, Marquette, Sauk and Portage; the fourth circuit, the counties of Brown, Manitowoc, Sheboygan, Fond du Lac, Winnebago and Calumet; and the fifth circuit shall comprise the counties of Iowa, LaFayette, Grant, Crawford and St. Croix; and the county of Richland shall be attached to Iowa, the county of Chippewa to the county of Crawford, and the county of La Pointe to the county of St. Croix for judicial purposes until otherwise provided by the Legislature.

SECTION 6. The Legislature may alter the limits, or increase the number of circuits, making them as compact and convenient as practicable, and bounding them by county lines; but no such alteration or increase shall have the effect to remove a judge from office. In case of an increase of circuits, the judge or judges shall be elected as provided in this Constitution and receive a salary not less than that herein provided for judges of the circuit court.

SECTION 7. For each circuit there shall be chosen by the qualified electors thereof, one circuit judge, except that in any circuit composed of one county only, which county shall contain a population, according to the last state or United States census, of one hundred thousand inhabitants or over, the Legislature may from time to time authorize additional circuit judges to be chosen. Every circuit judge shall reside in the circuit from which he is elected and shall hold his office for such term and receive such compensation as the Legislature shall prescribe.

SECTION 8. The circuit courts shall have original jurisdiction in all matters civil and criminal within this state, not excepted in this constitution, and not hereafter prohibited by law; and appellate jurisdiction from all inferior courts and tribunals, and a supervisory control over the same. They shall also have the power to issue writs of habeas corpus, mandamus, injunction, quo warranto, certiorari, and all other writs necessary to carry into effect their orders, judgments and decrees, and give them a general control over inferior courts and jurisdictions.

SECTION 9. When a vacancy shall happen in the office of judge of the supreme or circuit courts, such vacancy shall be filled by an appointment of the Governor, which shall continue until a successor is elected and qualified; and when elected such successor shall hold his office the residue of the unexpired term. There shall be no election for a judge or judges at any general election for state or county officers, nor within thirty days either before, or after such election.

SECTION 10. Each of the judges of the supreme and circuit courts shall receive a salary, payable at such time as the Legislature shall fix, of not less than one thousand five hundred dollars, annually; they shall receive no fees of office, or other compensation than their salaries; they shall hold no office of public trust except a judicial office, during the term for which they are respectively elected and all votes for either of them for any office, except a judicial office, given by the Legislature or the people, shall be void. No person shall be eligible to the office of judge who shall not at the time of his election, be a citizen of the United States and have attained the age of twenty-five years, and be a qualified elector within the jurisdiction for which he may be chosen.

SECTION 11. The supreme court shall hold at least one term, annually, at the seat of government of the state, at such time as shall be provided by law, and the Legislature may provide for holding other terms, and at other places when they may deem it necessary. A circuit court shall be held, at least twice in each year, in each county of this State organized for judicial purposes. The judges of the circuit court may hold courts for each other, and shall do so when required by law.

[Section 12, as amended by a vote of the people at the General Election, November 7, 1882.]

SECTION 12. There shall be a clerk of the circuit court chosen in each county organized for judicial purposes, by the qualified electors thereof who shall hold his office for two years, subject to removal as shall be provided by law, in case of a vacancy, the judge of the circuit court shall have power to appoint a clerk until the vacancy shall be filled by an election, the clerk thus elected or appointed shall give such security as the legislature may require. The supreme court shall appoint its own clerk, and a clerk of the circuit court may be appointed a clerk of the supreme court.

SECTION 13. Any judge of the supreme or circuit court may be removed from office, by address of both houses of the legislature, if two-thirds of all the members elected to each house concur therein, but no removal shall be made by virtue of this section, unless the judge complained of shall have been served with a copy of the charges against him, as the ground of address, and shall have had an opportunity of being heard in his defense. On the question of removal, the ayes and noes shall be entered on the journals.

SECTION 14. There shall be chosen in each county, by the qualified electors thereof, a Judge of Probate, who shall hold his office for two years, and until his successors shall be elected and qualified, and whose jurisdiction, powers and duties shall be prescribed by law. Provided, however, that the legislature shall have power to abolish the office of judge of probate in any county, and to confer probate powers upon such inferior courts as may be established in said county.

SECTION 15. The electors of the several towns, at their annual town meeting, and the electors of cities and villages, at their charter elections, shall in such manner as the Legislature may direct, elect justices of the peace, whose term of office shall be for two years, and until their successors in office shall be elected and qualified. In case of an election to fill a vacancy, occurring before the expiration of a full term, the justice elected shall hold for the residue of the unexpired term. Their number and classification shall be regulated by law. And the tenure of two years shall in no wise interfere with the classification in the first instance. The justices, thus elected, shall have such civil and criminal jurisdiction as shall be prescribed by law.

SECTION 16. The legislature shall pass laws for the regulation of tribunals of conciliation, defining their powers and duties. Such tribunals may be established in and for any township, and shall have power to render judgment to be obligatory on the parties, when they shall voluntarily submit their matter in difference to arbitration, and agree to abide the judgment, or assent thereto in writing.

SECTION 17. The style of all writs and process shall be, "The State of Wisconsin;" all criminal prosecutions shall be carried on in the name and by the authority of the same; and all indictments shall conclude against the peace and dignity of the state.

SECTION 18. The Legislature shall impose a tax on all civil suits commenced, or prosecuted in the municipal, inferior, or circuit courts, which shall constitute a fund to be applied toward the payment of the salary of judges.

SECTION 19. The testimony in causes in equity shall be taken in like manner, as in cases at law, and the office of master in chancery is hereby prohibited.

SECTION 20. Any sutor, in any court of this state, shall have the right to prosecute or defend his suit either in his own proper person, or by an attorney or agent of his choice.

SECTION 21. The legislature shall provide by law for the speedy publication of all statute laws, and of such judicial decisions, made within the state, as may be deemed expedient. And no general law shall be in force until published.

SECTION 22. The legislature at its first session, after the adoption of this Constitution, shall provide for the appointment of three commissioners, whose duty it shall be to inquire into, revise, and simplify the rules of practice, pleadings, forms and proceedings, and arrange a system, adapted to the courts of record of this state, and report the same to the legislature, subject to their modification and adoption; and such commission shall terminate upon the rendering of the report, unless otherwise provided by law.

SECTION 23. The legislature may provide for the appointment of one or more persons in each organized county, and may vest in such person such judicial powers as shall be prescribed by law. Provided, that said power shall not exceed that of a judge of a circuit court at chambers.

FINANCE

[Section 1, as amended by a vote of the people at the General Election, November 3, 1908.]

SECTION 1. The rules of taxation shall be uniform, and taxes shall be levied upon such property as the legislature shall prescribe. Taxes may also be imposed on incomes, privileges and occupations, which taxes may be graduated and progressive, and reasonable exemptions may be provided.

[Section 2, as amended by a vote of the people at the General Election, November 6, 1877.]

SECTION 2. No money shall be paid out of the treasury, except in pursuance of an appropriation by law. No appropriation shall be made for the payment of any claim against the state, except claims of the United States and judgments, unless filed within six years after the claim accrued.

SECTION 3. The credit of the state shall never be given, or loaned, in aid of any individual, association, or corporation.

SECTION 4. The State shall never contract any public debt, except in the cases and manner herein provided.

SECTION 5. The legislature shall provide for an annual tax sufficient to defray the estimated expenses of the state for each year; and whenever the expenses of any year shall exceed the income, the legislature shall provide for levying a tax for the ensuing year, sufficient, with other sources of income, to pay the deficiency as well as the estimated expenses of such ensuing year.

SECTION 6. For the purpose of defraying extraordinary expenditures, the state may contract public debts (but such debts shall never in the aggregate exceed one hundred thousand dollars). Every such debt shall be authorized by law, for some purpose or purposes to be distinctly specified therein; and the vote of a majority of all the members elected to each house, to be taken by yeas and nays, shall be necessary to the passage of such law; and every such law shall provide for levying an annual tax sufficient to pay the annual interest of such debt, and the principal within five years from the passage of such law, and shall specially appropriate the proceeds of such taxes to the payment of such principal and interest; and such appropriation shall not be repealed, nor the taxes be postponed, or diminished, until the principal and interest of such debt shall have been wholly paid.

SECTION 7. The Legislature may also borrow money to repel invasion, suppress insurrection, or defend the State in time of war; but the money thus raised shall be applied exclusively to the object for which the loan was authorized, or to the repayment of the debt thereby created.

SECTION 8. On the passage in either house of the legislature, of any law which imposes, continues or renews a tax, or creates a debt, or charge, or makes, continues, or renews an appropriation of public, or trust money, or releases, discharges, or commutes a claim, or demand of the state, the question shall be taken by yeas and nays, which shall be duly entered on the journal; and three-fifths of all the members elected to such house shall, in all such cases be required to constitute a quorum therein.

SECTION 9. No scrip, certificate, or other evidence of state debt, whatsoever, shall be issued, except for such debts as are authorized by the sixth and seventh sections of this article.

[Section 10, as amended by a vote of the people at the General Election, November 3, 1908.]

SECTION 10. The state shall never contract any debt for works of internal improvement, or be a party in carrying on such works, but whenever grants of land or other property shall have been made to the state, especially dedicated by the grant to particular works of internal improvement, the state may carry on such particular works, and shall devote thereto the avails of such grants, and may pledge or appropriate the revenues derived from such works in aid of their completion.

Provided that the state may appropriate money in the treasury or to be thereafter raised by taxation for the construction or improvement of public highways.

[Further amended November 1910, by adding thereto the following:]

Provided, that the state may appropriate moneys, for the purpose of acquiring, preserving, and developing the water power and the forests of the state; but there shall not be appropriated under the authority of this section in any one year an amount to exceed two-tenths of one mill of the taxable property of the state as determined by the last preceding state assessment.

ARTICLE IX.

EMINENT DOMAIN AND PROPERTY OF THE STATE.

SECTION 1. The state shall have concurrent jurisdiction on all rivers and lakes bordering on this state, so far as such rivers, or lakes shall form a common boundary to the state, and any other state or territory, now or hereafter to be formed, and bounded by the same: And the river Mississippi and the navigable waters leading into the Mississippi and St. Lawrence, and the carrying places between the same shall be common highways and forever free, as well to the inhabitants of the state, as to the citizens of the United States, without any tax, impost or duty therefor.

SECTION 2. The title to all lands and other property which have accrued to the territory of Wisconsin by grant, gift, purchase, forfeiture, escheat, or otherwise, shall vest in the state of Wisconsin.

SECTION 3. The people of the state, in their right of sovereignty, are declared to possess the ultimate property, in and to all lands within the jurisdiction of the state; and all lands the title to which shall fall from a defect of heirs, shall revert or escheat to the people.

ARTICLE X.

EDUCATION.

[Section 1, as amended by vote of the people at the General election, November 4, 1902.]

SECTION 1. The supervision of public instruction shall be vested in a state superintendent and such other officers as the legislature shall direct; and their qualifications, powers, duties and compensation shall be prescribed by law. The state superintendent shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the state at the same time and in the same manner as members of the supreme court, and shall hold his office for four years from the succeeding first Monday in July. The state superintendent chosen at the general election in November, 1902, shall hold and continue in his office until the first Monday in July, 1905, and his successor shall be chosen at the time of the judicial election in April, 1905. The term of office, time and manner of electing or appointing all other officers of supervision of public instruction shall be fixed by law.

SECTION 2. The proceeds of all lands, that have been or hereafter may be granted by the United States to this state for educational purposes (except the lands heretofore granted for the purposes of a University) and all monies, and the clear proceeds of all property that may accrue to the state by forfeiture or escheat, and all monies which may be paid as an equivalent for exemption from military duty; and the clear proceeds of all fines collected, in the several counties, for any breach of the penal laws and all monies arising from any grant to the state where the purposes of such grant are not specified, and the five hundred thousand acres of land, to which the state is entitled by the provisions of an act of congress entitled "An Act to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of the public lands, and to grant pre-emption rights," approved the fourth day of September, one thousand eight hundred and forty-one; and also the five per-centum of the net proceeds of the public lands, to which the state shall become entitled on her admission into the Union (if congress shall consent to such appropriation of the two grants last mentioned) shall be set apart as a separate fund, to be called "the school fund," the interest of which and all other revenues derived from the school lands, shall be exclusively applied to the following objects, to wit:

FIRST. To the support and maintenance of common Schools, in each school district, and the purchase of suitable libraries and apparatus therefor.

SECOND. The residue shall be appropriated to the support and maintenance of academies and normal schools, and suitable libraries and apparatus therefor.

SECTION 3. The legislature shall provide by law for the establishment of district schools, which shall be as nearly uniform as practicable; and such schools shall be free and without charge for tuition to all children between the ages of four and twenty years; and no sectarian instruction shall be allowed therein.

SECTION 4. Each town and city shall be required to raise, by tax, annually, for the support of common schools therein, a sum not less than one-half the amount received by such town or city respectively for school purposes from the income of the school fund.

SECTION 5. Provision shall be made by law, for the distribution of the income of the school fund among the several towns and cities of the state, for the support of common schools therein, in some just proportion to the number of children and youth resident therein, between the ages of four and twenty years, and no appropriation shall be made from the school fund to any city, or town, for the year in which said city or town shall fail to raise such tax; nor to any school district for the year in which a school shall not be maintained at least three months.

SECTION 6. Provision shall be made by law for the establishment of a state university, at or near the seat of state government, and for connecting with the same, from time to time, such colleges in different parts of the state, as the interests of education may require. The proceeds of all lands that have been, or may hereafter be granted by the United States to the state for the support of a university, shall be and remain a perpetual fund to be called "the university fund," the interest of which shall be appropriated to the support of the state university, and no sectarian instruction shall be allowed in such university.

SECTION 7. The secretary of state, treasurer and attorney general, shall constitute a board of commissioners for the sale of the school and university lands, and for the investment of the funds arising therefrom. Any two of said commissioners shall be a quorum for the transaction of all business pertaining to the duties of their office.

SECTION 8. Provision shall be made by law for the sale of all school and university lands, after they shall have been appraised; and when any portion of such lands shall be sold and the purchase money shall not be paid at the time of the sale, the commissioners shall take security by mortgage upon the land sold for the sum remaining unpaid, with seven per cent interest thereon, payable annually at the office of the treasurer. The commissioners shall be authorized to execute a good and sufficient conveyance to all purchasers of such lands, and to discharge any mortgages taken as security, when the sum due thereon shall have been paid. The commissioners shall have power to withhold from sale any portion of such lands, when they shall deem it expedient, and shall invest all monies arising from the sale of such lands, as well as all other university and school funds, in such manner as the legislature shall provide and shall give such security for the faithful performance of their duties as may be required by law.

ARTICLE XI.

CORPORATIONS.

SECTION 1. Corporations without banking powers or privileges may be formed under general laws, but shall not be created by special act, except for municipal purposes, and in cases where in the judgment of the legislature, the objects of the corporation cannot be attained under general laws. All general laws or special acts, enacted under the provisions of this section, may be altered or repealed by the legislature at any time after their passage.

SECTION 2. No municipal corporation shall take private property for public use, against the consent of the owner, without the necessity thereof being first established by the verdict of a jury.

[As amended Nov. 1912.]

SECTION 3. It shall be the duty of the legislature, and they are hereby empowered, to provide for the organization of cities and incorporated villages, and to restrict their power of taxation, assessment, borrowing money, contracting debts, and loaning their credit, so as to prevent abuses in assessments and taxation, and in contracting debts by such municipal corporations. No county, city, town, village, school district, or other municipal corporation shall be allowed to become indebted in any manner or for any purpose to any amount, including existing indebtedness, in the aggregate exceeding five per centum on the value of the taxable property therein, to be ascertained by the last assessment for state and county taxes previous to the incurring of such indebtedness. Any county, city, town, village, school district, or other municipal corporation incurring any indebtedness as aforesaid, shall, before or at the time of doing so, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within twenty years from the time of contracting the same; except that when such indebtedness is incurred in the acquisition of lands by cities, or by counties having a population of 150,000 or over, for public, municipal purposes, or for the permanent improvement thereof, the city or county incurring the same shall, before or at the time of so doing, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within a period not exceeding fifty years from the time of contracting the same.

[Added November 1912.]

SECTION 3a. The state or any of its cities may acquire by gift, purchase, or condemnation lands for establishing, laying out, widening, enlarging, extending, and maintaining memorial grounds, streets, squares, parkways, boulevards, parks, playgrounds, sites for public buildings, and reservations in and about and along and leading to any or all of the same; and after the establishment, layout, and completion of such improvements, may convey any such real estate thus acquired and not necessary for such improvements, with reservations concerning the future use and occupation of such real estate, so as to protect such public works and improvements, and their environs, and to preserve the view, appearance, light, air, and usefulness of such public works.

[Sections 4 and 5, as amended by a vote of the people at a General Election, November 4, 1902.]

SECTION 4. The legislature shall have power to enact a general banking law for the creation of banks, and for the regulation and supervision of the banking business, provided that the vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each house, to be taken by yeas and nays, be in favor of the passage of such law.

ARTICLE XII.

AMENDMENTS.

SECTION 1. Any amendment, or amendments to this constitution may be proposed in either house of the legislature, and if the same shall be agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two houses, such proposed amendment, or amendments, shall be entered on their journals, with the yeas and nays taken thereon, and referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election; and shall be published for three months previous to the time of holding such election, and if, in the legislature so next chosen, such proposed amendment, or amendments, shall be agreed to by a majority of all the members elected to each house, then it shall be the duty of the Legislature to submit such proposed amendment, or amendments, to the people in such manner, and at such time, as the legislature shall prescribe; and if the people shall approve and ratify such amendment or amendments, by a majority of the electors voting thereon, such amendment, or amendments, shall become part of the constitution; provided, that if more than one amendment be submitted, they shall be submitted in such manner that the people may vote for or against such amendments separately.

SECTION 2. If at any time a majority of the senate and assembly shall deem it necessary to call a convention to revise or change this constitution, they shall recommend to the electors to vote for or against a convention at the next election for members of the legislature. And if it shall appear that a majority of the electors voting thereon, have voted for a convention, the legislature shall, at its next session, provide for calling such convention.

ARTICLE XIII.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

[Section 1, as amended by a vote of the people at the General Election, November 7, 1882.]

SECTION 1. The political year for the State of Wisconsin shall commence on the first Monday in January in each year, and the general elections shall be holden on the Tuesday next succeeding the first Monday in November. The first general election for all state and county officers, except judicial officers, after the adoption of this amendment, shall be holden in the year A. D. 1884, and thereafter the general election shall be held biennially. All state, county or other officers elected at the general election in the year 1881, and whose term of office would otherwise expire on the first Monday of January in the year 1884, shall hold and continue such offices respectively, until the first Monday in January in the year 1885.

SECTION 2. Any inhabitant of this state who may hereafter be engaged, either directly or indirectly in a duel, either as principal or accessory, shall forever be disqualified as an elector, and from holding any office under the constitution and laws of this state, and may be punished in such other manner as shall be prescribed by law.

SECTION 3. No member of congress, nor any person holding any office of profit or trust under the United States (postmasters excepted) or under any foreign power; no person convicted of any infamous crime in any court within the United States; and no person being a defaulter to the United States, or to this state, or to any county, or town therein, or to any state, or territory within the United States, shall be eligible to any office of trust, profit, or honor in this state.

SECTION 4. It shall be the duty of the legislature to provide a great seal for the state, which shall be kept by the secretary of state, and all official acts of the governor, his approbation of the laws excepted, shall be thereby authenticated.

SECTION 5. All persons residing upon Indian lands within any county of the state, and qualified to exercise the right of suffrage under this constitution, shall be entitled to vote at the polls which may be held nearest their residence, for State, United States or county officers. Provided, that no person shall vote for county officers out of the county in which he resides.

SECTION 6. The elective officers of the legislature, other than the presiding officer shall be a chief clerk and a sergeant-at-arms, to be elected by each house.

SECTION 7. No county with an area of nine hundred square miles, or less, shall be divided, or have any part stricken therefrom without submitting the question to a vote of the people of the county, nor unless a majority of all the legal voters of the county, voting on the question, shall vote for the same.

SECTION 8. No county seat shall be removed, until the point to which it is proposed to be removed shall be fixed by law, and a majority of the voters of the county, voting on the question, shall have voted in favor of its removal to such point.

SECTION 9. All county officers whose election, or appointment is not provided for by this constitution, shall be elected by the electors of the respective counties, or appointed by the boards of supervisors, or other county authorities, as the legislature shall direct. All city, town and village officers, whose election or appointment, is not provided for by this constitution, shall be elected by the electors of such cities, towns and villages, or of some division thereof, or appointed by such authorities thereof, as the legislature shall designate for that purpose. All other officers whose election or appointment is not provided for by this constitution, and all officers whose offices may hereafter be created by law, shall be elected by the people, or appointed, as the legislature may direct.

SECTION 10. The legislature may declare the cases in which any office shall be deemed vacant, and also the manner of filling the vacancy, where no provision is made for that purpose in this constitution.

[Article XIII, as amended by addition of Section 11, by a vote of the people at the General Election, November 4, 1902.]

SECTION 11. No person, association, co-partnership, or corporation, shall promise, offer or give, for any purpose, to any political committee, or any member or employe thereof, to any candidate for, or incumbent of any office or position under the constitution or laws, or under any ordinance of any town or municipality, of this state, or to any person at the request or for the advantage of all or any of them, any free pass or frank, or any privilege withheld from any person, for the travelling accommodation or transportation of any person or property, or the transmission of any message or communication. No political committee, and no member or employe thereof, no candidate for and no incumbent of any office or position under the constitution or laws, or under any ordinances of any town or municipality of this state, shall ask for, or accept, from any person, association, co-partnership, or corporation, or use, in any manner, or for any purpose, any free pass or frank, or any privilege withheld from any person, for the traveling accommodation or transportation of any person or property, or the transmission of any message or communication. Any violation of any of the above provisions shall be bribery and punished as provided by law, and if any officer or any member of the legislature be guilty thereof, his office shall become vacant. No person within the purview of this act shall be privileged from testifying in relation to anything therein prohibited; and no person having so testified shall be liable to any prosecution or punishment for any offense concerning which he was required to give his testimony or produce any documentary evidence. The railroad commissioner and his deputy in the discharge of duty are excepted from the provisions of this amendment.

SCHEDULE.

SECTION 1. That no inconvenience may arise by reason of a change from a territorial to a permanent state government, it is declared, that all rights, actions, prosecutions, judgments, claims and contracts, as well of individuals, as of bodies corporate, shall continue as if no such change had taken place; and all process which may be issued under the authority of the territory of Wisconsin previous to its admission into the union of the United States, shall be as valid as if issued in the name of the state.

SECTION 2. All laws now in force, in the territory of Wisconsin, which are not repugnant to this constitution, shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitation, or be altered or repealed by the legislature.

SECTION 3. All fines, penalties, or forfeitures, accruing to the territory of Wisconsin, shall inure to the use of the state.

SECTION 4. All recognizances heretofore taken, or which may be taken before the change from territorial to a permanent state government, shall remain valid, and shall pass to, and may be prosecuted in the name of the state; and all bonds executed to the governor of the territory, or to any other officer, or court, in his, or their official capacity, shall pass to the governor or state authority, and their successors in office, for the uses therein respectively expressed, and may be sued for and recovered accordingly; and all the estate, or property, real, personal, or mixed, and all judgments, bonds, specialties, choses in action, and claims or debts of whatsoever description, of the territory of Wisconsin, shall inure to and vest in the state of Wisconsin, and may be sued for and recovered, in the same manner and to the same extent, by the state of Wisconsin, as the same could have been by the territory of Wisconsin. All criminal prosecutions and penal actions which may have arisen, or which may arise, before the change from a territorial to a state government, and which shall then be pending, shall be prosecuted to judgment and execution in the name of the state. All offenses committed against the laws of the territory of Wisconsin, before the change from a territorial to a state government, and which shall not be prosecuted before such change, may be prosecuted in the name and by the authority of the state of Wisconsin, with like effect as though such change had not taken place; and all penalties incurred, shall remain the same as if this constitution had not been adopted. All actions at law and suits in equity, which may be pending in any of the courts of the territory of Wisconsin, at the time of a change from a territorial to a state government, may be continued and transferred to any court of the state, which shall have jurisdiction of the subject matter thereof.

SECTION 5. All officers, civil and military, now holding their offices under the authority of the United States, or of the territory of Wisconsin, shall continue to hold and exercise their respective offices, until they shall be superseded by the authority of the state.

SECTION 6. The first session of the legislature of the state of Wisconsin, shall commence on the first Monday in June next, and shall be held at the village of Madison, which shall be and remain the seat of government, until otherwise provided by law.

SECTION 7. All county, precinct and township officers shall continue to hold their respective offices, unless removed by competent authority, until the legislature shall, in conformity with the provisions of this constitution, provide for the holding of elections to fill such offices respectively.

SECTION 8. The president of this convention shall, immediately after its adjournment, cause a fair copy of this constitution, together with a copy of the act of the legislature of this territory, entitled "An act in relation to the formation of a state government in Wisconsin, and to change the time of holding the annual session of the legislature," approved October 27th, 1847, providing for the calling of this convention, and also a copy of so much of the last census of this territory, as exhibits the number of its inhabitants, to be forwarded to the President of the United States, to be laid before the congress of the United States, at its present session.

SECTION 9. This constitution shall be submitted at an election to be held on the second Monday in March next, for ratification or rejection, to all white male persons of the age of twenty-one years or upwards, who shall then be residents of this territory, and citizens of the United States, or shall have declared their intention to become such in conformity with the laws of congress on the subject of naturalization, and all persons having such qualification shall be entitled to vote for, or against the adoption of this constitution, and for all officers first elected under it. And if the constitution be ratified by the said electors, it shall become the constitution of the state of Wisconsin. On such of the ballots as are for the constitution, shall be written or printed the word "YES", and on such as are against the constitution, the word "No." The election shall be conducted in the manner now prescribed by law, and the returns made by the clerks of the boards of supervisors or county commissioners (as the case may be) to the governor of the territory, at any time before the tenth day of April next. And in the event of the ratification of this constitution, by a majority of all the votes given, it shall be the duty of the governor of this territory to make proclamation of the same, and to transmit a digest of the returns to the senate and assembly of the state, on the first day of their session. An election shall be held, for governor, lieutenant-governor, treasurer, attorney general, members of the state legislature, and members of congress, on the second Monday of May next; and no other or further notice of such election shall be required.

SECTION 10. Two members of congress shall also be elected, on the second Monday of May next; and until otherwise provided by law, the counties of Milwaukee, Waukesha, Jefferson, Racine, Walworth, Rock and Green, shall constitute the first congressional district and elect one member. And the counties of Washington, Sheboygan, Manitowoc, Calumet, Brown, Winnebago, Fond du Lac, Marquette, Sauk, Portage, Columbia, Dodge, Dane, Iowa, La Fayette, Grant, Richland, Crawford, Chippewa, St. Croix and La Pointe, shall constitute the second congressional district, and shall elect one member.

SECTION 11. The several elections, provided for in this article, shall be conducted according to the existing laws of the territory, provided that no elector shall be entitled to vote except in the town, ward or precinct where he resides. The returns of election for senators and member of assembly, shall be transmitted to the clerk of the board of supervisors, or county commissioners, as the case may be; and the votes shall be canvassed, and certificates of election issued as now provided by law. In the first senatorial district, the returns of the election for senator, shall be made to the proper officer in the county of Brown; in the second senatorial district, to the proper officer in the county of Columbia; in the third senatorial district, to the proper officer in the county of Crawford; in the fourth senatorial district, to the proper officer in the county of Fond du Lac; and in the fifth senatorial district, to the proper officer in the county of Iowa. The returns of election for state officers and members of congress, shall be certified and transmitted to the speaker of the assembly, at the seat of government, in the same manner as the votes for delegate to congress are required to be certified and returned by the laws of the territory of Wisconsin, to the secretary of said territory, and in such time, that they may be received on the first Monday in June next; and as soon as the legislature shall be organized, the speaker of the assembly, and the president of the senate shall, in the presence of both houses, examine the returns, and declare who are duly elected to fill the several offices hereinbefore mentioned; and give to each of the persons elected, a certificate of his election.

SECTION 12. [Section 12 of this article apportioned the state temporarily into senate and assembly districts and is omitted as obsolete.]

SECTION 13. Such parts of the common law as are now in force in the territory of Wisconsin, not inconsistent with this constitution, shall be and continue part of the law of this state, until altered, or suspended by the legislature.

SECTION 14. The senators first elected in the even numbered senate districts, the governor, lieutenant governor, and other state officers first elected under this constitution, shall enter upon the duties of their respective offices on the first Monday of June next, and shall continue in office for one year from the first Monday of January next; the senators first elected in the odd-numbered senate districts, and the members of the assembly, first elected, shall enter upon their duties respectively on the first Monday of June next, and shall continue in office until the first Monday in January next.

SECTION 15. The oath of office may be administered by any judge or justice of the peace, until the legislature shall otherwise direct.

RESOLUTIONS.

Resolved.—That the congress of the United States be and is hereby requested, upon the application of Wisconsin for admission into the Union, so to alter the provisions of an act of congress entitled "an act to grant a quantity of land to the territory of Wisconsin, for the purposes of aiding in opening a canal to connect the waters of Lake Michigan with those of Rock river," approved June eighteenth, eighteen hundred and thirty-eight, and so to alter the terms and conditions of the grant made therein, that the odd-numbered sections thereby granted and remaining unsold may be held and disposed of by the state of Wisconsin as part of the five hundred thousand acres of land to which said state is entitled by the provisions of an act of congress, entitled "an act to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of the public lands, and to grant pre-emption rights," approved the fourth day of September, eighteen hundred and forty-one; and further, that the even-numbered sections reserved by congress, may be offered for sale by the United States for the same minimum price, and subject to the same rights of pre-emption as other public lands of the United States.

Resolved.—That congress be further requested to pass an act whereby the excess price over and above one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre, which may have been paid by the purchasers of said even-numbered sections which shall have been sold by the United States, be refunded to the present owners thereof, or they be allowed to enter any of the public lands of the United States to an amount equal in value to the excess so paid.

Resolved.—That in case the said odd-numbered sections shall be ceded to the state as aforesaid, the same shall be sold by the state in the same manner as other school lands, provided that the same rights of pre-emption as are now granted by the laws of the United States, shall be secured to persons who may be actually settled upon such lands at the time of the adoption of this constitution; and provided further, that the excess price, over and above one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre, absolutely or conditionally contracted to be paid by the purchasers of any part of said sections which shall have been sold by the territory of Wisconsin, shall be remitted to such purchasers, their representatives or assigns.

Resolved.—That congress be requested, upon the application of Wisconsin for admission into the Union, to pass an act whereby the grant of five hundred thousand acres of land, to which the state of Wisconsin is entitled by the provisions of an act of congress entitled "an act to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of the public lands, and to grant pre-emption rights," approved the fourth day of September, eighteen hundred and forty-one, and also the five percentum of the net proceeds of the public lands lying within the state, to which it shall become entitled on its admission into the Union, by the provisions of an act of congress, entitled "an act to enable the people of Wisconsin territory to form a constitution and state government, and for the admission of such state into the Union," approved the sixth day of August, eighteen hundred and forty-six, shall be granted to the state of Wisconsin, for the use of schools, instead of the purposes mentioned in the said acts of congress respectively.

Resolved.—That the congress of the United States be and hereby is requested, upon the admission of this state into the Union, so to alter the provisions of the act of congress entitled "an act to grant a certain quantity of land to aid in the improvement of the Fox and Wisconsin rivers, and to connect the same by a canal in the territory of Wisconsin," that the price of the lands reserved to the United States, shall be reduced to the minimum price of the public lands.

Resolved.—That the legislature of this state shall make provision by law for the sale of the lands granted to the state in aid of said improvements, subject to the same rights of pre-emption to the settlers thereon, as are now allowed by law to settlers on the public lands.

Resolved.—That the foregoing resolutions be appended to, and signed with the constitution of Wisconsin, and submitted therewith to the people of this territory, and to the congress of the United States.

We, the undersigned, members of the convention to form a constitution for the state of Wisconsin, to be submitted to the people thereof, for their ratification or rejection, do hereby certify that the foregoing is the constitution adopted by the convention.

In testimony whereof, we have hereunto set our hands at Madison, the first day of February, A. D. eighteen hundred and forty-eight.

POLITICAL PARTY PLATFORMS.

STATE DEMOCRATIC PARTY PLATFORM OF 1916.

The Democratic candidates for state office in convention assembled acknowledge with pride the inspiring leadership of that great American, Woodrow Wilson. We applaud and commend his great service in conducting our international affairs in accordance with our historic position of neutrality. We are proud of his accomplishments in securing recognition at a time when nations would be lawless of the fundamental principles of international law, thus verifying his own words that "America asks nothing for itself except when she asks for humanity." With the world afire and sparks flying about us from every direction he, while upholding the honor of the country and securing international respect, has kept us out of war and permitted the nation to enjoy an unsurpassed period of prosperity instead of the horrors, privation and disaster of war. This course he has pursued amid the bitterest criticism and vituperation from a war party in the United States led by an ex-president.

We heartily endorse and approve the national Democratic platform. We regard it as the greatest platform upholding and asserting human rights that has ever been urged by a political party. We are in complete accord with its every plank, and we pledge ourselves to apply its principles to state affairs.

Back of this platform are the achievements of President Wilson and a regenerated national Democratic party. The list of accomplishments of the last three and a half years is the basis of the new promises. It enables President Wilson to say, "We, too, are progressives." And we Democrats of Wisconsin can gladly echo the president's words that "we, too, are progressive." And because of this fact we appeal to all the forward-looking citizens of Wisconsin, to all who place human rights above property rights, to all who place the public interest above any special interest, to all who would have government serve the interests of all,—to you we appeal for support of the state program of the Democratic party and its progressive candidates.

BIG BUSINESS.

The Democracy of Wisconsin is facing in the state government the same condition that confronted Democracy of the nation four years ago in national affairs. The administration of government in the state is in control of reactionary influences and special interests. Big business is entrenched in the capitol. The administration has been disloyal to the highest and best interests of the state and of the common run of people. It has spoken much about the public interest and the people, but it has defied them and outraged them in its every act. We confidently look to an overwhelming rebuke and defeat at the November election of the Philipp administration exactly as the Taft administration was rebuked and shorn of power in 1912.

The state government must be reclaimed. Intrenched as special interest is now in our government, two years more will render it impregnable. The special interests have become intoxicated by their return to power. Measures to benefit all the people have been neglected or abandoned, while special laws to benefit private interests were rushed through the legislature under the pressure of the administration. The reactionary message of a reactionary governor strongly recommended overturning the established policies of the state with regard to the income tax and workmen's compensation. Desperate efforts were made by a mercenary lobby to accomplish this treacherous object. The appointees to public office have been men long trained in the service of the corporation to think and act in a manner hostile to the public interest and the common people.

Special privileges to the special interests, monopolies to the water power interests and the public utility corporations, tax reductions to big business, and a general weakening of the great protective agencies of the state in their power to combat the insidious forces of greed and exploitation—these are the evidences that Special Privilege is controlling the people's government of Wisconsin.

Democracy, ever the friend of the popular rights and of the common man, pledges itself to combat these powerful greedy influences of special privilege, to restore the government to the people by demonstrating the power of democratic government to serve the public interests.

THE RAILROAD COMMISSION.

Desperate efforts have been made by the interests to control and dominate the Railroad commission. These have been successful. The commission, organized originally to combat evils and undo wrongs committed by the large public service corporations that could not be reached effectively in any other way, has become, in this administration, the bulwark of these corporations. It has become in our legislative halls the most effective because the most insidious lobby for the Special Interests.

The Railroad commission with its increased powers is beginning to rob municipal government of every vestige of home rule in the government of public corporations, and a wave of protest is already sweeping through the state over its oppressive acts. In various cities it is in the interest of the railroads ordering abandoned and closed street after street long dedicated to public use, without the voice of the people being expressed on such vital local questions. It has already ordered various towns and cities to pay hundreds of thousands of dollars for railroad improvements that for half a century in Wisconsin have been borne exclusively by these corporations. Its findings on valuations and rates are being irresistibly influenced by the technical dictation and domination of high-salaried public service corporation engineers.

Its formal acts savor more of the style and character of retained attorneys for special interests than of men having the public interest first. It is helping to make secure and powerful monopolies in public utilities, to hinder and discourage governmental ownership, and city after city in Wisconsin can testify that the time has come to curb and restrict the power and influence of the Railroad Commission of Wisconsin and to make it once more subservient to the highest and best interest of the public only and to this attainment we pledge Wisconsin Democracy's earnest efforts.

We demand the immediate repeal of the new laws permitting the Railroad commission to assess against towns and cities the expenses of changing the grade of railroad tracks across public highways and of building sidetracks to benefit private railroad business. We insist upon the restoration of the rights of cities and towns to have such work done upon order of the local government at the expense of the railroad corporations, a right local communities have enjoyed ever since Wisconsin was a state until the Railroad commission worked through a joker repeal of this right unknown to the legislature or the people, and by controlling the commission with the connivance of the present administration, special interest has become doubly entrenched.

We demand also the changing of the law the present administration enacted at the demand of water power monopolies of Wisconsin so that the Railroad commission cannot ever again in this state place a valuation of $1,700,000 on a permit to erect a dam given by the state free of charge, as was the case with the Railroad commission's recent action in the first case under this new law.

We condemn in unmeasured terms as utterly servile to interests of big business and truly indicative of the present Railroad commission's utter neglect of the viewpoint of the people, the resolution passed recently by that body notifying experts of the commission that they could no longer have leave of absence to work for the University, the people's institution, but permitting these same experts to have leave of absence to work as they are doing occasionally for public service corporations where under such influences there is a constantly growing tendency of experts to forget the rights and interests of the public.

The Democracy of Wisconsin believes that at this time the great purpose of this privilege-serving state administration is to control and dominate, for the interests it represents the Railroad commission of Wisconsin, the most powerful of all state government institutions, a body which, operating for "public interest first" is a bulwark of protection for the people against monopoly, but which, conducted as at present for "private interest first" is a menace to the rights, interests and liberties of the people of our commonwealth.

Because of this deplorable condition we demand the entire reorganizing of the railroad commission in the public interest. We pledge ourselves to make it once more an agency for the protection of the public and of the municipalities against the greed, oppression and exploitation of public service corporations.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION.

The Democratic national platform declares that the life, health and strength of men, women and children are the nation's greatest asset; and, believing this, we favor legislation in this state aimed to conserve, strengthen and upbuild this great asset,—humanity. We believe, with the Democratic national platform, that there should be adequate compensation for industrial accidents and pledge ourselves to increase the compensation to injured workmen adequately, enlarging the minimum and maximum payment for deaths proportionately, and to strike out the limitation on medical treatment and hospital service, leaving the same for a reasonable time. Particularly do we condemn the efforts made by the present state administration to violate the spirit and effectiveness of the workmen's compensation act by compelling workmen to accept the old form of court administration, which has proven in other states to be a failure in giving justice to the worker. Recent decisions of the Supreme court in Wisconsin and other courts point the way toward recognizing occupational diseases under the compensation act, and we favor the amendment of the Wisconsin workmen's compensation act so as to include occupational diseases. We look with favor upon the wonderful experience in Germany for a score of years in maintaining sickness insurance, which today the world recognizes as Germany's best investment for industrial efficiency and increased social contentment, the effectiveness of which has made other countries of Europe follow Germany's example. We believe Wisconsin should make investigations and plans concerning this entire subject of health insurance for those who work and old age pensions, which have already been voluntarily accepted in many Wisconsin establishments, with the purpose of bringing greater human welfare in this state, and we believe that in this work the Democracy of Wisconsin should pledge its most earnest and conscientious efforts.

WELFARE OF THE FARMER.

The Democratic national platform favors the carrying out of plans to render agriculture more profitable and country life more healthful, comfortable, and attractive, and it declares that this should be the dominant aim of the states. The Democracy of Wisconsin recognizes the importance of this sentiment and feels that in such a movement Wisconsin is vitally interested, because of its standing as a great agricultural and dairying state, the entire commonwealth teeming with possibilities for more profitable results in the development of the soil. We realize that anything that helps the farmer directly enriches and advances the entire state, and that Wisconsin can engage in no more worthy effort than, by legislation, to give the fundamentals that will secure to the men upon the soil broader and bigger opportunities for success.

The Democracy of Wisconsin pledges itself to encourage and stimulate by legislation, coöperative movements among farmers; it pledges its best efforts to bring about standardization of products and better marketing facilities and the methods that are fundamental in the successful handling of the business of agriculture and we are desirous of utilizing the legislation and resources of the state in advancing rural credit along practical lines, including warehouse facilities, that will enable the farmer to obtain certificates upon which he may more readily secure advances of money. Particularly do we look with disfavor upon the attitude of the present administration toward the state's binder twine plant at Waupun where an alliance has been made with big business, instead of having the institution conducted in proper spirit to help protect the farmers of Wisconsin against the binder twine trust and in this respect Wisconsin stands out in sharp contrast with its sister state, Minnesota, where similar administrative organization is used to serve in every possible way the highest and best interests of Minnesota's great agricultural industry, which here in Wisconsin is the real foundation of the state's progress, and to advance which every honest effort of state government should be directed.

We approve of the action of the Democratic national administration in creating the bureau of markets and rural organization and pledge here in Wisconsin a similar bureau in our agricultural department to work in conjunction with the national administration in order to more effectively broaden and extend these movements in this state.

SCHOOLS.

The basis of both prosperity and democracy lies in our common schools. The Democratic party charges the present administration with bad faith in reference to our educational system. Fair promises have been constantly made for the improvement of the schools of the people and especially the rural schools, but these promises have not been kept or else fragmentary and inefficient legislation has been enacted as a sop to public opinion. Nothing can be expected in the way of a popular education widely diffused over the state reaching every farm and every factory of the Republican party in control. Its professed interest is in a higher education in privately endowed institutions unrelated to the pressing social problems of the day. Special privilege would be entrenched in our educational system eating out the very vitals of our democracy. Whatever it has stood for in the past, nothing can be expected from the reactionary Republican party now seeking office in this state. We, the party of the whole people, pledge ourselves to work unceasingly to the end that education will be offered to every boy and girl in the state, whether poor or rich, whether in the crowded sections of our cities or among the scattered population of our country districts. We pledge our every effort to the end that the movement for democratic education in the university and the normal schools begun several years ago but temporarily halted by the present administration shall be pushed rapidly forward and that everything shall be done to make these institutions, supported by the taxes of the working people of this state, extend their benefits to all the people of this state. We pledge that these institutions shall not bar the worthy boy or girl and the ambitious man or woman from participation in their benefits and that there shall be short course, personal instruction, traveling teachers, fair entrance requirements and credits, be made the servants of the people by opening up their resources to all the people.

We pledge ourselves to restore and to emphasize the democratic character of our educational system.

A SHORTER LEGISLATIVE SESSION.

We favor a shortening of the legislative session, not through any artificial limitation of the number of days of the session, which brings with it abuses greater than those it would correct, but through better business organization of the legislature, more careful planning of legislation, and a revision of the rules of the legislature.

We pledge ourselves to carry on expeditiously and with due regard to the public interest, the business of law-making, to abolish useless offices and commissions and to invoke a policy of strict economy to bring about tax reductions for all the people and to abolish the private subway between the legislature and public service corporations that was in such free and constant use during the past legislative session.

We are in favor of shifting the burden of taxation to those able to bear it. We are in favor, to use the words of the national Democratic platform, of "adjusting the burden of taxation so that swollen incomes bear their equitable share."

We are in favor of a budget system which will make it possible for the legislature to give adequate consideration to and vote intelligently on appropriation measures, and which will substitute for the present haphazard method of appropriating public moneys one in accord with the principles of economy, efficiency and service.

We believe that the privilege, the present administration extended to the railroad corporations to pay their license fees one-half every six months should be extended in common justice to all taxpayers of the state in their tax payments.

GOOD ROADS.

The Democratic national platform declares that "The happiness, comfort and prosperity of rural life and the development of the city are alike conserved by the construction of public highways." We believe sincerely in this. We recognize the leadership the national government has given to the good roads movement by the appropriation of millions of dollars of national aid, such appropriations to be made to states conditionally, upon the state government's voting state aid and state direction. We pledge ourselves to the furtherance of this great work, so necessary in the development of our state, and will enact the necessary legislation so that the state itself will keep pace with the increasing sentiment that is manifested on every side in town meetings throughout the state of Wisconsin for better roads and more of them, at the same time keeping the expense of supervision down to the lowest point consistent with the efficiency that should be required of all public work. As a method to more readily develop the various resources of our state, we favor the plan of continuous state highways fairly distributed throughout the state to constitute the main arteries of the road system.

INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION.

The Democratic party has always stood staunchly for the education of the workman, and pledges itself to the strengthening of the apprenticeship law so that every apprentice will be able to obtain the benefits of a school education while actually indentured. It unqualifiedly pledges the extension of the continuation schools under the control of the state board of industrial education so that every working boy and girl may have the benefits of part-time education to the fullest extent.

We want the state to aid, stimulate, and encourage the establishment of night schools in Wisconsin, especially in cities, for with the immigration the state is receiving so gladly if we are interested in the building of right citizenship we must give the widest possible opportunity for the education of the adult as well as for the child.

Thousands of children yearly are leaving the public schools to become the driftwood of industry. Their education is woefully inadequate. They are liabilities to both industry and society. The hope for these children and for industry and society, is through practical sound education.

We favor heartily therefore the development of the state plan of industrial education in which control is placed in the hands of representatives of employers and employees.

PRIMARY ELECTION.

We affirm our faith in the principle of the primary election. We favor an amendment legalizing the calling of party conventions for the purpose of adopting platforms and perfecting party organizations, particularly in the interest of minority parties and such other amendments as will make more representative party nominations.

THE MERIT PRINCIPLE IN PUBLIC SERVICE.

We believe heartily in the merit principle in the public service. We shall favor any practical extension of its application.

We are in favor of the extension of the merit principle, to local government and we shall make it possible, in coöperation with the Civil Service commission, for the local governmental units to use, upon request, the machinery of the state Civil Service commission to help them in selecting men for the public service in order to bring about permanency, stability, efficiency and economy in municipality.

We favor a system of promotion within the service which will open up to men the possibility of a career in the public service in order to prevent public servants truckling to corporation interests and graduating out of the public service into corporation soft snaps for service well done.

BRIBING THE LEGISLATURE.

We are unalterably opposed to the practice of the present Republican administration of bribing legislators by appointing them to administrative posts in the public service.

We pledge ourselves to pass legislation which will make impossible the appointment of legislators to administrative posts during the term for which they are elected.

WELFARE OF THE WORKERS.

The Democratic national platform emphasizes that a man's labor is not a commodity, but a part of his life, that the workers have the right of voluntary association for their own protection and welfare, and that, through every possible agency, the life and health of the people of the nation should be conserved. We believe in this in spirit and sincerity. We recognize, as President Wilson has said, that the whole economic movement of the time points to the eight-hour day as a measure for the building of better citizenship, and to help bring about such a realization, we favor also stringent child-labor laws, constantly improved conditions for those who work, the betterment of sanitary conditions in all establishments, an adequate wage for all employes, and especially every provision for comfort, health and compensation in the employment of women as should be accorded the mothers of the race and thus may we hope to help open the heart of Democracy to comprehend fully social and industrial justice.

REGULATION OF FIRE INSURANCE RATES.

We demand the repeal of the Wisconsin law enacted in 1897 authorizing the fire insurance agents to fix and enforce rates in our cities and villages and condemn the annual overcharge by the stock fire insurance companies to the people of Wisconsin of an average of more than $1,500,000 annually, amounting in 1915 to more than $2,700,000. We pledge the enactment and efficient administration of a law to require that fire insurance rates shall be just and reasonable.

CONSERVATION.

The Democratic party believes that the natural resources of the state belong to all the people of the state and that the people should not be robbed of this natural inheritance under any disguise of improvement or taxation. Natural resources, however, should be properly developed and used for the benefit of the whole people, but under such public control as shall conserve all public interests. Such control must provide an efficient administration without waste and especially without exploitation by a few of what is the property of all. We are unalterably opposed to any legislative enactment or any administrative policy or action which shall permit to any degree such private seizure or which shall fail to adequately safeguard the public interests in every way.

HUMAN WELFARE,—THE END OF GOVERNMENT.

We shall devote every effort to promote and stimulate to the utmost the material development of the state. No state is blessed by so abundant natural resources. We shall direct the services of the state government to cooperate with citizens in utilizing these resources for the prosperity of all our citizens. But interested as we are in the material prosperity of the state, we are more interested in the welfare of human beings.

The present administration has been blind to the welfare opportunities of government.

The state government has become more and more an ineffective factor in protecting the weak against the strong in preventing the exploitation of human beings.

The state government must be reclaimed. Government must become a factor in promoting the public weal. Public servants must be public-minded. Government must not be a spectator of wrongs, of inequalities, of exploitation, and of unfair dealing. It must be a positive factor in promoting the great democratic doctrine of equality of opportunity. In every opportunity to promote the public welfare we gladly enlist under the banner that has on it the state motto, "Forward".

STATE PROHIBITION PARTY PLATFORM OF 1916.

The Prohibition party of the state of Wisconsin, assembled at Madison, September 19, 1916, recognizing Almighty God as the Supreme Lawgiver and avowing that the chief object of all government lies in the establishment of justice and righteousness among men, and recognizing also that the highest kind of patriotism and the sincerest devotion to our country is shown in obedience to law and promotion of peace and good will not only among ourselves, but also among the far away nations of the earth, do hereby make the following declaration of our principles and policies and pledge anew our fealty to all of the imperishable principles and institutions that have made the United States a word of magic among the nations of the earth.

I.—We reiterate and intensify every denunciation of the liquor traffic which we have made during the past forty years. It is not a business but an infamous traffic, accursed of God, and abhorred by all good people everywhere. We demand that this evil shall be outlawed by Congress at the earliest possible moment, and we maintain that the political parties which deliberately side step the greatest moral, economic and financial problem of the day are not entitled to the support of our citizenship.

II.—We are in favor of giving women the same right of suffrage exercised by men.

III.—We are in favor of a uniform marriage and divorce law and are opposed to any state granting divorces on a few months' residence. We insist also upon the complete suppression of commercialized vice in every form.

IV.—We favor the rights of labor without impairing the rights of capital, and the settlement of all disputes by arbitration, and the abolition of child labor in mines and factories.

V.—We favor the settlement of all disputes between nations by an international court with power to enforce its decrees.

VI.—We favor a speedy reforestation of millions of acres of our broad commonwealth and the complete control of all rivers, lakes, and waterways of the state in the interest, not of corporation, but of the people.

VII.—We recognize the proper observance of the Sabbath as a day of rest from all unnecessary labor not only as a great privilege but a positive necessity to man's highest well-being.

VIII.—We favor the restoration of the Bible to our schools and the reading of such selections as have been agreed upon by foremost educators in the land.

IX.—We are in favor of a law providing that the filing of a complaint that an officer has refused or neglected to enforce any state law or city ordinance shall suspend such officer until he is found not guilty and, if found guilty, he is to be removed from office and an adequate penalty imposed.

X.—We insist upon the complete and continued separation of church and state and that not one dollar of our taxes shall be used for the support of any sectarian institution.

XI.—We demand that every party represented upon the official ballot shall also be represented upon the election board in every election precinct in the state.

XII.—We favor such change in the present primary law as will make it easier for candidates to get their names on the ballot.

XIII.—We are in favor of more stringent laws for the supervision of domestic corporations and against corporations and other parties doing business in the state from fixing prices on articles of food commodities.

XIV.—We protest against the wasteful expenditures of public funds and favor a more economical use of the same.

XV.—We are in favor of the repeal of the law fixing the salary of Mayor and Commissioners under a commission form of government.

XVI.—We favor a military preparedness for defense by means of our trained citizen soldiery, but not for aggression. Such preparedness must include the fundamentals necessary for preserving our nation's manhood and protecting it fully from the ravages of the liquor traffic and its allied evils. We also believe this nation should lead in a movement for world-wide disarmament and for peace and good will towards all men.

For the furtherance and the establishment of these principles we invite the coöperation of every voter in the broad commonwealth of our beloved state.

STATE REPUBLICAN PARTY PLATFORM OF 1916.

The Republican party of Wisconsin, in convention assembled, renews its devotion to Republican principles.

The fulfillment of its pledges in response to public needs has been one of its most cherished traditions.

During the sixty years of its existence it has been and now is the party of progress.

We affirm our adherence to the principles of the Republican party as expressed in the national platform adopted by the National Republican convention held at Chicago in June.

We unqualifiedly endorse the nominees of that convention, Honorable Charles E. Hughes for president and Charles W. Fairbanks for vice president, as eminently fitted to effectively administer those principles for the welfare of the nation.

We endorse the candidates nominated at the recent Republican primary and commend them to the electorate of Wisconsin.

We heartily endorse the effective efforts of Governor Emanuel L. Philipp and his supporters in both houses of the legislature which resulted in a material reduction in the cost of state government.

We approve of the system of state accounting established so that the people may be fully informed as to the amount of all public expenditures and for what specific purpose, and we recommend such further legislation as may be necessary to bring about a still more complete system of accounting.

We favor all real progress in government and a liberal support of institutions that make government serviceable to the people and advance the cause of humanity. We recognize that there must be continued progress, but we also believe that in establishing new activities the cost must be taken into consideration in order that the taxes shall not become burdensome to the people.

We believe in constitutional government and in concentrating responsibility for government in the hands of the constitutional officers elected by and directly responsible to the people. During Governor Philipp's administration progress has been made in the consolidation of commissions, and in lessening their expenses, while increasing their efficiency, but we demand that there be further steps taken in this direction, and also that increased expenditures for the extension of such activities be subject to the approval of the responsible constitutional officers of the state.

The Republican party of Wisconsin has always favored the construction of good roads, as evidenced by the fact that while in power it has enacted county and state aid road laws which have done much to improve highway conditions in the state. We appreciate that much of the work thus far done has necessarily been experimental and we believe the time has now arrived when it is advisable to make further changes and extensions in our existing highway laws.

We believe the state should lend its efforts to a system of construction that will give the people full value for the money expended and make adequate provision for the repair and maintenance of state roads that have been built or may be constructed in the future.

We further pledge ourselves to enact such additional legislation as may be necessary to enable the state to obtain the benefit of the federal aid provided for by Congress.

We believe that the agricultural development of the now undeveloped portions of Wisconsin will add materially to the wealth of the state and we therefore pledge legislation designed to encourage the settlement and development of these sections of the commonwealth.

The preparation of farm products for market and their distribution is a question of vital importance to both producer and consumer, and the welfare of agriculture in the state may be promoted by better methods of marketing. The federal government and some of the states have found it possible to promote progress along these lines by suitable legislation. Believing that Wisconsin should have the best of facilities for the development of its agriculture, we recommend that the commissioner of agriculture shall be directed by the legislature to investigate farm marketing conditions and take such steps toward their improvement as may be found advantageous from time to time.

We heartily commend the university and the normal schools of the state for the splendid work they are doing in the field of education and recommend their continued support insofar as such support will not be burdensome to the taxpayers.

We commend the efforts made by the present state administration for the benefit of the common schools and we recommend that still further efforts be made for their improvement.

We believe that the state owes its first duty to the welfare of the masses and the upbuilding of those activities which make for the general welfare. With that end in view we recommend additional legislation for the aid of our common schools and liberal appropriations for continuation schools in order to give those who are obliged to become wage earners at an early age an opportunity to receive an education.

We pledge a revision of the schedules of compensation to injured workmen under the workmen's compensation act, increasing such compensation where present experience demonstrates such increases to be justified, and recommend a general legislative investigation of the entire subject of workmen's compensation to the end that such compensation shall be adequate and equitable.

Workmen's compensation insurance has largely provided for losses resulting from industrial accidents and occupational diseases. Much want and suffering due to old age, sickness and accidents is not provided for. Many and varied plans of social insurance are now engaging the attention of students of this important subject.

The subject is far-reaching in results to be obtained and in the costs involved. It is important that any plan to provide such insurance be based on sound and practical economic principles. No agreement as to such a basis has been reached by the students of this subject.

We therefore pledge ourselves to make provisions for a thorough study and investigation thereof at the earliest possible date, to the end that adequate information may be secured as a proper basis for wise legislation thereon.

Under the workmen's compensation act the subject of workmen's compensation insurance is of prime importance to employers and employees. The continued solvency of companies writing this class of insurance is of first importance to both. It is not adequately provided for under existing law. Discrimination is now affected by misclassification of risks; and rates are discriminatory between classifications.

We pledge ourselves to the enactment of legislation that will insure just and equitable rates, prohibit discrimination, and guarantee the continued solvency of companies writing compensation insurance in this state.

Fire insurance is a necessary protection and of the utmost importance to the people of this state.

We believe that fire insurance rates should be just and reasonable and that the premium charged should be fairly and equitably distributed without discrimination and according to the hazard of the risk assumed.

We pledge ourselves to legislation providing for the regulation, by the state, of fire insurance rates, assuring to the people and to the companies just and equitable treatment.

We endorse wise legislation for the better protection of health and sanitation, believing that the advancement of well established methods of sanitation and public hygiene and the prevention and control of dangerous communicable diseases is a most economical investment by the state. We approve of the work now being done by the State Health department in its various branches, and pledge ourselves to support and encourage such measures as may be required to lessen the amount of sickness and lower the death rate, and thereby increase the prosperity and happiness of our citizens.

We extend to our boys who have been called to the protection of the American border our greetings and assure them that we appreciate their sacrifice and heroism in volunteering to defend our country. In the event that it becomes reasonably certain that our guardsmen will remain on the frontier until after the general election in November, we favor a special session of the legislature, for the purpose of enacting such laws as are necessary to enable them to vote wherever located.

We submit to the electors of Wisconsin this declaration of principles, and solicit their support for the election of, the entire Republican ticket.

STATE SOCIALIST PARTY PLATFORM OF 1916.

The Socialist party is the American political expression of the international movement of the modern working class for better housing, sufficient sleep, more leisure, more education and more culture.

Under the present system, society is rapidly dividing into two classes, the rich and poor, the capitalist class and the proletariat. The one toils without enjoying, the other enjoys without toiling.

The wage earners of the cities and the farmers are the principal producers of this country. Under our present economic system both are exploited for the benefit of the capitalist class, the laborer on the sale of his labor power and the farmer on the sale of his products. Both are exploited in the purchase of practically all necessities of life.

PARTY'S FINAL AIM.

The final aim of the Socialist party is the emancipation of the producers and the abolition of the capitalist system. For that purpose we organize the producing classes in city and county into a political party to take control of the powers of government.

The most characteristic expression of the present economic system is the trust and the monopoly.

Electricity, steam and modern inventions have struck a death blow at production on a small scale. Competition has wiped out competition. Manufacture on a large scale makes monopoly an inevitable condition. The trust and the monopoly are here, whether we wish it or not. The only question is, shall they be public or private monopolies?

TRUSTS IN CONTROL.

But the private monopoly, the trusts, have proved that nowadays a small group of capitalists have it in their power to decide how much meat and how much bread we shall eat; how much we shall spend for coal and how much for oil; how nicely or how poorly we shall be clothed and housed; what kind of furniture we are permitted to use, and in what kind of a coffin we are to be buried. They can do this by fixing the price of everything. In short, the trusts decide how well or how ill, how long or how short a time we shall live.

The proposition to solve the trust question by regulation is impossible. It has been a miserable failure in every country where tried, and is being abandoned for government ownership. Private interests dominate congress, the legislature, the courts and executive and administrative officers to a degree that makes so-called governmental control a farce. The only solution is that private monopoly must be changed to public ownership democratically controlled, which is Socialism.

FREEDOM FROM EXPLOITERS.

The Socialist party demands that the production of this country shall be taken away from the control of a small number of irresponsible men, whose only aim is to exploit us to the last limit of our endurance, without regard to human life or welfare.

We denounce the hypocrisy of the capitalist political parties, the Democrats and Republicans, who still pretend that they differ in principles. They have wiped out all legal distinction between themselves in city governments. They have degenerated into a mad scramble for public office and plutocratic favors. They have no claim upon the confidence of the workers, whom they have shamefully betrayed.

With these things in view the Socialist party of the state of Wisconsin reaffirms its allegiance to the principles and platform of the Socialist party of America, and proposes at this time the following program for political action in this state:

STATE AND CITY PROGRAM.

1. We stand for the largest possible degree of municipal home rule, and will support all measures to that end.

2. We demand the initiative, the referendum, the right of recall and the proportional representation.

3. We demand a new system of taxation for the state, which shall include only:

(a) Assessment and taxation of all land at its full value exclusive of improvements.

(b) Increased inheritance tax on large inheritances.

(c) An income tax graduated so as to increase the return to the state from the large incomes and favor the exemption of incomes to $2,000.

(d) Provided, however, that we favor the exemption of all property used solely for worship, school or wholly charitable purposes, but not the exemption of property held by religious associations for speculation or increase of value, or for drawing an income, or for the conduct of an industry.

4. (a) No more franchises to be granted for the development of water powers to private enterprises. All water power franchises subject to repeal to be repealed and the water powers to be placed under the direct control of the state.

(b) The ownership and development of all natural resources, including water powers, head water reservoirs and ore deposits, by the state directly, to the end that the energy and products thereof may bring the largest possible returns to the people as a whole.

(c) All mineral rights reserved in title deeds shall be acquired by the state, exercising the right of eminent domain.

(d) No land belonging to the state shall be sold, and all land sold for taxes shall be bought by the state, or by the municipality.

(e) The extension of the forest reserve; the erection and operation of state mills for handling the timber products, to the end that the cost of lumber to actual settlers and home owners may be reduced to the cost of production.

5. We demand adequate pay for members of the legislature.

6. We hold that intemperance in the use of liquor is largely the result of the present enervating economic conditions. With the growth of a people in physique, intellect and morals, intemperance will gradually disappear and temperate habits in all things prevail. Until the profit system has been abolished and a more harmonious economic order has been established, the attempts of well meaning people to introduce temperate habits by law will prove only an evasion of the real issue.

7. Pending the establishment of a national system of accident insurance, we favor state insurance against fire, tornado, or other unavoidable accidents. We are also pledged to old age pensions, mothers' pensions, widows' pensions and to a liberal provision for orphans.

We demand the submission of a proposition to the voters of Wisconsin giving equal suffrage, regardless of sex.

THE INDUSTRIAL PROGRAM.

1. Limitation of the working hours of all wage earners to eight hours per day.
2. Legislation giving all wage workers the right to strike and picket. Militia shall not be used in case of strike.
3. Wages and labor conditions—including the right of the workers to organize—to be the paramount consideration in the present regulation policy for railroads and all public utilities while that policy continues.
4. Payment of a fair wage to all persons restrained of their liberty and employed by public authority, and a complete reform of the penal system.
5. We approve the principle of the workmen's compensation act. However, among other defects, the scale of compensation under the existing law is wholly inadequate, and we demand a substantial increase thereof, particularly as to specific injuries and death.
6. We demand state or municipal employment of the unemployed at public work on an eight-hour basis at current fair wages.
7. We demand a reconstruction of the educational system of the state, so that there may be education for all which shall combine culture with social efficiency. Physical training, thorough, systematic course of gymnastics and open air exercises are to be part of the educational system. We also demand that the state or the municipalities shall provide for free textbooks and school utensils for all pupils in the public schools.
8. We favor health insurance laws which will deal especially with occupational diseases—such laws to be preventative as well as ameliorative measures.

FARMERS' PROGRAM.

In order to improve the condition of the farmers, stop landlordism and land speculation and facilitate the settlement of the waste land, we propose the following measures:

1. Erection and management by the state of grain elevators, cold storage plants and warehouses for the storage and marketing of farm products.
2. Organization of free agricultural education and the establishment of model farms.
3. Encouragement by the state of coöperative societies, especially favoring a law allowing coöperative banking.
4. Organization by the state for loans on mortgages and warehouse receipts, the interest to cover cost only.
5. State insurance against diseases of animals, diseases of plants, insect pests, hail, flood, storm and fire.

LAND.

We see in the private ownership of gigantic tracts of land by land companies and speculators the principal reason why millions of acres of tillable soil lie idle in this state. The following measures are intended to eliminate this class of land ownership and to assist actual settlers.

1. Exemption from taxation of all improvements on land and personal property.
2. A graduated and progressive tax on idle land held for speculation.
3. Absentee landowners to assess their own lands, the state reserving the right to purchase such land at their assessed value plus 10 per cent.
4. Land now in the possession of the state or hereafter acquired through purchase, reclamation, tax sales or condemnation shall be divided into agricultural and forestry land by a joint commission composed of members of the agricultural and forestry departments. The state to bear its share of public improvements.

5. Issuance by the state of improvement bonds for the purpose of establishing village settlements and the clearing of land under the supervision of the agricultural department. Employment of settlers for such work at prevailing wages. The bonds to constitute first lien on such land and to be redeemed in small payments extending over a long period.

6. Use and occupancy by owner shall constitute the only title to land redeemed or settled with state help.

MORE WEALTH AND MORE CULTURE FOR THE MASSES.

The Socialist party also stands for every other radical change that will bring more wealth, more culture and more security to the masses of the people. But we call attention to the fact that the measures we urge are not a cure for all the existing evils, nor are all of them Socialist measures. They are to be viewed rather as mere palliatives capable of being carried out even under the present conditions. Under no circumstances should the people rest content with palliatives of this kind. The people should move onward to the conquest of all public powers, to an entire change of the present system for one which will secure to the people collectively the ownership of the means of production and distribution and thereby the blessings of all modern inventions, and a standard of civilization and culture hitherto unknown in history.

NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC PARTY PLATFORM OF 1916.

The Democratic party, in national convention assembled, adopts the following declaration to the end that the people of the United States may both realize the achievements wrought by four years of Democratic administration and be apprised of the policies to which the party is committed for the further conduct of national affairs.

RECORDS OF ACHIEVEMENT.

We indorse the administration of Woodrow Wilson. It speaks for itself. It is the best exposition of sound Democratic policy at home and abroad.

We challenge comparison of our record, our keeping of pledges and our constructive legislation, with those of any party of any time.

We found our country hampered by special privilege, a vicious tariff, obsolete banking laws and an inelastic currency. Our foreign affairs were dominated by commercial interests for their selfish ends. The Republican party, despite repeated pledges, was impotent to correct abuses which it had fostered. Under our administration, under a leadership which has never faltered, these abuses have been corrected, and our people have been freed therefrom.

Our archaic banking and currency system, prolific of panic and disaster under Republican administrations—long the refuge of the money trust—has been supplanted by the Federal Reserve act, a true democracy of credit under government control, already proved a financial bulwark in a world crisis, mobilizing our resources, placing abundant credit at the disposal of legitimate industry and making a currency panic impossible.

We have created a Federal Trade commission to accommodate the perplexing questions arising under the anti-trust laws so that monopoly may be strangled at its birth and legitimate industry encouraged. Fair competition in business is now assured.

We have effected an adjustment of the tariff, adequate for revenue under peace conditions, and fair to the consumer and to the producer.

We have adjusted the burdens of taxation so that swollen incomes bear their equitable share. Our revenues have been sufficient in times of world stress, and will largely exceed the expenditures for the current fiscal year.

We have lifted human labor from the category of commodities and have secured to the workingman the right of voluntary association for his protection and welfare. We have protected the rights of the laborer against the unwarranted issuance of writs of injunction, and have guaranteed to him the right of trial by jury in cases of alleged contempt committed outside the presence of the court.

We have advanced the parcel post to genuine efficiency, enlarged the Postal Savings system, added 10,000 rural delivery routes and extensions, thus reaching 2,500,000 additional people, improved the Postal service in every branch, and for the first time in our history placed the post-office system on a self-supporting basis, with actual surplus in 1913, 1914 and 1916.

ECONOMIC FREEDOM.

The reforms which were most obviously needed to clear away special privilege, prevent unfair discrimination and release the energies of men of all ranks and advantages, have been effected by recent legislation. We must now remove, as far as possible, every remaining element of unrest and uncertainty from the path of the business men of America, and secure for them a continued period of quiet, assured and confident prosperity.

TARIFF.

We reaffirm our belief in the doctrine of a tariff for the purpose of providing sufficient revenue for the operation of the government economically administered and unreservedly indorse the Underwood tariff law as truly exemplifying that doctrine. We recognize that tariff rates are necessarily subject to change to meet changing conditions in the world's production and trade. The events of the last two years have brought about many momentous changes. In some respects their effects are yet conjectural and wait to be disclosed, particularly in regard to our foreign trade.

Two years of a war which has directly involved most of the chief industrial nations of the world and which has indirectly affected the life and industry of all nations, are bringing about economic changes more varied and far-reaching than the world has ever before experienced. In order to ascertain just what those changes may be, the Democratic Congress is providing for a non-partisan tariff commission to make impartial and thorough study of every economic fact that may throw light either upon our past or upon our future fiscal policy with regard to the imposition of taxes on imports or with regard to the changed and changing conditions under which our trade is carried on. We cordially indorse this timely proposal and declare ourselves in sympathy with the principle and purpose of shaping legislation within that field in accordance with clearly established facts rather than in accordance with the demands of selfish interests or upon information provided largely, if not exclusively, by them.

AMERICANISM.

The part which the United States will play in the new day of international relationships that is now upon us will depend upon our preparation and our character. The Democratic party, therefore, recognizes the assertion and triumphant demonstration of the indivisibility and coherent strength of the nation as the supreme issue of this day in which the whole world faces the crisis of manifold change. It summons all men of whatever origin or creed who would count themselves Americans, to join in making clear to all the world the unity and consequent power of America. This is an issue of patriotism. To taint it with partisanship would be to defile it. In this day of test, America must show itself not a nation of partisans but a nation of patriots. There is gathered here in America the best of the blood, the industry and the genius of the world, the elements of a great race and a magnificent society to be welded into a mighty and splendid nation.

Whoever, actuated by the purpose to promote the interest of a foreign power, in disregard of our own country's welfare or to injure this government in its foreign relations or cripple or destroy its industries at home, and whoever by arousing prejudices of a racial, religious or other nature creates discord and strife among our people so as to obstruct the wholesome process of unification, is faithless to the trust which the privileges of citizenship repose in him and is disloyal to his country. We, therefore, condemn as subversive of this nation's unity and integrity, and as destructive of its welfare, the activities and designs of every group or organization, political or otherwise, that has for its object the advancement of the interest of a foreign power, whether such object is promoted by intimidating the government, a political party, or representatives of the people, or which is calculated and tends to divide our people into antagonistic groups and thus to destroy that complete agreement and solidarity of the people and that unity of sentiment and purpose so essential to the perpetuity of the nation and its free institutions. We condemn all alliances and combinations of individuals in this country of whatever nationality or descent, who agree and conspire together for the purpose of embarrassing or weakening our government or of improperly influencing or coercing our public representatives in dealing or negotiating with any foreign power. We charge that such conspiracies among a limited number exist and have been instigated for the purpose of advancing the interests of foreign countries to the prejudice and detriment of our own country. We condemn any political party which, in view of the activity of such conspirators, surrenders its integrity or modifies its policy.

PREPAREDNESS.

Along with the proof of our character as a nation must go the proof of our power to play the part that legitimately belongs to us. The people of the United States love peace. They respect the rights and covet the friendship of all other nations. They desire neither any additional territory nor any advantage which can not be peacefully gained by their skill, their industry, or their enterprise; but they insist upon having absolute freedom of national life and policy, and feel that they owe it to themselves and to the rôle of spirited independence which it is their sole ambition to play, that they should render themselves secure against the hazard of interference from any quarter, and should be able to protect their rights upon the seas or in any part of the world. We, therefore, favor the maintenance of an army fully adequate to the requirements of order, of safety and of the protection of the nation's rights; the fullest development of modern methods of seacoast defense and the maintenance of an adequate reserve of citizens trained to arms and prepared to safeguard the people and territory of the United States against any danger of hostile action which may unexpectedly arise; and a fixed policy for the continuous development of a navy worthy to support the great naval traditions of the United States and fully equal to the international tasks which this nation hopes and expects to take a part in performing. The plans and enactments of the present Congress afford substantial proof of our purpose in this exigent matter.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS.

The Democratic administration has throughout the present war scrupulously and successfully held to the old paths of neutrality and to the peaceful pursuit of the legitimate objects of our national life which statesmen of all parties and creeds have prescribed for themselves in America since the beginning of our history. But the circumstances of the last two years have revealed necessities of international action which no former generation can have foreseen. We hold that it is the duty of the United States to use its power, not only to make itself safe at home, but also to make secure its just interests throughout the world, and, both for this end and in the interest of humanity, to assist the world in securing settled peace and justice. We believe that every people has the right to choose the sovereignty under which it shall live; that the small states of the world have a right to enjoy from other nations the same respect for their sovereignty and for their territorial integrity that great and powerful nations expect and insist upon; and that the world has a right to be free from every disturbance of its peace that has its origin in aggression or disregard of the rights of peoples and nations; and we believe that the time has come when it is the duty of the United States to join with the other nations of the world in any feasible association that will effectively serve those principles, to maintain inviolate the complete security of the highway of the seas for the common and unhindered use of all nations.

The present administration has consistently sought to act upon and realize in its conduct of the foreign affairs of the nation the principle that should be the object of any association of the nations formed to secure the peace of the world and the maintenance of national and individual rights. It has followed the highest American traditions. It has preferred respect for the fundamental rights of smaller states even to property interests, and has secured the friendship of the people of such states for the United States by refusing to make a mere material interest an excuse for the assertion of our superior power against the dignity of their sovereign independence. It has regarded the lives of its citizens and the claims of humanity as of greater moment than material rights, and peace as the best basis for the just settlement of commercial claims. It has made the honor and ideals of the United States its standard alike in negotiation and action.

PAN-AMERICAN CONCORD.

We recognize now, as we have always recognized, a definite and common interest between the United States and the other peoples and republics of the western hemisphere in all matters of national independence and free political development. We favor the establishment and maintenance of the closest relations of amity and mutual helpfulness between the United States and the other republics of the American continents for the support of peace and the promotion of a common prosperity. To that end we favor all measures which may be necessary to facilitate intimate intercourse and promote commerce between the United States and our neighbors to the south, and such international understandings as may be practicable and suitable to accomplish these ends.

We commend the action of the Democratic administration in holding the Pan-American Financial conference at Washington in May, 1915, and organizing the International High commission which represented the United States in the recent meeting of representatives of the Latin American republics at Buenos Aires, April, 1916, which have so greatly promoted the friendly relations between the people of the Western hemisphere.

MEXICO.

The Monroe doctrine is reasserted as a principle of Democratic faith. That doctrine guarantees the independent republics of the two Americas against aggression from another continent. It implies, as well, the most scrupulous regard upon our part for the sovereignty of each of them. We court their good will. We seek not to despoil them. The want of a stable, responsible government in Mexico, capable of repressing and punishing marauders and bandit bands, who have not only taken the lives and seized and destroyed the property of American citizens in that country, but have insolently invaded our soil, made war upon and murdered our people thereon, has rendered it necessary to temporarily occupy, by our armed forces, a portion of the territory of that friendly state. Until, by the restoration of law and order therein, a repetition of such incursions is improbable, the necessity for their remaining will continue. Intervention, implying as it does military subjugation, is revolting to the people of the United States, notwithstanding the provocation to that course has been great and should be resorted to, if at all, only as a last recourse. The stubborn resistance of the president and his advisers to every demand and suggestion to enter upon it, is creditable alike to them and to the people in whose name he speaks.

MERCHANT MARINE.

Immediate provision should be made for the development of the carrying trade of the United States. Our foreign commerce has in the past been subject to many unnecessary and vexatious obstacles in the way of legislation of Republican congresses. Until the recent Democratic tariff legislation, it was hampered by unreasonable burdens of taxation. Until the recent banking legislation, it had at its disposal few of the necessary instrumentalities of international credit and exchange. Until the formulation of the pending act to promote the construction of a merchant marine, it lacked even the prospect of adequate carriage by sea. We heartily indorse the purpose and policy of the pending shipping bill and favor all such additional measures of constructive or remedial legislation as may be necessary to restore our flag to the seas and to provide further facilities for our foreign commerce, particularly such laws as may be requisite to remove unfair conditions of competition in the dealing of American merchants and producers with competitors in foreign markets.

CONSERVATION.

For the safeguarding and quickening of the life of our own people we favor the conservation and development of the natural resources of the country through a policy which shall be positive rather than negative, a policy which shall not withhold such resources from development but which, while permitting and encouraging their use, shall prevent both waste and monopoly in their exploitation, and we earnestly favor the passage of acts which will accomplish these objects, reaffirming the declaration of the platform of 1912 on this subject. The policy of reclaiming our arid lands should be steadily adhered to.

THE ADMINISTRATION AND THE FARMER.

We favor the vigorous prosecution of investigations and plans to render agriculture more profitable and country life more healthful, comfortable and attractive, and we believe that this should be a dominant aim of the nation as well as of the states. With all its recent improvement farming still lags behind other occupations in development as a business, and the advantages of an advancing civilization have not accrued to rural communities in a fair proportion. Much has been accomplished in this field under the present administration, far more than under any previous administration. In the Federal Reserve act of the last Congress and the Rural Credits act of the present Congress, the machinery has been created which will make credit available to the farmer constantly and readily, placing him at last upon a footing of equality with the merchant and the manufacturer in securing the capital necessary to carry on his enterprises. Grades and standard necessary to the intelligent and successful conduct of the business of agriculture have also been established or are in the course of being established by law. The long-needed Cotton Futures act, passed by the Sixty-third Congress, has now been in successful operation for nearly two years. A Grain Grades bill, long needed, and a Permissive Warehouse bill, intended to provide better storage facilities and to enable the farmer to obtain certificates upon which he may secure advances of money, have been passed by the House of Representatives, have been favorably reported to the Senate, and will probably become law during the present session of the Congress. Both houses have passed a good-roads measure which will be of far-reaching benefit to all agricultural communities. Above all, the most extraordinary and significant progress has been made, under the direction of the Department of Agriculture, in extending and perfecting practical farm demonstration work which is so rapidly substituting scientific for empirical farming. But it is also necessary that rural activities should be better directed through coöperation and organization, that unfair methods of competition should be eliminated and the conditions requisite for the just, orderly and economical marketing of farm products created. We approve the Democratic administration for having emphatically directed attention for the first time to the essential interests of agriculture involved in farm marketing and finance for creating the Office of Markets and Rural Organization in connection with the Department of Agriculture, and for extending the coöperative machinery necessary for conveying information to farmers by means of demonstration. We favor continued, liberal provision, not only for the benefit of production, but also for the study and solution of problems of farm marketing and finance and for the extension of existing agencies for improving country life.

GOOD ROADS.

The happiness, comfort and prosperity of rural life, and the development of the city, are alike conserved by the construction of public highways. We, therefore, favor national aid in the construction of post roads and roads for military purposes.

GOVERNMENT EMPLOYMENT.

We hold that the life, health and strength of the men, women and children of the nation are its greatest asset, and that in the conservation of these the federal government, wherever it acts as the employer of labor, should both on its own account and as an example, put into effect the following principles of just employment:

1. A living wage for all employes.
2. A working day not to exceed eight hours, with one day of rest in seven.
3. The adoption of safety appliances and the establishment of thorough sanitary conditions of labor.
4. Adequate compensation for industrial accidents.
5. The standards of the "Uniform Child Labor Law" wherever minors are employed.

6. Such provisions for decency, comfort and health in the employment of women as should be accorded the mothers of the race.

7. An equitable retirement law providing for the retirement of superannuated and disabled employes of the civil service, to the end that a higher standard of efficiency may be maintained.

We believe also that the adoption of similar principles should be urged and applied in the legislation of the states with regard to labor within their borders and that through every possible agency the life and health of the people of the nation should be conserved.

LABOR.

We declare our faith in the Seamen's act, passed by the Democratic Congress, and we promise our earnest continuance of its enforcement.

We favor the speedy enactment of an effective Federal Child Labor law, and the regulation of the shipment of prison-made goods in interstate commerce.

We favor the creation of a Federal Bureau of Safety in the Department of Labor, to gather facts concerning industrial hazards, and to recommend legislation to prevent the maiming and killing of human beings.

We favor the extension of the powers and functions of the Federal Bureau of Mines.

We favor the development upon a systematic scale of the means, already begun under the present administration, to assist laborers throughout the Union to seek and obtain employment, and the extension by the federal government of the same assistance and encouragement as is now given to agricultural training.

We heartily commend our newly established Department of Labor for its fine record in settling strikes by personal advice and through conciliating agents.

PUBLIC HEALTH.

We favor a thorough reconsideration of the means and methods by which the federal government handles questions of public health to the end that human life may be conserved by the elimination of loathsome disease, the improvement of sanitation, and the diffusion of a knowledge of disease prevention.

We favor the establishment by the federal government of tuberculosis sanitariums for needy tubercular patients.

SENATE RULES.

We favor such alteration of the rules of procedure of the Senate of the United States as will permit the prompt transaction of the nation's legislative business.

ECONOMY AND THE BUDGET.

We demand careful economy in all expenditures for the support of the government, and to that end favor a return by the House of Representatives to its former practice of initiating and preparing all appropriation bills through a single committee chosen from its membership, in order that responsibility may be centered, expenditures standardized and made uniform, and waste and duplication in the public service as much as possible avoided. We favor this as a practicable first step toward a budget system.

CIVIL SERVICE.

We reaffirm our declarations for the rigid enforcement of the Civil Service laws.

PHILIPPINE ISLANDS.

We heartily indorse the provisions of the bill, recently passed by the House of Representatives, further promoting self-government in the Philippine islands as being in fulfilment of the policy declared by the Democratic party in its last national platform, and we reiterate our indorsement of the purpose of ultimate independence for the Philippine islands, expressed in the preamble of that measure.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

We recommend the extension of the franchise to the women of the country by the states upon the same terms as to men.

PROTECTION OF CITIZENS.

We again declare the policy that the sacred rights of American citizenship must be preserved at home and abroad, and that no treaty shall receive the sanction of our government which does not expressly recognize the absolute equality of all our citizens irrespective of race, creed or previous nationality, and which does not recognize the right of expatriation. The American government should protect American citizens in their rights not only at home but abroad, and any country having a government should be held to strict accountability for any wrongs done them, either to person or to property. At the earliest practicable opportunity our country should strive earnestly for peace among the warring nations of Europe and seek to bring about the adoption of the fundamental principle of justice and humanity, that all men shall enjoy equality of right and freedom from discrimination in the lands wherein they dwell.

PRISON REFORM.

We demand that the modern principles of prison reform be applied in our Federal Penal system. We favor such work for prisoners as shall give them training in remunerative occupations so that they may make an honest living when released from prison; the setting apart of the net wages of the prisoner to be paid to his dependent family or to be reserved for his own use upon his release; the liberal extension of the principles of the Federal Parole law, with due regard both to the welfare of the prisoner and the interests of society; the adoption of the probation system, especially in the case of first offenders not convicted of serious crimes.

PENSIONS.

We renew the declarations of recent Democratic platforms relating to generous pension for soldiers and their widows and call attention to our record of performance in this particular.

WATERWAYS AND FLOOD CONTROL.

We renew the declaration in our last two platforms relating to the development of our waterways. The recent devastation of the lower Mississippi valley and several other sections by floods accentuates the movement for the regulation of river flow by additional bank and levee protection below, and diversion, storage and control of the flood waters above, and their utilization for beneficial purposes in the reclamation of arid and swamp lands, and development of water power, instead of permitting the floods to continue as heretofore agents of destruction. We hold that the control of the Mississippi river is a national problem. The preservation of the depth of its waters for purposes of navigation, the building of levees and works of bank protection to maintain the integrity of its channel and prevent the overflow of its valley resulting in the interruption of interstate commerce, the disorganization of the mail service, and the enormous loss of life and property, impose an obligation which alone can be discharged by the national government.

We favor the adoption of a liberal and comprehensive plan for the development and improvement of our harbors and inland waterways with economy and efficiency, so as to permit their navigation by vessels of standard draft.

ALASKA.

It has been and will be the policy of the Democratic party to enact all laws necessary for the speedy development of Alaska and its great natural resources.

TERRITORIES.

We favor granting to the people of Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico the traditional territorial government accorded to all territories of the United States since the beginning of our government, and we believe that the officials appointed to administer the government of these several territories should be qualified by previous bona fide residence.

CANDIDATES.

We unreservedly indorse our president and vice president, Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, and Thomas Riley Marshall of Indiana, who have performed the functions of their great offices faithfully and impartially, and with distinguished ability.

In particular we commend to the American people the splendid diplomatic victories of our great president who has preserved the vital interests of our government and its citizens, and kept us out of war.

Woodrow Wilson stands to-day the greatest American of his generation.

CONCLUSION.

This is a critical hour in the history of America, a critical hour in the history of the world. Upon the record above set forth, which shows great constructive achievement in following out a consistent policy for our domestic and internal development; upon the record of the Democratic administration, which has maintained the honor, the dignity and the interests of the United States, and at the same time retained the respect and friendship of all the nations of the world; and upon the great policies for the future strengthening of the life of our country, the enlargement of our national vision and the ennobling of our international relations, as set forth above, we appeal with confidence to the voters of the country.

NATIONAL PROHIBITION PARTY PLATFORM OF 1916.

The Prohibition party, assembled in its twelfth national convention in the city of St. Paul, Minnesota, on this twenty-first day of July, 1916, thankful to Almighty God for the blessings of liberty, grateful for our institutions and the multiplying signs of early victory for the cause for which the party stands, in order that the people may know the source of its faith and the basis of its action, should it be clothed with governmental power, challenges the attention of the nation and asks the votes of the people on this declaration of principles.

PROHIBITION.

We denounce the traffic in intoxicating liquors. We believe in its abolition. It should be made a crime—not a business—and ought not to have governmental sanction.

We demand—and, if given power, we will effectuate the demand—that the manufacture, importation, exportation, transportation and sale of alcoholic liquors for beverage purposes shall be prohibited.

To the accomplishment of this end, we pledge the exercise of all governmental power—the enactment of statutes and the amendment of constitutions, state and national. Only by a political party committed to this purpose can such policy be made effective. We call upon all voters, believing in the destruction of the drink traffic, to place the Prohibition party in power on this issue, as a necessary step in the solution of the liquor problem.

SUFFRAGE.

The right of citizens of the United States to vote should not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex. We declare in favor of the enfranchisement of women by amendments to state and federal constitutions.

We condemn the Republican and Democratic parties for their failure to submit, to the states, an equal suffrage amendment to the national constitution.

We remind the four million women voters that, in 1872 we declared for their political rights, the first so to do, and we invite their cooperation in electing the Prohibition party to power.

PEACE AND PREPAREDNESS.

We are committed to the policy of peace and friendliness to all nations. We are opposed unalterably to the wasteful military program of the Democratic and Republican parties. Militarism protects no worthy institution. It endangers them all and violates the high principles which have brought us as a nation to the present hour. We are for a constructive program in preparedness for peace. We declare for, and will promote, a world court, to which national differences shall be submitted, so maintained as to give its decrees binding force.

We will support a compact among nations to dismantle navies and disband armies; but, until such world court and compact are established, we pledge ourselves to maintain an effective army and navy and to provide coast defenses entirely adequate for national protection.

We are opposed to universal military service and to participation in the rivalry which has brought Europe to the shambles and now imperils the civilization of the race.

STATE OFFICERS

- |                                       |   |                                     |
|---------------------------------------|---|-------------------------------------|
|                                       | 1. Emanuel L. Philipp, Governor                     |                                     |
| 2. Merlin Hull, Secretary of State    |   | 3. Henry Johnson, State Treasurer   |
| 4. Edward F. Dithmar, Lieut. Governor |   | 5. Walter C. Owen, Attorney-General |
|                                       | 6. Charles F. Cory, State Superintendent of Schools |                                     |

Private profit, so far as constitutionally possible, should be taken out of the manufacture of war munitions and all war equipment.

In normal times, we favor the employment of the army in vast reclamation plans; in reforesting hills and mountains; in building state and national highways; in the construction of an inland waterway from Florida to Maine; in opening Alaska and in unnumbered other projects, which will make our soldiers constructive builders of peace. For such service there should be paid an adequate, industrial wage.

Those units of our navy which are capable of being converted into merchantmen and passenger vessels should be constructed with that purpose in view, and chiefly so utilized in times of peace.

We condemn the political parties, which for more than thirty years have allowed munition and war equipment manufacturers to plunder the people and to jeopardize the highest interests of the nation by furnishing honey-combed armor plate and second-rate battleships, which the Navy league now declares are wholly inadequate.

We will not allow the country to forget that the first step toward physical, economic, moral and political preparedness is the enactment of national prohibition.

MEXICO AND THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

Mexico needs not a conqueror, but a good Samaritan. We are opposed to the violation of the sovereignty of the Mexican people, and we will countenance no war of aggression against them. We pledge the help of this country in the suppression of lawless bands of marauders and murderers, who have taken the lives of American citizens, on both sides of the border, as well as of Mexicans in their own country.

The lives and property of our citizens, when about their lawful pursuits, either in the United States or in Mexico, must and will be protected. In the event of a breakdown of government across the border, we would use, in the interests of civilization, the force necessary for the establishment of law and order.

In this connection we affirm our faith in the Monroe doctrine, proclaimed in the early days of the nation's life and unswervingly maintained for nearly a hundred years.

We cannot claim the benefits of the doctrine and refuse to assume or discharge the responsibilities and the duties which inhere therein and flow therefrom.

These duties have long been unmet in Mexico. We should meet them now, acting, not for territory, not for conquest, or for ourselves alone, but for and with all the nations of North and South America.

The Democratic party has blundered and four years ago the Republican party evaded, and passed on, the problem it now seeks the opportunity to solve.

THE PHILIPPINES.

The abandonment of the Philippines at this time would be an injustice to them and a violation of our plain duty. As soon as they are prepared for self-government, by education and training, they should be granted their independence on terms just to themselves and us.

TARIFF AND RECIPROCITY.

The countries at war are preparing for a fierce industrial struggle to follow the cessation of hostilities. As a matter of commercial economy, international friendliness, business efficiency, and as a help to peace, we demand that reciprocal trade treaties be negotiated with all nations with which we have trade relations.

A commission of specialists, free from the control of any party, should be appointed, with power to gather full information on all phases of the questions of tariff and reciprocity, and to recommend such legislation as it deems necessary for the welfare of American business and labor.

MERCHANT MARINE.

The necessity of legislation to enable American shipbuilders or owners to meet foreign competition, on the most favorable terms, is obvious.

Materials for construction should be admitted free of duty.

The purchase of ships abroad, when low prices invite, should be allowed and, when so purchased, should be admitted to American registry. Harbor rules and charges and navigation laws should not be onerous, but favorable to the highest degree.

Liberal payment should be made by the government for carrying mails and for transport services.

All shipping from the United States to any of our possessions should be reserved to ships of American registry.

The people should not overlook the fact that the effect of nation-wide prohibition, on labor and industry generally, will be such as to lower the cost of shipbuilding per unit and, at the same time, permit the payment of higher wages. The increased volume of trade and commerce, which will result when the wastage of the liquor traffic is stopped, will quicken our shipping on every sea and send our flag on peaceful missions into every port. This is urged as an incidental effect of wise action on the liquor question, but is none the less to be desired and will aid in the solution of the problem of our merchant marine.

CIVIL SERVICE.

In order that the public service may be of the highest standard, the government should be a model employer in all respects. To enforce the civil service law, in spirit as well as in letter, all promotions should be nonpolitical, based only upon proven fitness; all recommendations for demotions or removals from the service should be subjected to the review of a nonpartisan board or commission.

The merit system should be extended to cover all postmasters, collectors of revenue, marshals and other such public officials whose duties are purely administrative.

We reaffirm our allegiance to the principle of secure tenure of office, during good behavior and capable effort, as the means of obtaining expert service. We declare for the enactment of an equitable retirement law for disabled and superannuated employes, in return for faithful service rendered, in order to maintain a high degree of efficiency in public office.

LABOR AND CAPITAL.

Differences between capital and labor should be settled through arbitration, by which the rights of the public are conserved, as well as those of the disputants. We declare for the prohibition of child labor in factories, mines and work-shops; an eight-hour maximum day, with one day of rest in seven; more rigid sanitary requirements and such working conditions as shall foster the physical and moral well-being of the unborn; the protection of all who toil by the extension of employers' liability acts; the adoption of safety appliances for the protection of labor; and for laws that will promote the just division of the wealth which labor and capital jointly produce. Provision should be made for those who suffer from industrial accidents and occupational diseases.

SOCIAL JUSTICE.

We stand for justice to humanity and for its rights, safety and development; we believe in the equality of all before the law; in old age pensions and insurance against unemployment and in help for needy mothers, all of which could be provided from what is now wasted for drink.

AGRICULTURE.

While it is admitted that grain and cotton are fundamental factors in our national life, it cannot be denied that proper assistance and protection are not given these commodities at terminal markets, in the course of interstate commerce.

We favor and pledge our efforts to obtain public grain elevators at necessary terminal markets, such elevators to be owned and operated by the federal government; also to secure federal grain inspection under a system of civil service and to abolish any board of trade, chamber of commerce, or other place of gambling in grain or trading in "options" or "futures" or "short-selling," or any other form of so-called speculation, wherein products are not received or delivered, but wherein so-called contracts are settled by the payment of "margins" or "differences" through clearing houses or otherwise.

This party stands committed to free and open markets, based upon legitimate supply and demand, absolutely free from questionable practices of market manipulation. We favor government warehouses for cotton at proper terminals where the interests of producers so require; and the absolute divorce of all railroad elevators or warehouses owned by railroad companies, whether for public or private use, from operation or control by private individuals in competition with the public in merchandising grain, cotton and other farm products.

We furthermore endorse all proper cooperative methods which tend toward broader and better markets for producer and consumer.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP.

Public utilities and other resources, which are natural monopolies, now are exploited for personal gain under a monopolistic system. We demand the ownership or control of such utilities by the people and their operation and administration in the interests of all.

FREE INSTITUTIONS.

We stand for the preservation and development of our free institutions and for absolute separation of church and state, with the guaranty of full religious and civil liberty.

DEPARTMENTAL DECISIONS.

Departmental decisions ought not to be final, but the rights of the people should be protected by provision for court review.

CONSERVATION.

We reaffirm our declaration in favor of conservation of forests, water power and other natural resources.

EFFICIENCY.

We pledge a business-like administration of the nation's affairs; the abolition of useless offices, bureaus and commissions; economy in the expenditure of public funds; efficiency in governmental service; and the adoption of the budget system.

The president should have power to veto any single item or items of an appropriation bill.

We condemn, and agree when in power to remedy, that which is known as "pork barrel" legislation, by which millions of dollars have been appropriated for rivers where there is no commerce, harbors where there are no ships and public buildings where there is no need.

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE.

We favor uniform marriage and divorce laws, the extermination of polygamy and the complete suppression of the traffic in girls and women.

SINGLE PRESIDENTIAL TERM.

We are in favor of a single presidential term of six years.

RULE OF THE PEOPLE.

We favor the initiative, referendum and recall.

AMERICANISM.

We stand for Americanism. We believe this country was created for a great mission among the nations of the earth. We rejoice in the fact that it has offered asylum to the oppressed of other lands and to those, more fortunately situated, who yet wished to improve their condition. It is the land of all peoples and belongs not to any one—it is the heritage of all. It should come first in the affection of every citizen, and he who loves another land more than this is not fit for citizenship here; but he is a better citizen, who, loving his country, has reverence for the land of his fathers, and gains from its history and traditions that which inspires him to nobler service to the one in which he lives.

The federal government should interest itself in helping the new-comer into that vocation and locality where he shall most quickly become an American. Those, fitted by experience and training for agricultural pursuits, should be encouraged to develop the millions of acres of rich and idle land.

CONCLUSION.

This is the day of opportunity for the American people. The triumph of neither old political party is essential to our safety or progress. The defeat of either will be no public misfortune. They are one party. By age and wealth, by membership and traditions, by platforms and in the character of their candidates, they are the conservative party of the United States.

The Prohibition party, as the promoter of every important measure of social justice presented to the American people in the last two generations, and, as the originator of nearly all such legislation, remains now the only great Progressive party.

The patriotic voters, who compose the Republican and Democratic parties, can, by voting the Prohibition ticket this year, elect the issue of national prohibition.

To those, of whatever political faith, who have the vision of a land redeemed from drink, we extend a cordial invitation to join with us in carrying the banner of prohibition to nation-wide victory.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN PARTY PLATFORM OF 1916.

In 1861 the Republican party stood for the union. As it stood for the union of states, it now stands for a united people, true to American ideals, loyal to American traditions, knowing no allegiance except to the constitution, to the government and to the flag of the United States.

We believe in American policies at home and abroad.

PROTECTION OF AMERICAN RIGHTS.

We declare that we believe in and will enforce the protection of every American citizen in all the rights secured to him by the constitution, by treaties and the law of nations, at home and abroad, by land and sea. These rights, which in violation of the specific promise of their party made at Baltimore in 1912, the Democratic president and the Democratic Congress have failed to defend, we will unflinchingly maintain.

FOREIGN RELATIONS.

We desire peace, the peace of justice and right, and believe in maintaining a strict and honest neutrality between the belligerents in the great war in Europe. We must perform all our duties and insist upon all our rights as neutrals without fear and without favor. We believe that peace and neutrality, as well as the dignity and influence of the United States, cannot be preserved by shifty expedients, by phrase-making, by performances in language, or by attitudes ever changing in an effort to secure groups of voters. The present administration has destroyed our influence abroad and humiliated us in our own eyes. The Republican party believes that a firm, consistent, and courageous foreign policy, always maintained by Republican presidents in accordance with American traditions, is the best, as it is the only true way, to preserve our peace and restore us to our rightful place among the nations.

We believe in the pacific settlement of international disputes, and favor the establishment of a world court for that purpose.

MEXICO.

We deeply sympathize with the fifteen million people of Mexico who for three years have seen their country devastated, their homes destroyed, their fellow citizens murdered and their women outraged, by armed bands of desperadoes led by self-seeking, conscienceless agitators who when temporarily successful in any locality have neither sought nor been able to restore order or establish and maintain peace.

We express our horror and indignation at the outrages which have been and are being perpetrated by these bandits upon American men and women who were or are in Mexico by invitation of the laws and of the government of that country and whose rights to security of person and property are guaranteed by solemn treaty obligations. We denounce the indefensible methods of interference employed by this administration in the internal affairs of Mexico and refer with shame to its failure to discharge the duty of this country as next friend to Mexico, its duty to other powers who have relied upon us as such friend, and its duty to our citizens in Mexico, in permitting the continuance of such conditions, first by failure to act promptly and firmly, and second, by lending its influence to the continuation of such conditions through recognition of one of the factions responsible for these outrages.

We pledge our aid in restoring order and maintaining peace in Mexico. We promise to our citizens on and near our border, and to those in Mexico, wherever they may be found, adequate and absolute protection in their lives, liberty and property.

MONROE DOCTRINE.

We reaffirm our approval of the Monroe doctrine, and declare its maintenance to be a policy of this country essential to its present and future peace and safety and to the achievement of its manifest destiny.

LATIN AMERICA.

We favor the continuance of Republican policies which will result in drawing more and more closely the commercial, financial and social relations between this country and the countries of Latin America.

PHILIPPINES.

We renew our allegiance to the Philippine policy inaugurated by McKinley, approved by Congress and consistently carried out by Roosevelt and Taft. Even in this short time it has enormously improved the material and social conditions of the islands, given the Philippine people a constantly increasing participation in their government and if persisted in, will bring still greater benefits in the future.

We accepted the responsibility of the islands as a duty to civilization, and the Filipino people. To leave with our task half done, would break our pledges, injure our prestige among nations, and imperil what has already been accomplished.

We condemn the Democratic administration for its attempt to abandon the Philippines, which was prevented only by the vigorous opposition of Republican members of Congress, aided by a few patriotic Democrats.

RIGHTS OF EXPATRIATION.

We reiterate the unqualified approval of the action taken in December, 1911, by the president and Congress to secure with Russia, as with other countries, a treaty that will recognize the absolute right of expatriation and prevent all discrimination of whatever kind between American citizens whether native born or alien, and regardless of race, religion or previous political allegiance. We renew the pledge to observe this principle and to maintain the right of asylum, which is neither to be surrendered nor restricted, and we unite in the cherished hope that the war which is now desolating the world may speedily end, with a complete and lasting restoration of brotherhood among the nations of the earth and the assurance of full equal rights, civil and religious, to all men in every land.

PROTECTION OF THE COUNTRY.

In order to maintain our peace and make certain the security of our people within our own borders the country must have not only adequate but thorough and complete national defenses ready for any emergency. We must have a sufficient and effective regular army, and a provision for ample reserves, already drilled and disciplined, who can be called at once to the colors when the hour of danger comes.

We must have a navy so strong and so well proportioned and equipped, so thoroughly ready and prepared, that no enemy can gain command of the sea and effect a landing in force on either our western or our eastern coast. To secure these results we must have a coherent and continuous policy of national defense, which even in these perilous days the Democratic party has utterly failed to develop, but which we promise to give to the country.

TARIFF.

The Republican party stands now, as always, in the fullest sense for the policy of tariff protection to American industries and American labor and does not regard an anti-dumping provision as an adequate substitute.

Such protection should be reasonable in amount but sufficient to protect adequately American industries and American labor and so adjusted as to prevent undue exactions by monopolies or trusts. It should, moreover, give special attention to securing the industrial independence of the United States as in the case of dye stuffs.

Through wise tariff and industrial legislation our industries can be so organized that they will become not only a commercial bulwark but a powerful aid to national defense.

The Underwood tariff act is a complete failure in every respect. Under its administration imports have enormously increased in spite of the fact that intercourse with foreign countries has been largely cut off by reason of the war, while the revenues of which we stand in such dire need have been greatly reduced.

Under the normal conditions which prevailed prior to the war it was clearly demonstrated that this act deprived the American producer and the American wage earner of that protection which enabled them to meet their foreign competitors, and but for the adventitious conditions created by the war, would long since have paralyzed all forms of American industry and deprived American labor of its just reward.

It has not in the least degree reduced the cost of living, which has constantly advanced from the date of its enactment. The welfare of our people demands its repeal and the substitution of a measure which in peace as well as in war will produce ample revenue and give reasonable protection to all forms of American production in mine, forest, field and factory.

We favor the creation of a tariff commission with complete power to gather and compile information for the use of Congress in all matters relating to the tariff.

BUSINESS.

The Republican party has long believed in the rigid supervision and strict regulation of the transportation and of the great corporations of the country. It has put its creed into its deeds, and all really effective laws regulating the railroads and the great industrial corporations are the work of Republican Congresses and Presidents. For this policy of regulation and supervision the Democrats, in a stumbling and piecemeal way, are undertaking to involve the government in business which should be left within the sphere of private enterprise and in direct competition with its own citizens, a policy which is sure to result in waste, great expense to the taxpayer and in an inferior product.

The Republican party firmly believes that all who violate the laws in regulation of business, should be individually punished. But prosecution is very different from persecution, and business success, no matter how honestly attained, is apparently regarded by the Democratic party as in itself a crime. Such doctrines and beliefs choke enterprise and stifle prosperity. The Republican party believes in encouraging American business, as it believes in and will seek to advance all American interests.

RURAL CREDITS.

We favor an effective system of rural credits as opposed to the ineffective law proposed by the present Democratic administration.

RURAL FREE DELIVERY.

We favor the extension of the Rural Free Delivery system and condemn the Democratic administration for curtailing and crippling it.

MERCHANT MARINE.

In view of the policies adopted by all the maritime nations to encourage their shipping interests, and in order to enable us to compete with them for the ocean-carrying trade, we favor the payment to ships engaged in the foreign trade of liberal compensation for services actually rendered in carrying the mails, and such further legislation as will build up an adequate American Merchant marine and give us ships which may be requisitioned by the government in time of national emergency.

We are utterly opposed to the government ownership of vessels as proposed by the Democratic party, because government-owned ships, while effectively preventing the development of the American Merchant marine by private capital, will be entirely unable to provide for the vast volume of American freights and will leave us more helpless than ever in the hard grip of foreign syndicates.

RAILROADS.

Interstate and intrastate transportation have become so interwoven that the attempt to apply two and often several sets of laws to its regulation has produced conflicts of authority, embarrassment in operation and inconvenience and expense to the public.

The entire transportation system of the country has become essentially national. We therefore, favor such action by legislation or if necessary, through an amendment to the constitution of the United States as will result in placing it under complete federal control.

ECONOMY AND A NATIONAL BUDGET.

The increasing cost of the national government and the need for the greatest economy of its resources in order to meet the growing demands of the people for government service call for the severest condemnation of the wasteful appropriations of this democratic administration, of its shameless raids on the treasury, and of its opposition to and rejection of President Taft's oft repeated proposals and earnest efforts to secure economy and efficiency through the establishment of a simple business-like budget system to which we pledge our support and which we hold to be necessary to effect any real reform in the administration of national finances.

CONSERVATION.

We believe in a careful husbandry of all the natural resources of the nation—a husbandry which means development without waste; use without abuse.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM.

The Civil Service law has always been sustained by the Republican party, and we renew our repeated declarations that it shall be thoroughly and honestly enforced and extended wherever practicable. The Democratic party has created since March 4, 1913, thirty thousand offices outside of the Civil Service law at an annual cost of forty-four million dollars to the taxpayers of the country.

We condemn the gross abuse and misuse of the law by the present Democratic administration and pledge ourselves to a reorganization of this service along lines of efficiency and economy.

TERRITORIAL OFFICIALS.

Reaffirming the attitude long maintained by the Republican party, we hold that officials appointed to administer the government of any territory should be bona fide residents of the territory in which their duties are to be performed.

LABOR LAWS.

We pledge the Republican party to the faithful enforcement of all federal laws passed for the protection of labor. We favor vocational education; the enactment and rigid enforcement of a federal child labor law; the enactment of a generous and comprehensive workmen's compensation law, within the commerce power of Congress, and an accident compensation law covering all government employees. We favor the collection and collation, under the direction of the Department of Labor, of complete data relating to industrial hazards for the information of Congress, to the end that such legislation may be adopted as may be calculated to secure the safety, conservation and protection of labor from the dangers incident to industry and transportation.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

The Republican party reaffirming its faith in government of the people, by the people, for the people, as a measure of justice to one-half the adult people of the country, favors the extension of the suffrage to women, but recognizes the right of each state to settle this question for itself.

Such are our principles, such are our "purposes and policies." We close as we began. The times are dangerous and the future is fraught with perils. The great issues of the day have been confused by words and phrases. The American spirit, which made the country and saved the union, has been forgotten by those charged with the responsibility of power. We appeal to all Americans, whether naturalized or native-born, to prove to the world that we are Americans in thought and in deed, with one loyalty, one hope, one aspiration. We call on all Americans to be true to the spirit of America, to the great traditions of their common country, and above all things, to keep the faith.

NATIONAL SOCIALIST PARTY PLATFORM OF 1916.

In the midst of the greatest crisis and bloodiest struggle of all history the Socialist party of America reaffirms its steadfast adherence to the principles of international brotherhood, world peace and industrial democracy.

The great war which has engulfed so much of civilization and destroyed millions of lives is one of the natural results of the capitalist system of production.

The Socialist party, as the political expression of the economic interests of the working class, calls upon them to take a determined stand on the question of militarism and war, and to recognize the opportunity which the great war has given them of forcing disarmament and furthering the cause of industrial freedom.

ANTI-PREPAREDNESS.

An armed force in the hands of the ruling class serves two purposes: to protect and further the policy of imperialism abroad and to silence by force the protest of the workers against industrial despotism at home. Imperialism and militarism plunged Europe into this world-war. America's geographical and industrial situation has kept her out of the cataclysm. But Europe's extremity has been the opportunity of America's ruling class to amass enormous profits. As a result, there is a surfeit of capital which demands the policy of imperialism to protect and further investments abroad. Hence the frenzy of militarism into which the ruling class has made every attempt to force the United States.

The workers in Europe were helpless to avert the war because they were already saddled with the burden of militarism. The workers in the United States are yet free from this burden and have the opportunity of establishing a working class policy and program against war. They can compel the government of the United States to lead the way in an international movement for disarmament and to abandon the policy of imperialism which is forcing the conquest of Mexico and must, if carried out, eventually plunge the United States into a world-war.

The working class must recognize the cry of preparedness against foreign invasion as a mere cloak for the sinister purpose of imperialism abroad and industrial tyranny at home. The class struggle, like capitalism, is international. The proletariat of the world has but one enemy, the capitalist class, whether at home or abroad. We must refuse to put into the hands of this enemy an armed force even under the guise of a "democratic army," as the workers of Australia and Switzerland have done.

Therefore the Socialist party stands opposed to military preparedness, to any appropriations of men or money for war or militarism, while control of such forces through the political state rests in the hands of the capitalist class. The Socialist party stands committed to the class war, and urges upon the workers in the mines and forests, on the railways and ships, in factories and fields, the use of their economic and industrial power, by refusing to mine the coal, to transport soldiers, to furnish food or other supplies for military purposes, and thus keep out of the hands of the ruling class the control of armed forces and economic power, necessary for aggression abroad and industrial despotism at home.

The working class must recognize militarism as the greatest menace to all efforts toward industrial freedom, and regardless of political or industrial affiliations must present a united front in the fight against preparedness and militarism.

Hideous as they are, the horrors of the far-stretched battlefield of the old world are dwarfed by the evil results of the capitalist system, even in normal times. Instead of being organized to provide all members of society with an abundance of food, clothing and shelter, and the highest attainable freedom and culture, industry is at present organized and conducted for the benefit of a parasitic class. All the powers of government, and all our industrial genius, are directed to the end of securing to the relatively small class of capitalist investors the largest amount of profits which can be wrung from the labor of the ever-increasing class whose only property is muscle and brain, manual and mental labor power.

The dire consequences of this system are everywhere apparent. The workers are oppressed and deprived of much that makes for physical, mental and moral well-being. Year by year poverty and industrial accidents destroy more lives than all the armies and navies in the world.

To preserve their privilege and power is the most vital interest of the possessing class, while it is the most vital interest of the working class to resist oppression, improve its position, and struggle to obtain security of life and liberty. Hence there exists a conflict of interests, a social war within the nation, which can know neither truce nor compromise. So long as the few own and control the economic life of the nation the many must be enslaved, poverty must coexist with riotous luxury, and civil strife prevail.

The Socialist party would end these conditions by reorganizing the life of the nation upon the basis of Socialism. Socialism would not abolish private property, but greatly extend it. We believe that every human being should have and own all the things which he can use to advantage, for the enrichment of his own life, without imposing disadvantage or burden upon any other human being. Socialism admits the private ownership and individual direction of all things, tools, economic processes and functions which are individualistic in character, and requires the collective ownership and democratic control and direction of those which are social or collectivistic in character.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP.

We hold that this country cannot enjoy happiness and prosperity at home and maintain lasting peace with other nations, so long as its industrial wealth is monopolized by a capitalist oligarchy. In this, as in every other campaign, all special issues arising from temporary situations, whether domestic or foreign, must be subordinated to the major issue—the need of such a reorganization of our economic life as will remove the land, the mines, forests, railroads, mills and factories, all the things required for our physical existence, from the clutches of industrial and financial freebooters and place them securely and permanently in the hands of the people.

If men were free to labor to satisfy their desires there could be in this country neither poverty nor involuntary unemployment. But the men in this country are not free to labor to satisfy their desires. The great industrial population can labor only when the capitalist class, who own the industries, believe they can market their product at a profit. The needs of millions are subordinated to the greeds of a few. The situation is not unlike that of a pyramid balanced upon its apex. Oftentimes this pyramid tumbles and industrial depression comes. There was such a crash in 1907. If the capitalist owners had been willing to get out of the way, industry could have been revived in a day. But the capitalist owners are never willing to get out of the way. Their greeds come first—the people's needs, if at all, afterward. Therefore business did not quickly revive after the industrial depression of 1907. Mr. Taft was elected to bring good times, but in four years failed to bring them. Mr. Wilson was elected to bring good times, but not all of the measures he advocated had the slightest effect upon industry. The European war has brought to this country tremendous orders for military supplies and has created a period of prosperity for the few. For the masses of the people there is but an opportunity to work hard for a bare living, which is not prosperity, but slavery. As against the boast of the present national administration that its political program, now fully in force, has brought prosperity to the masses, we call attention to the statement of the Federal Public Health service that $800 a year is required to enable a family to avoid physical deterioration through lack of decent living conditions, that more than half of the families of working men receive less than that amount, that nearly a third receive less than $500 a year, and that one family in twelve receives less than $300 a year.

The capitalist class, for a great many years, has been trying to saddle upon this country a greater army and a greater navy. A greater army is desired to keep the working class of the United States in subjection. A greater navy is desired to safeguard the foreign investments of American capitalists and to "back up" American diplomacy in its efforts to gain foreign markets for American capitalists. The war in Europe, which diminished and is still diminishing the remote possibility of European attack upon the United States, was nevertheless seized upon by capitalists and by unscrupulous politicians as a means of spreading fear throughout the country, to the end that, by false pretenses, great military establishments might be obtained. We denounce such "preparedness," as both false in principle, unnecessary in character and dangerous in its plain tendencies toward militarism. We advocate that sort of social preparedness which expresses itself in better homes, better bodies and better minds, which are alike the products of plenty and the necessity of effective defense in war.

The Socialist party maintains its attitude of unalterable opposition to war.

We reiterate the statement that the competitive nature of capitalism is the cause of modern war, and that the coöperative nature of Socialism is alone adapted to the task of ending war by removing its causes. We assert, however, that, even under the present capitalist order, additional measures can be taken to safeguard peace, and to this end, we demand:

MEASURES TO INSURE PEACE.

(1) That all laws and appropriations for the increase of the military and naval forces of the United States shall be immediately repealed.

(2) That the power be taken from the president to lead the nation into a position which leaves no escape from war. No one man, however exalted in official station, should have the power to decide the question of peace or war for a nation of a hundred millions. To give one man such power is neither democratic nor safe. Yet the president exercises such power when he determines what shall be the nation's foreign policies and what shall be the nature and tone of its diplomatic intercourse with other nations. We, therefore, demand that the power to fix foreign policies and conduct diplomatic negotiations shall be lodged in the Congress and shall be exercised publicly, the people reserving the right by referendum to order Congress, at any time, to change its foreign policy.

(3) That no war shall be declared or waged by the United States without a referendum vote of the entire people, except for the purpose of repelling invasion.

(4) That the Monroe doctrine shall be immediately abandoned as a danger so great that even its advocates are agreed that it constitutes perhaps our greatest single danger of war. The Monroe doctrine was originally intended to safeguard the peace of the United States. Though the doctrine has changed from a safeguard to a menace, the capitalist class still defends it for the reason that our great capitalists desire to retain South and Central America as their private trade preserve. We favor the cultivation of social, industrial and political friendship with all other nations in the western hemisphere, as an approach to a world confederation of nations, but we oppose the Monroe doctrine because it takes from our hands the peace of America and places it in the custody of any nation that would attack the sovereignty of any state in the western world.

(5) That the independence of the Philippine Islands be immediately recognized as a measure of justice both to the Filipinos and to ourselves. The Filipinos are entitled to self-government; we are entitled to be freed from the necessity of building and maintaining enough dreadnoughts to defend them in the event of war.

(6) The government of the United States shall call a congress of all neutral nations to mediate between the belligerent powers in an effort to establish an immediate and lasting peace without indemnities, of forcible annexation of territory, and based on a binding and enforceable international treaty, which shall provide for concerted disarmament on land and at sea and for an international congress with power to adjust all disputes between nations, and which shall guarantee freedom and equal rights to all oppressed nations and races.

WORKING PROGRAM.

As general measures calculated to strengthen the working class in its fight for the realization of its ultimate aim, the coöperative commonwealth, and to increase its power of resistance against capitalist oppression, we advocate and pledge ourselves and our elected officers to the following program:

POLITICAL DEMANDS.

1. Unrestricted and equal suffrage for men and women.
2. The immediate adoption of the so-called "Susan B. Anthony amendment" to the constitution of the United States granting the suffrage to women on equal terms with men.
3. The adoption of the initiative, referendum and recall and of proportional representation, nationally as well as locally.
4. The abolition of the Senate and of the veto power of the president.
5. The election of the president and the vice president by direct vote of the people.
6. The abolition of the present restriction upon the amendment of the constitution so that that instrument may be made amendable by a majority of the voters in the country.
7. The calling of a convention for the revision of the constitution of the United States.
8. The abolition of the power usurped by the Supreme court of the United States to pass upon the constitutionality of legislation enacted by Congress. National laws to be repealed only by act of Congress or by a referendum vote of the whole people.
9. The immediate curbing of the power of the courts to issue injunctions.
10. The election of all judges of the United States for short terms.
11. The free administration of the law.
12. The granting of the right of suffrage in the District of Columbia with representation in Congress and a democratic form of municipal government for purely local affairs.
13. The extension of democratic government to all United States territory.
14. The freedom of press, speech and assemblage.
15. The increase of the rates of the present income tax and corporation tax and the extension of inheritance taxes, graduated in proportion to the value of the estate and to nearness of kin—the proceeds of these taxes to be employed in the socialization of industry.
16. The enactment of further measures for general education and particularly for vocational education in useful pursuits. The Bureau of Education to be made a department.
17. The enactment of further measures for the conservation of health and the creation of an independent department of health.
18. The abolition of the monopoly ownership of patents and the substitution of collective ownership, with direct rewards to inventors by premiums or royalties.

COLLECTIVE OWNERSHIP.

1. The collective ownership and democratic management of railroads, telegraphs and telephones, express service, steamboat lines and all other social means of transportation and communication and of all large-scale industries.
2. The immediate acquirement by the municipalities, the states or the federal government, of all grain elevators, stockyards, storage warehouses and other distributing agencies, in order to relieve the farmer from the extortionate charges of the middlemen and to reduce the present high cost of living.

3. The extension of the public domain to include mines, quarries, oil wells, forests and water power.

4. The further conservation and development of natural resources for the use and benefit of all the people:

(a) By scientific forestation and timber protection.

(b) By the reclamation of arid and swamp tracts.

(c) By the storage of flood waters and the utilization of water power.

(d) By the stoppage of the present extravagant waste of the soil and the products of mines and oil wells.

(e) By the development of highway and waterway systems.

5. The collective ownership of land wherever practicable, and in cases where such ownership is impracticable, the appropriation by taxation of the annual rental value of all land held for speculation or exploitation.

6. All currency shall be issued by the government of the United States and shall be legal tender for the payment of taxes and impost duties and for the discharge of public and private debts. The government shall lend money on bonds to counties and municipalities at a nominal rate of interest for the purpose of taking over or establishing public utilities and for building or maintaining public roads and highways, and public schools—up to 25 per cent of the assessed valuation of such counties or municipalities. Said bonds are to be repaid in twenty equal and annual installments, and the currency issued for that purpose by the government is to be cancelled and destroyed seriatim as the debt is repaid. All banks and banking institutions shall be owned by the government of the United States or by the States.

7. Government relief of the unemployed by the extension of all useful public works. All persons employed on such work to be engaged directly by the government under a work day of not more than eight hours and at not less than the prevailing union wages. The government also to establish employment bureaus; to lend money to states and municipalities without interest for the purpose of carrying on public works, to contribute money to unemployment funds of labor unions and other organizations of workers, and to take such other measures within its power as will lessen the widespread misery of the workers caused by the misrule of the capitalist class.

INDUSTRIAL DEMANDS.

The conservation of human resources, particularly of the lives and well-being of the workers and their families:

1. By shortening the work day in keeping with the increased productivity of machinery.

2. By securing the freedom of political and economic organization and activities.

3. By securing to every worker a rest period of not less than a day and a half in each week.

4. By securing a more effective inspection of workshops, factories and mines.

5. By forbidding the employment of children under eighteen years of age.

6. By forbidding the interstate transportation of the products of child labor and of all uninspected factories and mines.

7. By establishing minimum wage scales.

8. By abolishing official charity and substituting a non-contributory system of old age pensions, a general system of insurance by the state of all its members against unemployment and invalidism, and a system of compulsory insurance by employers of their workers, without cost to the latter, against industrial diseases, accidents and death.

9. By establishing mothers' pensions.

CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICTS.

In accordance with provisions of the Sixty-second congress providing for eleven congressmen from Wisconsin, the legislature of 1911 reapportioned the state into eleven congressional districts. The total population of the state is 2,333,860, and the average population per congressional district is 212,169 and 1-11 persons, practically 212,169. By the new apportionment there are four districts with population below the normal, the Second, Seventh, Eighth and Ninth. The population of the other seven districts is above normal. The Eighth district has the least population, 200,134 or 12,035 below normal. The Ninth has the largest population, 225,389, or 13,220 above normal, a total difference of 25,255 between the lowest and highest in point of population. In point of population the First district is closest to the normal figures, being but 436 above. The apportionment into congressional districts follows:

District.	Counties or parts of Counties.	Population.
FIRST —Racine, Kenosha, Walworth, Rock and Waukesha counties .....		212,605
SECOND —Jefferson, Columbia, Dodge, Washington, Ozaukee, and Sheboygan counties.....		208,666
THIRD —Crawford, Richland, Grant, Iowa, Dane, Lafayette and Green counties.....		215,752
FOURTH —3d, 4th, 5th, 8th, 11th, 12th, 14th, 16th, 17th, 23d, and 24th wards of the city of Milwaukee, together with the following subdivisions of Milwaukee county: town of Wauwatosa, city of Wauwatosa, town of Greenfield, town of Franklin, city of West Allis, village of West Milwaukee, city of South Milwaukee, town of Oak Creek, town of Lake, city of Cudahy.....		214,330
FIFTH —1st, 2d, 6th, 7th, 9th, 10th, 13th, 15th, 18th, 19th, 20th, 21st, 22d and 25th wards of the city of Milwaukee, together with the following subdivisions of Milwaukee county: village of North Milwaukee, village of East Milwaukee, village of Whitefish Bay, town of Granville and town of Milwaukee.....		218,857
SEVENTH —La Crosse, Jackson, Monroe, Clark, Vernon, Juneau, Adams and Sauk counties.....		209,184

SENATORIAL DISTRICTS.

The apportionment of the state, by the legislature, into thirty-three senatorial districts, following each federal census of population, is in accordance with constitutional provision. By the census of 1910 the total population of the state is 2,333,860. Hence the unit, or normal for senatorial districts is 70,723 and 1-33 or practically 70,723. In the following table the districts as numbered in the apportionment act, and the actual population of each is given, also the excess of population above the normal figure in those districts having an excess, and the deficiency, or number under the normal, in those below the normal figure. The basis for this figuring is 70,723 even, not taking into account the fraction of one thirty-third of a person to each district. This prohibits an exact balancing of the totals in the excess and deficiency columns by 1, the total of one thirty-third of a person to each district.

The table shows a total of sixteen districts, each having an excess above the normal, and seventeen each below the normal. The greatest difference in population of any two districts is between the Third, Racine and Kenosha, with 90,353, an excess of 19,630, and the Twenty-first, Waushara, Adams, Juneau and Marquette with a total population of 57,800, or 12,923 below normal, a total difference between them of 32,553. The table shows the excess or deficiency in each district, the list of districts, as constituted, following the table:

ASSEMBLY DISTRICTS.

The apportionment of the state into 100 assembly districts on a basis of the population of the state, as ascertained by the Federal census of 1910, is in accordance with constitutional provisions. The total population as a basis is 2,333,860, hence the normal average of population per district is 23,338 6-10 persons. The assembly districts, numbered as to population, follow:

In the apportionment adopted there are forty-seven districts, each with a population above the normal and fifty-three each with population below normal. The forty-seven above normal have a total population of 1,326,080, a total of 159,150 above normal. Their average population is 28,214 22-47 each, or an average of 4,876 each above normal. The other fifty-three districts have a total of 1,007,780 population. Their average population per district is 19,015, an average of 4,323 each below normal. Under this apportionment forty-seven members of the assembly will represent 56 82-100 per cent of the people and fifty-three members will represent 43 18-100 per cent of the people of the state. The district with the highest excess above normal is that constituted by Marinette county with an excess of 10,474. The one least above is the second district of Dane county, with an excess of only 128. The second district of Manitowoc county is $02 below normal, while Taylor county is 9,697 below normal. There are fifteen districts practically within 1,000 of the normal figure, numbers 38 to 52, inclusive, and nineteen are within 1,500 of the normal figure. A complete list of the assembly districts as constituted by the apportionment of 1910 is as follows:

STATE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

Functions: The department of agriculture is in the main a control department having in charge the regulatory functions of the state along agricultural lines. In the veterinary division of this department is lodged the responsibility for the control and eradication of animal diseases. The inspection of state and interstate shipment of cattle, horses and other animals is also handled by this division, and in connection with the live stock sanitary board of the department all quarantines and regulatory measures are issued. Closely connected with this division is also the board of veterinary examiners holding examinations and issuing licenses to veterinarians throughout the state. All cases of contagious animal diseases are reported to the department, and inquiries concerning the same should be directed to the veterinary division.

The entomology division has the control of, and responsibility for, plant diseases occurring in the state caused by insects, bacteria and fungus growths. It inspects nurseries, orchards, parks, city trees, and crops for these diseases and issues control measures, and gives advice regarding the eradication of such diseases. It also issues licenses to nurseries and nursery agents. Connected with the entomology division is the state apiary inspection service whose function it is to inspect apiaries throughout the state, making an examination for diseases, to issue and enforce regulatory measures and give advice concerning the control of bee diseases that may appear.

The immigration division is charged with the duty of settling the great northern end of the state. The division protects the settlers of the state by making available to them the exact truth concerning all opportunities in Wisconsin. Settlers are also helped and advised in all matters pertaining to making a successful start upon new lands in Wisconsin.

The crop statistics division gathers statistics on farm crops and on the acreage and yields of crops, their value, and the number and value of farm animals and products. It also reports upon the weather including appearance of frost, rain, sunshine, and the effect of weather upon the crops. Monthly bulletins are issued during the growing seasons and an annual report on January 1st giving estimates by counties and for the state as a whole. All of the assessors and twelve hundred volunteer crop reporters furnish information for this division.

The state fair division has charge of the Wisconsin State Fair and the grounds and buildings of the state fair at Milwaukee. These grounds consist of 147 acres valued at approximately $588,000 and buildings worth nearly $410,000. A premium list is issued each year during the months of March or April, also other bulletins concerning the fair, all of which are available upon request. The dates for the 1917 fair are September 10th to 15th.

Three lines of control work—seed, feed and fertilizer inspection, and stallion enrollment—are being transferred from the experiment station to the department of agriculture, and other new lines of work may be added, such as weed eradication and marketing.

GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC.

The objects of this order are (1) to keep green the memory of the events and associations of the Civil War; (2) to aid unfortunate comrades, and (3) to keep alive and active the spirit of patriotism. The first post was organized April 6, 1866, at Decatur, Ill. The first National Encampment was held November 20, 1866, at Indianapolis.

THE WISCONSIN DEPARTMENT

The Department of Wisconsin was organized June 7, 1866, and the first Wisconsin post was chartered at Madison, June 10, 1866. This post, now known as Lucius Fairchild, No. 11, is still active and has 135 members. Post No. 4, of Berlin, was chartered Sept. 8, 1866, and has maintained ever since an unbroken organization. It is said to be the oldest Post in existence with an unbroken record.

General James K. Proudft was the leading spirit in the organization of the Grand Army of the Republic in Wisconsin and became the first department commander. He is now the oldest past department commander living. The following is the list of all department commanders up to the present.

The department reached its largest membership in 1889, when it was 13,944. Dec. 31, 1916, there were 196 posts, with 4,298 members.

The legislature of 1901 established in the Capitol a Grand Army Memorial Hall for the preservation of relics, and books commemorative of the war, pictures of war scenes, and portraits of men and women who did good service for our country. In the Capitol fire of February 27, 1904, this hall with all it contained was destroyed. After shifting about from place to place in the intervening years, the hall, with Grand Army Headquarters for Wisconsin, is now permanently settled in four rooms on the fourth floor of the north wing of the Capitol. It is the finest department headquarters in the United States, and is equipped and maintained by the state. Wisconsin is generous in her attitude toward her old soldiers. The library there contains about 1,200 books, 200 pamphlets and 350 pictures, and many war relics. Hosea W. Rood, Company E 12th Wisconsin Infantry, is the custodian.

At the last department encampment, held at Ripon, June 14-15, 1916, the following named officers were chosen: Commander, O. L. Rosenkrans, Milwaukee; Assistant Adjutant General and Quartermaster, F. A. Bird, Madison; Senior Vice Commander, L. E. Reed, Ripon; Junior Vice Commander, A. N. Lent, Superior; Medical Director, Dr. B. C. Brett, Green Bay; Chaplain, Rev. A. J. Hood, Muscoda; Chief of Staff, Frederick Wardrobe, Waukesha; Patriotic Instructor, Hosea W. Rood, Madison; Judge Advocate, George W. Burnell, Oshkosh; Chief Mustering Officer, J. W. Baldock, Chilton; Inspector, David Evans, Jr., Berlin; Master of Transportation, John W. Ganes, Ripon.

The next department encampment will be held at Kenosha, the first Tuesday in June, 1917.

Camp Randall Memorial Park Commission—Colonel J. A. Watrous, Milwaukee; *Colonel C. E. Warner, Windsor; W. J. McKay, Madison.

WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS.

In 1881 the society received the official recognition of the G. A. R., and then took the full title, "Woman's Relief Corps, Auxillary to the Grand Army of the Republic." The first national gathering was at Denver, Col., July 25, 1883. It was there decided that all loyal women, whether of kin to soldiers of the war or not, should be eligible to membership. Those positively in favor of admitting only women of the families of soldiers withdrew and organized the "Ladies' Loyal League," now "Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic." Department and national conventions are held at the same times and places with encampments of the G. A. R. The objects of the society are: "To specially aid and assist the Grand Army of the Republic and to perpetuate the memory of their heroic dead. To assist such union veterans as need our help and protection, and to extend needful aid to their widows and orphans. To find them homes and employment, and assure them of sympathy and friends. To cherish and emulate the deeds of our army nurses and of all loyal women who rendered loving service to their country in her hour of peril. To inculcate lessons of patriotism and love of country among our children, and in the communities in which we live. To maintain true allegiance to the United States of America. To discountenance whatever tends to weaken loyalty, and to encourage the spread of universal liberty and equal rights to all men."

Amount expended in Wisconsin for relief work and patriotic purposes, for the year ending June 1, 1916, $8,965.78.

The Department of Wisconsin was organized at La Crosse, June 26, 1884. Seven local corps were there represented, and, if the records are correct, there were eleven voting members present. The order has grown steadily since then, and now has 148 corps in Wisconsin, with 8,097 members.

The present department officers elected June 15, 1916, are as follows: President, Henrietta Barney, Mayville; Senior Vice President, May L. Luchsinger, Monroe; Junior Vice President, Sarah Mowers, Ripon; Secretary, Laura E. Maloney, Fond du Lac; Treasurer, Ella M. Bresee, Madison; Chaplain, Jane Beach, Appleton; Counselor, Elizabeth Skeel, Plainfield; Inspector, Sophia N. Strathearn, Kaukauna; Instituting and Installing Officer, Grace E. Brown, Ft. Atkinson; Patriotic Instructor, Adell Harris Ballard, Brooklyn; Press Correspondent, Annie E. Noyes, Madison; Senior Aide, Emma E. Grinnell, Beloit.

The next department convention for Wisconsin will be held at Kenosha on the first Tuesday in June, 1917.

LADIES OF THE GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC.

This society of loyal and patriotic women is said to have had its origin in Portland, Maine, in 1867, under the name of the Loyal Ladies League. The first organized Department was that of New Jersey, 1881, with eight subordinate Leagues. Mrs. Carrie M. Burge, of Vineland, was the first Department President. The following were the stated objects of the order:

"To unite with loyalty, love for one another; to practice precepts of true fraternity of feeling toward all the sisters of our order, thus emulating the spirit that unites our fathers, husbands and brothers; to honor the memory of our fallen heroes; to perpetuate and keep forever sacred Memorial Day; to assist the Grand Army of the Republic in its high and holy mission—aid, encourage and sympathize with them in their noble work of charity; to extend needful aid to members in time of sickness and distress; to aid sick soldiers, sailors and marines, and do all in our power to alleviate suffering."

Eligibility to membership required an applicant to be of good moral character, and the mother or wife, sister or daughter of an honorably discharged soldier, sailor or marine who served in the Union Army during the Civil War of 1861—65. These requirements differed from those of the Woman's Relief Corps, which organization decided at its national convention in Denver, in 1883, to admit to membership any loyal woman of worthy character.

The Wisconsin department was organized in 1893. The names of the present officers are as follows: President—Imogene Hatch, Senior Vice-Pres.—Hannah Barnes, Junior Vice-Pres.—Harriet Stone, Counselor—Martha E. A. Merriam, Chaplain—Rosella Law, Inspector—Frances Coffeen, Corresponding Sec'y—Edna Fink, Patriotic Instructor—Maude Lamb, Librarian—May White, Registrar—Kathryn Wadleigh, Sen. Aide and Chief of Staff—Ethel Irish, Sec'y.—Mary Stewart, Treas.—Frances Lund.

There are in Wisconsin, 33 circles with 1000 members.

The next department meeting will be held at Kenosha the first Tuesday in June, 1917.

THE SONS OF VETERANS

One of the most active organizations auxiliary to the Grand Army of the Republic is the Sons of Veterans of the United States of America. The order was established Nov. 12, 1881, at Pittsburg, Pa., and it has grown rapidly. It is based upon the following principles:

(1) A firm belief and trust in Almighty God, and a realization that under His beneficent guidance the free institutions of our land, consecrated by the services and blood of our fathers, have been preserved, and the integrity and life of the nation maintained.

(2) True allegiance to the government of the United States, based upon a respect for, and devotion and fidelity to, its constitution and laws, manifested by discountenancing anything that may tend to weaken loyalty, incite to insurrection, treason or rebellion, or in any way impair the efficiency and permanency of our national union.

Objects.—To keep green the memories of our fathers and their sacrifices for the maintenance of the Union; to aid the members of the Grand Army of the Republic in caring for disabled and helpless veterans; to extend aid and protection to their widows and orphans; to perpetuate the memory and history of their heroic dead, and maintain the proper observance of Memorial Day; to aid and assist worthy and needy members of our order; to inculcate patriotism and love of country, not alone among our members, but among all people of our land; and to spread and sustain the doctrine of equal rights, universal liberty and justice to all.

Membership.—Members must be at least eighteen years old, and the sons of deceased or honorably discharged Union soldiers. The sons of members of the order are eligible to membership on becoming twenty-one years of age.

The present officers elected June 15, 1916, of the Wisconsin division are as follows: George W. Palmer, Commander, Eau Claire; H. L. Mumm, Senior Vice Commander, Wausau; W. R. Graves, Junior Vice Commander, Prairie du Chien; Valentine Stoddard, Secretary-Treasurer, Stoughton; Ralph E. Smith, Patriotic Instructor, Merrill; Rev. C. L. Koona, Chaplain, Ashland; Voyta Wrabetz, Counselor, Madison; H. S. Siggelko, Organizer, Madison; Otto F. Berner, Inspector, Antigo.

The first camp of the Division was organized at Waukesha in 1883, the first annual encampment was held in Oshkosh in 1884, and the first Division Commander was Dr. John Finney, Clintonville. September 30, 1916, there were 60 camps and 1,692 members.

The annual encampments of the Sons of Veterans are held at the same time and place with those of the Grand Army of the Republic. The next division meeting will be held at Kenosha, the first Tuesday in June, 1917.

STATE PENSION AGENCY.

The state of Wisconsin has by law constituted the adjutant general—at present Orlando Holway—state agent for pensions. He will, upon application, supply free necessary blanks for applications and evidence in all classes of pensions; will give advice and all possible assistance in procuring evidence; will file copies of testimony and perform all the various offices of pension attorney for all soldiers or their heirs residing in Wisconsin free of charge, regardless of the branch of service or organization to which the applicant was attached.

Since this free state pension agency was established in 1889, 16,243 claims have been filed with the adjutant general, over 16,043 of which have been adjudicated and more than 90 per cent successfully prosecuted.

THE WISCONSIN EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM.

THE RURAL SCHOOLS

The number of one-room rural schools in the state of Wisconsin is growing less as the number of state graded schools increases. Thirteen fewer rural schools were found in 1915-16 than in 1914-15. The proportion of school enrollment attending rural schools has dropped from over fifty per cent ten years ago to thirty-eight per cent in 1915-16. (For figures on enrollment, number of teachers, etc., see statistical table at the close of this article.)

Wisconsin has as advanced a group of rural school laws as may be found in any state in the union. Laws providing for the following activities are at present in force.

- Supervising teachers
- School board conventions
- Aids for
  - Sanitation and equipment
  - Transportation
  - Consolidation
  - Industrial work in state graded schools
  - Length of teaching service in schools outside of cities, and villages
  - Professional teacher training
  - State graded schools
- Social centers
- Reading circles
- Condemnation of school buildings
- Minimum salary for teachers
- Minimum school term
- Compulsory education
- Rural high schools
- Nonresident tuition
- Professional teacher training required
- County training schools
- Teacher training in high schools
- Teachers' pensions
- State loans for buildings
- School libraries
- Winter and short term high school course
- County nurses
- Traveling libraries for country communities

The law providing for the supervising teachers is undoubtedly one of the most forward looking statutes that has yet been devised in relation to rural education in Wisconsin. The 81 supervising teachers in 1915-16 assisted county superintendents in visiting one-room country schools, and in supervising and improving teaching methods, physical conditions, and other school problems.

School board conventions were very successful in the year 1915-16. The social center and the Reading Circle movements were largely developed. Consolidation including transportation received considerable impetus. There are at present 242 schools furnishing transportation and, including rural consolidated high schools, 100 cases of consolidation in the state.

Rural-school teachers are at present much better trained than has ever been the case previously. A total of 63 institutions in 1915-16 trained teachers especially for the rural schools. The third grade certificate, the lowest type of teaching permit, which was held by fifty per cent of teachers in counties in 1906-06, is at present held by only fourteen per cent of teachers under county superintendents.

The following table gives some idea of the development of special activities in rural schools.

No. schools in which warm lunches have been furnished.....	837
No. schools in which some hand work has been done.....	2,958
No. schools having some playground apparatus.....	405
No. schools in which some form of evening school has been held..	43
No. schools in which one or more special gatherings have been held	4,414
No. schools in which some school credit for home work has been given .....	1,439

STATE GRADED SCHOOLS

The class of school next above the one-room rural schools in organization is the state graded school, of which there were 607 in 1915-16. In this year, these schools employed 1665 teachers, and taught 49,603 children.

Many state graded schools have been organized as a result of consolidation of districts, to give children the increased opportunities arising from more specialized work and better trained and paid teachers.

The majority of the 600 state graded schools, however, have arisen as a natural result of the increase of population in a district, making the hiring of two or three teachers necessary. Three state supervisors visit the state graded schools of Wisconsin each year. They report much forward activity in this class of schools.

FREE HIGH SCHOOLS

High schools are not infrequently organized through a union of territory containing not less than thirty-six square miles. These high schools are called town or union high schools. The grades below them are state graded schools, and are separate in administration from the high schools above.

Other high schools found in villages are organized through the addition of four high school years to the graded school course, and the satisfaction of several other state requirements. These high schools are known as district free high schools. The supervising principal has charge of high school and grades below.

City high schools include those organized in cities maintaining city superintendents.

There are at present 80 city systems under city superintendents, including about 100 high schools, and 58 town and union high schools. The remainder of the 353 high schools are to be found in villages.

High school enrollment has increased 74 per cent, (from 27,000 to 47,000) during the past ten years. Ten years ago, three and one-half per cent of children between 4-20 were to be found enrolled in high school. Today, six per cent of the school census is included in the high schools.

The Wisconsin state law makes it compulsory for the home district of any child wishing to attend high school to pay tuition to the high school district where he or she attends, providing the home district does not itself maintain a high school. These nonresident pupils have increased very largely in number during the past ten years, being 10,490 or about one-fourth of the total enrollment in 1915-16.

Industrial work was given in high schools in 1915-16 as follows:

Manual training .....	120 high schools
Domestic science .....	171 high schools
Agriculture .....	84 high schools
Commercial subjects .....	122 high schools

There has been, during the past few years, a large increase in high school building activity. A number of new modern buildings have been erected, so that in Wisconsin may be found types of high school buildings second to none in the country.

CONTINUATION SCHOOLS

Menasha	Green Bay	Sheboygan
Neenah	Kenosha	Superior
Grand Rapids	Janesville	Milwaukee
West Allis	Wausau	Racine
Beloit	Eau Claire	Menomonie
Fond du Lac	Madison	Oshkosh
Appleton	Manitowoc	So. Milwaukee
Stevens Pt.	Beaver Dam	Marinette
Two Rivers	Chippewa Falls	La Crosse
Marshfield	Cudahy

The enrollment in the Wisconsin continuation schools in 1915-16 was 36,701, and the per capita cost, $12.45. The average tax levy for maintenance was 0.768 mills, and the average attendance, one person in twenty-two of the population.

The continuation schools are at present hiring better teachers than has formerly been the case, are enforcing the compulsory education laws with greater uniformity, and are leaving nothing undone to start new worth while activities. Attendance is going up, and length of attendance is materially increasing.

RURAL TEACHER TRAINING

The county training schools train teachers with the exclusive aim of country school teaching in mind. Twenty-eight of these schools are at present maintained at a cost in 1915-16 of $163,907.95. 716 students were graduated from the twenty-eight county training schools in 1915-16.

Rural teacher training courses in high schools are maintained in 27 schools. 322 students graduated from these schools in June 1916.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOLS

Eau Claire, H. A. Schofield, President
La Crosse, F. A. Cotton, President
Milwaukee, C. G. Pearse, President

Oshkosh, John A. H. Keith, President
 Platteville, Asa M. Royce, President
 River Falls, J. W. Crabtree, President
 Stevens Point, John F. Sims, President
 Superior, V. E. McCaskill, President
 Whitewater, A. H. Yoder, President

Each normal school includes three basic departments.

1. Primary Department for the training of teachers in grades 1 to 4 inclusive.
2. Grammar Grade Department for the training of teachers in grades 5 to 8 inclusive.
3. High school Department for the training of high-school teachers.

In addition each of the schools maintain one or more special departments for the training of teachers in special branches. These departments are maintained in schools as follows:

La Crosse: Physical Education; Rural School.

Milwaukee: Kindergarten; Art School; Deaf School; Music School.

River Falls: Rural School; Agriculture.

Superior: Kindergarten.

Whitewater: Rural School; Commercial.

The normal schools at Eau Claire, La Crosse, Oshkosh and Milwaukee require graduation from a high school for admission to the several departmental courses. The normal schools at Platteville, River Falls, Stevens Point, Superior, and Whitewater have in the past offered five-year courses for non-high school graduates, but it is generally the policy to go to a high school basis for admission as soon as possible.

In all of the 44 departments, the length of the regular course is two years, except that in the department for training high-school teachers, the course is three years in length. Unfortunately the law permits the holders of the two-year diplomas to teach in the high schools, and this fact prevents the development of the high school departments.

1,254 students graduated from Wisconsin normal schools in June, 1916. Schools were maintained during that year at a cost of $1,114,872.

OTHER SCHOOLS

There are at present seven county schools of agriculture and domestic science enrolling 527 pupils and graduating in 1916, 87 pupils. The total cost of maintaining these seven schools was in 1915-16, $125,984. The growth of these schools has not been as rapid as was expected at one time, owing to the fact that agriculture courses in public high schools have been considerably developed during the past few years, and that these courses can be maintained at a much lower cost than the county schools.

Special schools for the deaf and blind have made steady progress during the past few years. There has been also an increase in the number of vacation schools, especially night classes for foreigners, ungraded rooms, kindergartens, and other types of special schools.

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN

College of Agriculture

Law School

Medical School

School of Music
Library School
Graduate School
Extension Division

The college of science literature and the arts includes the school of commerce and the school of education in addition to a number of other special departments.

The total number of faculty members is 727. Excluding all those members of the faculty not doing any teaching and dividing into tenths the time of those giving part time to other activities than teaching, the instructional force numbers 437.1.

The enrollment of the university has increased very largely in recent years. During the year 1915-16 it was little larger than during the previous year, but in 1916-17 it again increased. During the year 1915-16 the enrollment, regular session, was 5,131; summer session enrollment was 2,784; short and dairy courses, 538, and the grand total excluding extension students and those twice enumerated, 7,624.

Among the activities of the university of Wisconsin listed in the 1916 report of the board of regents to the legislature are the appointment of a dean of men, the legalization of student government, increased attention to student health, the appointment of a faculty secretary and the devising of an honor point system.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION

The biennium just passed has been the most fruitful and active in the history of the Department of Public Instruction. The supervisory staff has been increased to include a supervisor of manual training, a supervisor of tests and measurements in city schools, an editorial and statistical secretary, and an additional supervisor of city and village grades.

A new manual or course of study for common schools was compiled and published during the school year 1915-16. The Educational News Bulletin has been enlarged and the mailing list somewhat extended. A considerable number of bulletin helps to teachers and administrators have been issued.

Some training of volunteer workers in education has been carried on by the Department of Public Instruction. It has been felt that the laboratory and training facilities of the state office are such as to offer material of value to experienced teachers and administrators, and it is hoped that this work will increase in coming years. The aid these workers render to the department free of charge is valuable.

THE PUBLIC HEALTH.

The state health department, under the statutes, is charged with the general supervision throughout the state of the interests affecting the health and life of our citizens.

This department is required to make sanitary investigations and inquiries regarding the causes of disease, especially epidemics, the causes of mortality, and, when required, advise public boards or officials in regard to location, drainage, water supply, disposal of excreta and the heating and ventilation of any public building or institution. The department is also required, whenever necessary, to investigate the causes and circumstances of any special or unusual disease or mortality or to inspect any public building; and the officials of the department have full authority to do any necessary act in order to accomplish the purposes for which the department is established.

The state board of health is required to adopt and enforce rules and regulations governing the prevention and control of the various dangerous communicable diseases, to prescribe the minimum period of quarantine and to define the materials to be used and the methods to be employed in fumigating and disinfecting disease infected homes and other places. All rules and regulations adopted by the board in compliance with the authority granted by the legislature, when published in the official state paper, have the full force of law.

The state health department supervises the activities of the 1685 township, incorporated village and city health departments and assists local health officers, whenever necessary, in the enforcement of the health laws, the rules and regulations of the state board of health and local ordinances.

It supplies diphtheria antitoxin, smallpox vaccine and tetanus antitoxin at wholesale prices to any citizen, whether indigent or not, and through the State Laboratory of Hygiene, the laboratory of the State Board of Health, anti-typhoid vaccine is supplied free of charge to all physicians of the state.

Its laboratories, the State Laboratory of Hygiene at Madison, the branch state laboratory at Rhinelander and the state coöperative laboratories examine sputum for suspected cases of tuberculosis, cultures and swabs for diphtheria, blood for typhoid fever, pus for cases of gonorrhea, the central nervous system of animals for cases of rabies, chemical and bacteriological examinations of water for drinking purposes, suspected cases of anthrax, glanders, actinomycosis and the spinal fluid for meningitis. These examinations are made free of charge upon the request of any physician, health officer or veterinarian. (Blood examinations for syphilis are made without charge by the State Psychiatric Institute at Mendota.) The state coöperative laboratories at Superior and Fond du Lac make pathological examinations also.

When an epidemic occurs in any community, it sends a competent person to investigate the cause and recommends means for prevention. If the local authorities are unable to control the situation, it assists until the epidemic is controlled.

It furnishes to any township, incorporated village or city of the state advice and assistance at any time in the solution of health problems.

It assists the local boards of health, when necessary, in the abatement of nuisances and other conditions which are detrimental to health.

It inspects, either upon its own initiative or upon request, any public or private institution of any city, town or village, and recommends the things necessary for sanitary improvements.

It employs a sanitary engineer to assist the board in approving the plans and specifications for all new public water supplies and sewage disposal systems, and in advising with local officials as to the safest and most economical installations for such systems.

It employs a full-time chemist and sanitary engineer to assist in the purification of public water supplies, sanitary disposal of sewage, and treatment in the purification and disposal of cheese factory and creamery waste, waste from canning factories and similar establishments, waste from blast furnaces, dye factories and other industrial waste which is of such a character as to create a nuisance or dangerously pollute the rivers, lakes and streams of the state.

Important work is also done along the line of establishing and enforcing minimum standards for the maintenance and operation of rendering plants.

The department keeps an accurate record of the three most important events in the life of each citizen—his birth, his marriage and his death, so that today or a hundred years from now that record will be available for any of the many purposes for which it may be needed. In inheriting property, especially from foreign countries; in establishing birthplace to prove citizenship; in relations of guardians and wards; in administration of estates; in determining life insurance rates; legal age for marriage; voting; obtaining pensions; in jury and military service and in complying with the laws on education and child labor; birth, death and marriage records are of inestimable value.

It sends lecturers to public meetings, whenever possible, to speak on any health question without charge.

It collects reports of all communicable diseases and assists local health officers in guarding against epidemics.

It inspects all child labor camps within the state and enforces the regulations adopted for the sanitary construction and operation of such camps.

It provides rules for the proper construction and operation of slaughterhouses.

It licenses all embalmers practicing in the state, and provides by means of rules and regulations safe methods for the transportation of the dead.

It inspects every hotel and restaurant in the state at least once each year, and sees that the sanitary requirements of the law are complied with. The department also inspects the lunch stands at all the fairs in the state and requires that the fair officials provide adequate sanitary toilet facilities. Through the coöperation of the fair officials the garbage from the lunch stands is now collected in barrels or metal containers, the food is of better quality and is properly protected from flies and dust, the employees serving food products are clean and the toilet facilities, with but few exceptions, are adequate and sanitary.

It prescribes rules and regulations governing the licensing of plumbers, and the construction, installation and inspection of plumbing and drainage. In no branch of mechanical science has there been more noteworthy progress than in the subjects of water supply, plumbing and drainage once regarded as incidental features in connection with building and building construction. These problems are now considered of vital importance and an understanding of the fundamental principles underlying the design, construction and care of installations is essential. In this lies the real value to the state, municipality or rural resident of plumbing, water supply and drainage regulation and supervision. The plumbing division furnishes blue prints and specifications for residential disposal plants, for school toilets, sanitary disposal of creamery and cheese factory waste and other small installations for the purification and disposal of sewage or industrial waste where it is not practicable to employ a sanitary engineer.

The department inspects all barber shops in the state and prescribes by means of rules and regulations minimum requirements for the sanitary operation of barber shops.

The work of the barber division, the hotel and restaurant division, the plumbing division and the embalmers' department is maintained entirely from the license fees collected. Each of these divisions is entirely self-supporting.

It coöperates with the educational institutions and school systems of the state in all matters pertaining to health, and provides by means of rules, which have the force of law, such regulations and restrictions as may be necessary to maintain the schools of the state in a sanitary condition.

It distributes free of charge to any citizen of the state pamphlets relating to the prevention and control of communicable diseases, the prevention of infantile blindness, sanitary disposal of creamery waste, methods of constructing residential sewage disposal plants, the proper construction of outhouses and other pamphlets, written in plain language, which will assist in providing a proper health environment.

ONE OF WISCONSIN'S MODEL CHEESE FACTORIES.

Of all agricultural activities, dairying still continues to hold a very important place. The growth of this activity has been steady and permanent. Wisconsin now has the distinction of furnishing to the nation fully one-sixth of the supply of creamery butter, and three-fifths of the cheese. In 1916 there were in operation 923 creameries, 2,363 cheese factories, and 36 condensaries, besides several milk receiving plants that were shipping milk and cream to Milwaukee and Chicago. Minneapolis and St. Paul are looking to the northwestern portion of this state for a part of their supply of milk and cream.

The total value of Wisconsin's dairy products has safely passed the one hundred million mark, annually. In 1909 the output of creamery butter was reported by the Dairy and Food Commission as being 105,307,356 pounds; in 1915, according to statistics collected by this same department, the amount of butter made in the factories was 124,636,071 pounds, valued at $34,744,774.51, an increase of nearly 20 million pounds. In 1909 the number of pounds of cheese made was 145,171,235; in 1915, or six years later, 234,929,037 pounds were made. This is an increase of nearly 90 million pounds. The value of the 1915 cheese was $32,835,922.53. During this same period the value of other dairy products handled by the creameries amounted to $1,807,079.27 and by the cheese factories $636,722.16, or a grand total for the creameries and cheese factories alone of nearly 70 million dollars for 1915. This does not include the value of the milk handled by the condensaries, milk and ice cream plants, and milk and cream consumed by the people of the state; nor does it include the feeding value of the skimmed milk, butter milk, and the whey.

In 1915 there were 39 counties that produced from one to nearly six million pounds of butter, Dane county leading with 5,771,145, with two other counties that passed the 5 million mark. In the butter industry the most remarkable growth has taken place in the northern portion of the state and in Grant county to the southwest. Barron county nearly doubled its output in the six year period 1909 to 1915, the 1909 figures being $731,010.79 and 1915 figures $1,320,674.07. Bayfield county increased from $4,263.30 to $35,503.90 for the same period; Polk county from $686,487.79 in 1909 to $1,149,925.70 in 1915, with Rusk county increasing from $5,174.79 to $99,827.23 in six years. Oneida county, reported in 1909 as making 96,000 pounds of butter valued at $2,600.00, in 1915 made 1,112,369 pounds valued at $333,710.70. Lincoln county increased from $239.50 in 1909 to $105,502.52 in 1915.

The growth of the cheese industry has been remarkable not only in the north central portion of the state but in the older regions as well, Dodge county being in the lead with 23,061,528 pounds in 1915, as compared with 14,647,758 in 1909. Sheboygan comes next with 21,363,448 pounds, and Manitowoc county with 15,587,573 pounds. The four counties located to the west of Green Bay, namely, Shawano, Waupaca, Outagamie, and Oconto in 1909, manufactured 13,613,372 pounds of cheese and in 1915, manufactured 26,395,471 pounds, with the greatest increase for Oconto county. The group of counties comprising the north central cheese district made up of Marathon, Clark, Lincoln, Wood, and Chippewa counties, was credited in 1909 with 7,724,534 pounds of cheese and in 1915 with 28,169,062 pounds.

The progress has not only been in the output of dairy products, but in the increased sanitary conditions of the factories. This progress was largely due to the licensing law which became operative in 1916.

FACTS AND FIGURES ON STATE HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION.

The law creating the Highway Commission was enacted by the Legislature of 1911, and the Commission organized in July of that year. Its personnel was the same from its organization until February, 1917, when Col. Fred Pabst, of Oconomowoc, succeeded Mr. J. H. Van Doren, of Birnamwood. Its two principal employees have been in its service from the beginning.

The enactment of the State Highway Law resulted from a constitutional amendment, ratified at the general election of 1908, permitting the state to give aid in the construction of highways. The basic idea of the law as originally enacted was to encourage the construction of highways by providing state aid to roads constructed in accordance with its provisions. Except as hereafter noted, any town or village in the state can initiate a movement to build a state aid road or bridge by voting at least the minimum appropriation permitted by law. This action is reported to the county clerk at the next annual meeting of the county board, and it then becomes mandatory on the county to vote a like amount. The town is then also entitled to participate in the distribution of the allotment of state aid to the county. Where deemed advisable, any county board may appropriate an amount large enough to take up any part or all of the state allotment, thus reducing the amount that may be distributed among the towns. In these cases the county board may also locate the separate improvements without reference to the towns. All improvements must be made according to the Highway Commission's plans on a county system of prospective state aid highways, designated by the County Board and approved by the Highway Commission. The actual execution of the work is carried out by the County Highway Commissioner and his forces, working under a County State Road and Bridge Committee. The entire work is under the supervision and direction of the Highway Commission and must be carried out in accordance with the terms of the law and the regulations of the Commission.

The State Aid moneys are now derived most largely from an appropriation from the general fund of the state, and in part from automobile license fees, it being provided by law that one-fourth of the net proceeds of these fees shall be used to increase the appropriation for State Aid for Highways. Originally, and until 1916, as a result of an amendment by the 1915 legislature, the major portion of the funds for state aid, now coming from the general fund, were derived from a direct tax. The amounts distributed for each year's construction with their sources are as follows:

1912.....	$350,000	.....	$350,000.00
1913.....	800,000	$26,888.08	876,888.08
1914.....	1,200,000	41,056.83	1,241,056.83
1915.....	1,200,000	88,583.15	1,288,583.15
1916.....	785,000	100,000.00	885,000.00
1917.....	785,030	186,700.37	921,700.37

The Commission began its work in 1912 under great disadvantages. The idea of State Aid was new, and while there was much strong support, there was also a certain amount of suspicion and some active opposition. The Commission's engineering organization, substantially the organization of the Highway Division of the Geological and Natural History Survey, while effective in performing the functions of that body, was no more than the nucleus of the organization necessary to carry out the duties of the new body. Neither was there a proper construction organization in the counties. Though a compulsory county aid law had been on the statute books since 1907, only about twenty of the seventy-one counties were operating under the law, and many of these only half-heartedly. Nevertheless, the Commission proceeded to prepare for the 1912 work by strengthening its own organization, as well as its necessities could be foreseen, and by acquainting the county boards of the various counties with what would be necessary for the proper prosecution of its work. There was also an educational campaign, through the newspapers, the object of which was to acquaint the public generally with the law, its purposes, and probable operation.

This advance work did much to prepare the public for the highway work which has been done. This work has on the whole been accomplished with success.

The work done to date is shown in the following table. Detailed information is available in the Commission's published reports.

NOTE: Figures given for 1916 construction are estimates made from preliminary reports.

Since its original enactment, the law has been amended by two legislatures, but its basic principles are unchanged. The Commission, therefore, believes they are fundamentally right. It is a fact that public sentiment developed during its operation has steadily demanded increased and higher type construction, more construction on main lines of travel, and an increase in effective supervision over the work. All this is in accordance with the most advanced thought on the subject of highway construction and is the best evidence that the law is meeting the needs of the state in a satisfactory way.

The county motor truck pulling an oil distributor. This is the most economical method of handling the problem of applying surface treatments. A few counties have the motor truck equipped with a 600 gallon tank with pump and engine mounted on truck, with which the oil is pumped from tank car to distributor during the oiling operation. This method provides for delivering 1,200 gallons per trip, which, with moderate hauls, enables a full tank car to be unloaded in one day.

Summary, Crop and Weather Conditions.

The crop season of 1916 was unusual in many respects. During the winter of 1916 an ice sheet covered the southern half of the state and killed nearly all of the old seedings of clover and alfalfa, and in many instances the new seedings as well. Two results followed from this: First, a very small percentage of clover hay and alfalfa on hand on which to winter dairy cattle. Second, a reduction in the total tonnage of hay from 6,081,619 tons in 1915 to 1,971,800 tons in 1916.

The weather of the latter part of June, July and early August was very favorable for haymaking. As a consequence, practically all of the hay grown was put up in an unusually good condition. Otherwise, the shortage of hay would have been much more serious than it was.

POTATOES—The year 1916 was one of the most unfavorable for the production of potatoes which we have had for some time. The total production in 1916 was 12,006,651 bushels, as against 29,071,785 bushels in 1915, a reduction of over one-half. The yield per acre dropped from 90.6 bushels in 1915 to 47 bushels in 1916. With the decrease in supply has come a consequent increase in price, from 62c in 1915 to $1.51 in 1916, a decrease of 142 per cent in total production, and an increase of 144 per cent in price. In yield per acre and quality of potatoes, the northeastern section of Wisconsin was favored above the rest of the state. The fourteen counties above the line drawn from southern Douglas county to the city of Oconto produced an average of 80.7 bushels per acre, while the fourteen counties immediately south of this line averaged only 45.3 bushels per acre.

WHEAT—The total production of wheat in Wisconsin in 1916 was 3,744,173 bushels, in 1915, 4,593,728 bushels, the production for 1916 being one million bushels below that of 1915. The average price per bushel raised from $1.04 in 1915 to $1.58 in 1916; the decrease in supplies being 18.5 per cent, while the increase in price was 51.8 per cent. Parallel figures for the nation show a total decrease of 37.6 per cent in production and a total increase in price of 74.4 per cent.

CORN—The year 1915 was a very poor corn year averaging only 29.1 bushels per acre. This was due to the abnormally cool season from June to August, particularly during August and September, when corn continued its vegetation growth without ripening normally in any section of the state until killed by frost. On August 30th, frost killed the corn throughout the northern section of the state and on scattered lowlands of other portions, and on September 21, the remainder was killed, but even on this date the corn was still in the milk. As a consequence, only 16.5 per cent ripened. Nineteen sixteen was, however, a much better year for ripening corn. The average yield per acre was 39 bushels. The total yield per acre of corn was reduced considerably by the drouth which occurred from the latter part of June until early in August. The average inches of rain fall for the month of July was 1.64 and for the same month in 1915, 3.94. Certain portions of the state suffered more specially than others, Prairie du Sac receiving only .02 of an inch; Delavan, .16; Watertown, .39; and Whitehall, .09 inches. This same lack of moisture was one of the chief factors which reduced the yield of potatoes. The weight and quality of grains was affected by the lack of rain, but more particularly by the extremely hot weather which occurred during the filling of the grains. The quality and filling of the grains is reflected in the weight per measured bushel of some of the most important varieties as given below.

INDUSTRIAL STATISTICS.

The Workmen's Compensation Act.

Wisconsin was among the first states to enact a law under which workmen may recover compensation for all accidents sustained in the course of employment. Its first law on this subject became effective September 1, 1911, and applied to such employers as elected to come under its provisions. In 1913, the law was changed so that all employers who employ more than three workmen automatically come under the act unless they file an election not to do so. Farmers, however, are subject to the law only when they elect to accept its provisions.

The administration of the workmen's compensation act is vested in the Industrial Commission. Employers are required to report to the Commission all accidents which cause disability of more than seven days duration, and must report upon all payments made to injured workmen. The Industrial Commission supervises all settlements and hears and decides all cases in which the parties concerned cannot reach a satisfactory agreement.

	Cases settled.	All benefits.	Indemnity.	Medical aid.
Sept. 1, 1911, to Dec. 31, 1915.....	44,430	$4,346,084	$3,208,418	$1,137,666
Jan. 1, 1916, to Dec. 31, 1916.....	15,382	1,424,710	1,057,433	367,277

Free Employment Offices.

Free employment offices are maintained under the jurisdiction of the Industrial Commission in Milwaukee, Superior, Oshkosh, and La Crosse. These offices receive orders from employers for help wanted, and applications from workmen for work. No charge is made either from employers or employees for such services.

The operations of the free employment offices during the last two completed fiscal years are shown below:

Applications for work.....	52,568	49,705
Help wanted.....	31,095	49,792
Referred to positions.....	32,639	45,905
Positions secured.....	22,229	33,219

In the closing months of 1915 and throughout 1916 employment conditions were unusually good. Employment was about twenty per cent greater in 1916 than in 1915. On all skilled trades the demand for labor exceeded the supply. For unskilled labor also there was increased demand, but the supply was more than adequate.

Child Labor.

Unregulated child labor is a menace to civilization. It means drudgery to children, weakened bodies, untrained hands and uneducated minds. The final fruits of child labor are poor workmen without energy or initiative.

Recognizing these truths, Wisconsin has enacted one of the best child labor laws in the country. The requirements of this law are more stringent than those of the federal child labor law which goes into effect September 1, 1917. Children under sixteen years of age, may be employed, other than as domestics and in agricultural pursuits, only if they secure a permit; and they may not be required or allowed to work more than forty-eight hours per week. In certain hazardous industries, children must be sixteen or over before they may be employed at all; and in other industries they may not be employed until they are eighteen or twenty-one years of age. All persons who contemplate employing children should acquaint themselves with all the details of the child labor law before doing so. This law is administered by the Industrial Commission.

Women's Hours of Labor.

Wisconsin, in common with most other states, regulates the number of hours women may be employed. Its statutes provide that no female shall be employed in any manufacturing or mercantile establishment, laundry, restaurant, telegraph or telephone exchange, or in any express or transportation office, for such period as shall be dangerous or prejudicial to her life, health, safety, or welfare. It is the duty of the Industrial Commission to classify the various industries in which women are engaged and determine for what periods of time women may be employed in each in any day, night or week without prejudice to life, health, safety or welfare. Until the Industrial Commission makes other regulations, women may not be employed in any of the places of employment given above longer than ten hours in any one day, or more than fifty-five hours in any one week, unless their employment falls between eight o'clock P. M. and six o'clock A. M., in which event they may be employed not more than eight hours in any one day, or more than forty-eight hours in any one week.

STATE FINANCES.

GENERAL FUND.

This fund embraces all state revenues applicable to the payment of ordinary governmental expenses. The sources from which it is derived are: A general fund tax, a tax on railroad, telegraph, telephone, street railway, electric light, and insurance companies; a tax on incomes, legacies, and civil actions; peddlers' licenses, and fees received by the various state departments, etc. Expenditures therefrom are authorized by permanent and temporary appropriations.

A detailed statement of the transactions of this fund will be found in Appendix A of the Biennial Report of the Secretary of State.

FISH, GAME AND STATE PARKS.

Wisconsin's first fish hatchery was built in 1874. The first appropriation was under the provisions of Chapter 211, Laws of 1873, the amount was $500. The hatchery was established in the town of Fitchburg, Dane county and comprised 63 acres of land still owned by the state. Additional hatcheries were established from time to time and in 1916 the state owned and operated seven permanent hatcheries and three sub-hatcheries. The hatcheries include over 900 acres of land, 30 buildings, 88 fish ponds, and 14,275 feet of raceways and pipe lines. During the distribution period of 1916 the fisheries department planted 206,308,485 fish of fourteen different varieties in the inland and outlying waters of Wisconsin.

During the year of 1916 nonresidents coming into the state purchased 29,007 hook and line fishing licenses. It is safe to say that not over twenty per cent of nonresident summer resorters coming into Wisconsin purchase fishing licenses. It is impossible to understand the enormous inroads made yearly on the inland Wisconsin fish supply. To gain some conception of what the lakes must stand every summer, a record was kept of the shipments of game fish made from one small summer resort station. During ten weeks 865 boxes all containing the statutory limit of 20 pounds of game fish were shipped from Woodruff, Oneida county. This means that from this one little northern station 17,300 pounds of black bass, pike, pickerel, and muskellunge were shipped during the period mentioned. Then consider that there are hundreds of shipping points just like it; consider the fish consumed in camps, hotels, homes and resorts. Millions of pounds of game fish are taken from the waters every year. And because of the great work by the state in operating the hatcheries and replenishing the waters every year, our supply of food and game fishes seems inexhaustable.

The German carp has become unusually plentiful, particularly in the southern portion of the state. In some waters they have become a menace to the more desirable varieties, and to rid the waters of carp the State Conservation Commission granted 36 carp fishing contracts. These contracts resulted in the catching of over a million and a half pounds of carp. During the latter part of November the fishermen operating on Lake Kegonsa in Dane county made the largest catch of fish in a single haul of which any record is known. In round numbers 219,000 pounds of carp were caught in one haul of the net. These fish are shipped to New York City where there is an enormous demand for fresh carp.

Commercial fishermen operating on the waters of the Mississippi river, Lake Superior, Lake Michigan and Green Bay, during the season of 1915, marketed 23,932,778 pounds of fish; which were sold for $846,508.32. The licenses sold them covered the use of 12,533,665 feet of gill nets and of over two million set hooks.

The department has at this time 63 conservation wardens engaged entirely in the prosecution and enforcement of the fish and game laws. Ten forest rangers and three park superintendents also act as wardens in connection with their regular duties. Twenty-five of the wardens are equipped with motor cycles.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1916 the warden department made 416 seizures, the confiscated goods sold for $2,730.48. The wardens made 833 arrests; of which number 41 cases were dismissed, 31 acquitted, 774 convicted, and 37 cases were pending. Fines and costs amounting to $20,508.15 were imposed and collected, and 57 violators were compelled to serve jail sentences.

Lands, buildings and equipment (not including forestry lands) show an inventory value of $632,744.00. The total receipts of the department for the year ending June 30, 1916 shows a total of $227,261.40. The commission has direct control and administration of 457,200 acres of land.

STATE PARKS

The first State Park in Wisconsin was established by the legislature of 1878. All state land owned by the state in twenty-three townships in Iron and Vilas counties, some 50,000 acres, was set aside with the express provision that "no authority should be given to anyone to cut down or destroy any timber on such lands." For nineteen years this land was held intact. In 1897 the legislature placed the land on the market, and about 32,000 acres were sold. It is of interest to note that most of this same land, which was sold for approximately $8.00 per acre, was later repurchased by the state for a forest reserve at about one-third of the original price, but with the timber cut. In 1895 a law was passed authorizing the Governor to arrange to acquire 250 acres in what is now known as the Interstate Park, and he was authorized to appoint three Commissioners to examine the land and determine the values. In 1899 the legislature appropriated $6,500.00 for the purchase of the lands, and the remainder from the purchase to be available for the general purpose and care of the park.

The first actual purchase of land for park purposes did not take place until 1901. The state has spent $291,571.23 for the purchase of lands for state parks, as may be seen from the following tabulated statement:

PAYMENTS FOR PARK LANDS.

	$20,751.50	$96,162.41	$128,497.44	$46,189.88

In addition to the appropriations there has been some income from the sale of old buildings, fuel, leases, concessions, etc., which, with the amount left over from the appropriations, makes up the present "Park Purchase Fund," amounting to $12,695.46.

During 1916, under the administration of the Conservation Commission, the work of general improvement and extension of the various state parks was carried forward energetically. While the Wisconsin parks are well organized, and are located so as to best serve the people of all parts of the state, they are still somewhat inaccessible, due to the lack of proper road facilities. It was early realized by the commission that in order for each park to be of the maximum usefulness to the people of the state, the proper accommodation would have to be provided, and of these, good roads and trails were of major importance. Consequently, during the past year, a road and trail plan was marked out for each of the parks, and the main efforts of the commission have been expended in the construction of these roads and trails within the parks and in cooperating with local officials for the construction of better approaches.

All of the state parks have been designated as wild life refuges, and game is increasing in them. Camping sites are laid out on two of the parks, and these are maintained in a clean and sanitary condition. Maps showing the camp sites are in preparation. Campers are charged 50c per week to pay for supervision and annual cleaning of the grounds. They are also required to deposit five dollars with the park superintendent as a guarantee that they will leave their camp site in good condition. Should the site need special cleaning the superintendent deducts the cost from the deposit. Portable camp sites are being leased at $10.00 per year rental with privilege of renewal. Ten leases of this character have been made to date.

INTERSTATE PARK.

This park is owned jointly by Wisconsin and Minnesota, as it lies on both sides of the St. Croix river, which at that point, forms the boundary between the two states. It contains 730 acres, of which 580 acres are owned by Wisconsin and 150 by Minnesota. This park is complete.

The Dalles of the St. Croix are the chief features of the park. The river flows through a narrow gorge in the Keweenaw trap rock, which at one point rises to a height of more than 200 feet. There are several picturesque rock formations, the most interesting of which are "The Old Man of the Dalles" a remarkable profile stone face on the Wisconsin shore, and the "Devil's Chair," a column of rock on the Minnesota side. A series of potholes, varying in diameter from one to six feet, and in depth from one to eighty feet, are found on the banks, chiefly on the west side of the river. These potholes, now to be seen high above the river, were worked into the solid rock by the grinding action of the spherical boulders, many of which still remain in them.

Professor Martin, in "Physical Geography of Wisconsin," says:

"Before the Glacial Period the upper St. Croix had a course to the West in Minnesota. Its middle course in the St. Croix Dalles is postglacial. Before the Glacial Period its lower course was occupied by a short stream, whose headwaters were the Apple River, tributary of today. The St. Croix river was the outlet of two of the glacial lakes in the Lake Superior basin, north of Stillwater, Minnesota, the valley is fairly wide, with gently sloping terraced sides" * * *.

"The rock ledges (at the Dalles) are ancient lava flows, of which seven may be identified, rising like giant steps above the river. The lava or trap, is well-jointed, so that there are vertical precipices and isolated crags along the St. Croix river."

On the rock bluffs, white and red pine and oak abound. The hills farther back are covered with mixed hardwoods, and the bottom lands are covered with elm, silver maple and hackberry.

MARQUETTE PARK.

The Marquette State park is located in Grant county in the angle formed by the confluence of the Wisconsin and Mississippi, and includes the bluffs along both rivers. The greater portion of this land was the old Glenn homestead and it was due to the efforts of the late Senator Robert Glenn that the natural beauties were preserved. The park is complete and contains 1651 acres. The Military road terminates on the park, the highest point being some 500 feet above the Mississippi, and 1180 feet above sea level.

None of the natural beauties of the park have been destroyed, although some of the upland has been cleared, thus giving a variety of scenery. The site of the first fur-trading post established on the upper Mississippi is on the park. Above the narrow crest of Sentinel Ridge, overlooking the Mississippi, is located one of the finest groups of Indian mounds in this section of the state. This system is over one-half mile in length, and is known as the "Procession of Mounds" consisting of 14 conical, 13 linear and a single effigy mound. Effigy mounds of deer and bear, linear, chain and burial mounds are common.

Father Marquette, and his associate, Louis Joliet, the great explorers, discovered the Mississippi river from Point Lookout, on their voyage of discovery in the year 1663. Other points of interest are Sunshine Hill, Signal Hill, Eagle Eye, Black Hawk Monument, Roll-away, Linden Valley, Winnoshick and Glen Grotto, a brilliantly colored sandstone cave, with water falls tumbling over its sides, making it one of the beauty spots of the park.

The many points of interest on the park are being made accessible by the construction of three miles of standard road, which lead to Point Lookout; to Sentinel Ridge, winding in and about several Indian mounds, and down through a long hollow to the Burlington Railroad, where a station will be erected by the railroad company, thus making it possible for pleasure seekers to reach the park in the shortest possible time.

DEVIL'S LAKE PARK.

The Devil's Lake Park contains 1040 acres surrounding the lake, and is the most centrally located of the state parks, being accessible both by rail and automobile from all points. It has long been a playground of the people and the summer hotels have had a large number of guests annually. It is located in Sauk county, near Baraboo. The surface of the lake lies 600 feet below the east bluff, which is itself some 1400 feet above sea level. It is a beautiful sheet of water, without a visible outlet, fed by springs, and surrounded by great crags and bluffs of rock, thrown up by volcanic action of some former age.

The lake is one and one-fourth miles long, one-half mile wide and 43 feet deep, and is enclosed on the east, west and south shores by rugged bluffs of Baraboo quartzite. The north and southeast ends are filled with glacial drift, in fact this glacial drift has formed the lake basin by damming up both ends of the older gorge. The bluffs are without glacial drift, and the limit of the driftless area, is sharply defined. The geology classes of the University of Wisconsin and the University of Chicago spend several weeks in field work on the park and the surrounding country annually. President Van Hise of the University of Wisconsin, has said, "I know of no other region of the state which illustrates so many principles of the science of geology."

There are several interesting rock formations, the most remarkable ones being known as the "Doorway," the "Needle" and "Turk's Head." Some interesting Indian mounds are found on the park, the most striking being an eagle mound on the southeast shore.

The rough topography of the park and the surrounding region prevented clearing, so the percentage of forest area is large, and the native flora and fauna has survived remarkably well.

The native flora is extremely varied and natural conditions will be maintained so that the botanist will find not only the species, but also the ecological conditions under which they grow. River birch is found along the lake shore, mixed hardwood stands occur on the higher land, large white pines occupy the rocky slopes, and the tops of the bluffs are covered with oak. The chief sports are boating, fishing, swimming and climbing. Excellent sand beaches with a uniform and gradual slope are found at both ends of the lake. Many of the visitors make a practice of climbing some of the bluffs daily, and while the slopes are not nearly high enough to be considered mountains, they are steep and rugged enough to make it extremely interesting if one deviates from the trails, as many do.

PENINSULA PARK.

Peninsula park is the largest of the state parks, containing approximately 3,240 acres, and is located on the Door county peninsula, between Fish Creek and Ephraim. The general improvement work on the Peninsula Park, has been marked by the opening up of new roads and trails, the planting of over 65,000 coniferous trees in the open fields along the boundary road, the acquiring of some of the private interior holdings consisting of woodland and open fields, and the improvement of the golf links and camping sites. It is planned not only to make the fullest use of the park as a great pleasure ground, but also to so manage the wooded areas, totalling 2,770 acres, that there will be a sustained yield of forest products. A complete forest working plan for the ensuing ten years has been prepared. Maps of the park showing all wooded areas, fields, roads, buildings, trails and lookout towers are now being prepared and will be available at all of the hotels in the region.

The numerous harbors along the peninsula make sailing or motorboat cruising safe, and boats from the various yacht clubs are often seen at anchor in the harbor at Eagle Island. Door county is a favorite region with motorists, and many cars come to the park each year. The park is reached by motor stage from Sturgeon Bay or by boat from Marinette. Others come from the lower ports on Lake Michigan on the Goodrich line steamers. Good hotel accommodations are found at Fish Creek and Ephraim, both villages adjoining the park. Camp sites may be had by applying to the superintendent, and several unfurnished houses may be leased for the season.

Two lookout towers to aid in detecting forest fires have been erected on Sven's Bluff and Eagle Bluff, which are connected by telephone with the superintendent's residence and the local exchange. As these towers are built with railed stairways and landings, they may be climbed safely by anyone, and visitors to the park find the views well worth the climb. From both towers, buildings in Marinette, eighteen miles across the bay, may be seen on clear mornings with the naked eye.

BRULE PARK.

A part of the Nebagamon Lumber Company grant of 4,321 acres of land along the Brule river, a famous trout stream, in Douglas county, has been set aside as a state park and is being managed as such. It is located between the Northern Pacific and the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic railroads and is within easy walking distance from the Brule and Winneboujou stations. Twenty-seven lots have been laid out along either side of the river in Section 23. These cottage sites will be leased either for portable or permanent buildings for periods of from one to twenty years, as desired. Approximately three-quarters of a mile of new road was opened up adjacent to the lots on the east side of the river, which connects on the west end with the proposed road through the recently platted Heimbaugh and Spring addition. When this road is completed, it will, in all probability, be the main road between Brule and Winneboujou. Because there is but little timber growth on the lands, the greater part of the river lots, as well as some fifty acres of hill land on the west side of the river, was planted to coniferous forest trees to the amount of 72,000. The needed protection from fire has been given the plantations by opening the old logging railroad grades, which makes all parts of the planted areas accessible.

CUSHING MEMORIAL PARK.

The Cushing Memorial Park is located about a half mile west of Delafield, Waukesha county. It comprises about eight acres, one-fourth of which is low and marshy, along the Bark river, the remaining portion rising slowly in a dry even slope.

This Park was established in memory of the "Three Wisconsin Cushings,"—young men of Wisconsin birth and rearing, who won unusual distinction for bravery during the days of the rebellion. This park is a portion of the old Cushing homestead, and was donated to the state by the Waukesha County Historical Society. The state has erected a beautiful granite shaft as a memorial to these Wisconsin patriots, and during the past year the site has been further beautified by the planting of trees and shrubs, and a road has been constructed into the grounds and around the monument. The funds for this road were largely subscribed by Delafield and Waukesha citizens.

THE WISCONSIN CAPITOL

OFFICIAL GUIDE AND HISTORY

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF STATE CAPITOL

Wisconsin territory, previously a part of Michigan territory, was organized at Mineral Point, July 4, 1836. The first legislature met at Old Belmont, (now Leslie, La Fayette county) October 25, 1836, in a building rented from John Atchison. It was a two-story and attic frame building, forty-two feet by twenty-five feet, with a square battlemented front. The timber was bought at Pittsburg, sent down the Ohio and up the Mississippi to Galena by steamboat, and drawn overland by teams to Belmont, thirty miles. It has passed through several hands, and the old building was known as "Noah's Ark," because it housed so many families, sometimes more than one at a time. In 1838 it was moved about one hundred feet north of its original position, and used for a barn.

A movement was started in 1906 to buy and restore the old building, but the bill failed in the legislature. Meanwhile, the original site has been designated by a marker, erected in 1912 under the auspices of the Federation of Women's Clubs' landmarks committee. This was unveiled on October 7, 1912.

A long struggle took place at Belmont over the location of the permanent seat of government, but finally Madison, then merely a town on paper, was chosen through the influence of James Duane Doty, who had been federal circuit judge up to 1832 for that portion of Michigan territory lying west of Lake Michigan. The prospective town received its name in honor of James Madison, the fourth president of the United States. The following June work was begun on a Capitol building, whose corner stone was laid with appropriate ceremonies on July 4, 1837.

The stone for the first state house came from Maple Bluff, and was ferried across Lake Mendota to the foot of North Hamilton street. The inside finish was sawed from oak timber grown on the hill where the governor's residence now stands. The building was one hundred and four feet long, fifty-four feet wide and thirty feet high above the water table. It was a substantial structure, which in architectural design and convenience of arrangement compared favorably with contemporary capitols of adjacent and older states. The cost of the structure was $60,000. The architect was Stephen V. Shipman, of Madison, who was Major of the First Wisconsin Cavalry in the Civil War.

After twenty years this Capitol proved inadequate to the growing wants of the State, and to relieve the crowded condition the Legislature of 1857 provided for its enlargement. The work began in the fall of 1857, and continued from that year until 1869 when the dome, (the most satisfactory portion of the structure) was finally completed.

In order to provide additional space for the State Historical Society, the Supreme Court, the State Library, and the increasing staffs of the state officers, the legislature of 1882 appropriated $200,000 for the construction of two transverse wings, on the north and south sides of the original building.

The structure, when finally completed, (the south wing fell while in process of construction, killing eight workmen.) measured two hundred and twenty-six feet from east to west, and three hundred and ninety-six feet from north to south. From the base to the eagle upon the flagstaff, the height was two hundred and twenty-five feet. The general plan was that of a cross, two corridors intersecting at the rotunda.

The total appropriation for the construction and enlargement of the building and for the improvement of the park aggregated up to 1904 about $900,000.

Realizing that again the Capitol no longer fully served its purpose, the legislature of 1903 appointed a building commission to take into consideration the construction of a new and larger Capitol. Hardly had the commission begun with its initial arrangements when a disastrous event, the fire of February 27, 1904, which destroyed a large part of the interior of the building, called for immediate action. The matter was taken up with vigor. In 1905 plans for a new building were submitted to the Legislature. However, on account of the comprehensiveness and expense of a building required by the plans recommended, the Legislature rejected them and directed the commission to select an architect, secure plans, and proceed to the erection of a building under certain limitations as to size and expense.

Pursuant to these directions, the commission caused a program to be prepared which was presented to five leading architectural firms, who were invited to submit sketches, embodying their suggestions, for a building. After a careful study and analysis of the plans submitted, those of George B. Post & Sons of New York were accepted as having the most merit from a practical and artistic point of view.

The financial limitations imposed, together with the necessity of housing the government during the erection of the building, made it necessary to extend the construction over a number of years, only one wing being built at a time. The west wing having suffered the most from the fire, its construction was first undertaken. Work was begun late in 1907. It was completed in 1909, and made ready for the Legislature of that year. The other wings were erected in the following order: the east wing 1908-1910; the south wing, 1910-1913; and the north wing, 1914-1917. The central rotunda and dome 1911-1915.

The new Capitol occupies the site of the old structure, but is much larger and far more beautiful. It stands diagonally in the center of the square Capitol Park, its wings extending in the direction of the cardinal points of the compass and toward the corners of the park.

The dimensions exceed those of the old structure, as follows: in length, from north to south, exclusive of steps and portico of the old building, thirty feet; from east to west, two hundred feet; in height, from basement to top of flagstaff of the old structure, fifty-four and one-half feet.

The Capitol Park is seven hundred and ninety-two feet square, cornering on the cardinal points of the compass. It contains fourteen and four-tenths acres, and is handsomely situated on an elevation commanding a view of the Lakes Monona and Mendota and the surrounding Four Lakes country.

THE WISCONSIN STATE CAPITOL

Set like a gem in the clasp of four silver lakes and encircled by a zone of perfect beauty, Madison is a city of many attractions. Like a queen enthroned the city rises majestically above Lakes Mendota and Monona, whose waters lave the shores of the isthmus on which it stands. In the heart of the city, on an eminence rising gently from the lakes to a height of seventy feet, is Capitol Square; in reality a park eight hundred feet square, shaded by elms and oaks, and adorned with beds of shrubbery and flowering plants. On this site of singular beauty stand the stately capitol building, a monument to the glory of the Badger State.

THE EXTERIOR

THE WISCONSIN STATE CAPITOL, cruciform in plan, is built entirely of White Bethel Vermont granite, which alone of all the granites compares with marble in whiteness and general appearance and is the hardest and most durable stone used. In order to equalize the difference in the level of the park and give the building a greater appearance of symmetry, it was placed on a formal terrace surrounded by a balustrade of the same white granite, on which pedestals are provided for lights and appropriate groups of statuary. Its design has been so studied by the architects that from every point of view its composition is satisfying to the most critical, and the every-varying lights and shades on its snow white surfaces are a constant delight to the eyes.

The four equal wings face the four diagonal streets of the city which lead from the cardinal points of the compass and at the ends of which are entrances for pedestrians. The formal approaches and entrances, however, are from the ends of the four avenues, two of which lead to the lake, in the axes of each of which are driveways approaching the building and terminating in porte cocheres under the grand staircases which lead to the first story of the pavilion, situated in the reëntrant angles formed by the wings. The pavilions provide spacious vestibules, giving direct access to the rotunda. They are crowned by flat granite domes, above which arises the podium wall forming the base upon which the barrel of the great dome rests. The barrel is treated as a circular Corinthian Arcade, through the arched windows of which floods of mellow light enter the rotunda.

The podium, or terrace, is surrounded by a granite balustrade affording the first resting place for visitors ascending into the dome and gives a magnificent view of the city of Madison from an elevation of ninety feet above the ground. At a slightly lower level, an interior balcony encircles the rotunda from which an impressive view of the interior of the great structure is obtained. From the podium, the ascent to the dome is by means of spiral staircases, built within the thickness of the wall of the barrel of the dome. From the staircases a view of the surrounding country, ever widening with the ascent, may be enjoyed through a series of exterior windows as well as intermediate views of the rotunda. At a height of one hundred and fifty feet from the ground floor, an exterior balcony with granite balustrade supported by the colonnade, affords the next resting place. From this level two inclined stairways lead up between the outer and inner domes to the highest interior observation point at an elevation of one hundred and eighty-four feet, immediately below the crown of the dome. Here visitors may look through the eye of the "Coffer Dome" (thirty feet in diameter) into the great rotunda below. Above the crown of the coffer dome, a single spiral staircase leads up into the lantern, which at the level of two hundred and thirty-five feet is encircled by a balcony with a single high granite balustrade. From here the view is truly wonderful; but it is surpassed in splendor by the panoramic view of the surrounding country of gently rolling hills, winding rivers, and silvery lakes, obtained from the platform provided within the lantern, ten and one-half feet in diameter and fifteen feet higher, which is inclosed on all sides by windows. In order to reach this great height, two hundred and fifty-five feet above the ground floor level, visitors have to mount two hundred and fifty-two steps above the last landing of the elevators of the attic story of the wings, or three hundred and sixty-seven steps from the ground floor of the building.

The four wings, each one hundred and twenty-five feet in width, eighty-five feet in height and one hundred and eighty-seven feet in length, terminate in stately, dignified porticoes composed of Corinthian columns, supporting pediments in the tympanums of which are groups of granite statuary by America's most distinguished sculptors, who with the fine inherent artistic skill of genius have kept all the sculptural work of the pediments in beautiful harmony with the Renaissance architecture of the building. The subjects selected for each of these groups correspond to the principal use of each wing.

STATUARY IN THE FOUR PEDIMENTS

THE EAST PEDIMENT

LIBERTY SUPPORTED BY THE LAW

In the east wing is the supreme court room, where the final interpretation of the laws of the state is made. It is, therefore, appropriate that law should be made a leading consideration of the pediment over the entrance to this wing. The central and main figure of the group is Liberty, holding a torch in her right hand to enlighten Justice, and a shield in her left protecting Truth. Both Justice and Truth are seated, the former holding the scales and the latter a mirror, symbols of justice and truth. To the right of Justice are two figures, the older resting his right hand on the table of stone of the decalogue, and the younger shielding the table. On the left are also two figures, Anglo-Saxon in type, carrying and caring for the Magna Charta. To the extreme right of the observer is a group engaged in reading the laws or statutes of the country, and to the left a family group in which the mother is shown as inculcating the principles of right living, upon the children. The former group is concerned with the written law, the latter with the traditions that have given character to the race. Liberty is placed in the center, in a commanding position, indicating the importance of the east wing of the Capitol in that it contains the Executive Department, as well as the department of the highest State Court. The group is the work of the late Karl Bitter.

THE WEST PEDIMENT

The west wing shelters the assembly, that part of government which is most representative of all resources and activities of a state, and for this reason Mr. Bitter here symbolized the resources of the state. In the center is a female figure representing the state, and in throwing back her veil she proclaims that her resources are only partially developed. The horse, the ox, the sheep, etc., represent the wonderful advantages Wisconsin offers for stock and dairy industries. Domesticated animals of the highest type, for which the state is admirably adapted and already famous, form a conspicuous part of the group. Agricultural interests are typified by the growing wheat through which the animals are being led, and by the corn harvested and evidently being saved for seed. No doubt it represents pure bred corn, which has already done much for Wisconsin. Forest products are seen in the lumber being carried by another figure,

THE UNVEILING OF THE RESOURCES OF THE STATE

THE SOUTH PEDIMENT

Mr. Weinman chose for the pediment of this wing, which houses the senate, such powers as should dominate so important a body as the Senate of a great state. The central figure in the group symbolizes Wisdom and follows the ancient usage of representing that virtue by a female figure. Thought and reflection are inseparable attributes of wisdom, if, indeed, they are not the material that develop into wisdom. The artist represents thought by the winged skull in the left hand of Wisdom and reflection by the mirror in her right. Back of the central figure is a mass of foliage, suggesting the value of wide knowledge in the exercise of wisdom. Immediately to the right is a standing figure, holding in the left hand an equilateral triangle which appropriately represents equity. The corresponding figure on the left carries a square signifying rectitude. On the right are three seated figures, symbolizing executive power, meditation, and prudence in the order given. Prudence is shown with a scroll in her right hand and resting on a casket of documents, indicating the need for knowledge of what has been attempted heretofore and the result accomplished. Success depends upon the use made of the experience of others, as well as that of our own. To the left are also three figures in similar attitude to those on the right and represent the calmness and caution of diplomacy, the earnestness of eloquence, and the clear vision of progress. The winged hall in the left hand of the figure on the extreme left of the group symbolizes Progress.

THE NORTH PEDIMENT

For the pediment of the north wing, the celebrated sculptor, Attilio Piccirilli was chosen. It is a grouping of figures representing the attributes of civilization. It links Wisconsin with all the past. It is expressive of the great original fiat "Let there be light." The various figures of the group are symbolical of that light of learning to which the thought and wisdom of all the centuries have contributed. The genius of a poem or statue consists not in what is actually described, but what it suggests, and this group of statuary suggests the story of human history from the earliest times up to the present day. It is a beautiful story written in stone, an interesting and elevating sermonette on the progress of the ages in the realms of industry, philosophy, and the fine arts, and on the ennobling power of religion.

LEARNING OF THE WORLD

The central figure holding a tablet on which is written the inscription "Sapientia," or wisdom, represents enlightenment. The character of this enlightenment is indicated in the other figures of the group. The female figure leaning on the rake symbolizes agriculture,—man's first and mightiest task, subduing the earth and changing the wilderness into fruitful fields. The mother and child symbolize maternity, the home or family, which is the foundation of society and the strength of a nation. She is approaching the shrine of Wisdom, seeking knowledge to instruct and guide her child, the child in which lies the hope of the future of the race. The tremendous responsibility involved in this task, the seriousness and conscientiousness with which the mother is applying herself, is strikingly brought out by the artist in the pose of the figure. Her personal interest in the progress of her husband, who typifies labor, and whom she is guiding toward Enlightenment for wisdom, is finely suggested by her hand resting on his shoulder.

On the extreme right are two figures, male and female, symbolizing the fine arts, music, poetry, and the arts of design.

The group of two figures on the extreme left, male and female, represent philosophy, geometry, and the sciences in general.

The group immediately to the left of the central figure symbolizes the idea of mechanics or physics. Electricity is the female figure, leading the engineer, who, in turn, is guiding and supporting the mechanic to "Sapientia."

The group also illustrates comradeship, brotherly love and the religious principle.

STATUARY GROUPS AROUND THE GREAT DOME

In the competitive drawings the architects indicated four tourelles or miniature domes at the base of the great dome, resting on the podium wall. These were later omitted, and in their place the Capitol Commission obtained, without additional cost, four beautiful groups of statuary overlooking the corner pavilions, which add materially to the pyramidal effect of the beautiful architectural composition. These symbolize fundamental characteristics of the state and its people, to which may be attributed its growth and prosperity. Each of the four groups of statuary around the dome consists of three figures—the middle or chief figure in each case being placed on a raised base and standing about twelve feet high. The two minor figures are seated and about six feet in height and supplement the idea represented by the major figure. The two minor figures are connected by an eagle with outspread wings. This device is common to each of the groups. They are cut from Bethel Vermont granite, and are especially worthy of study by the lover of the symbolic and beautiful. Wisconsin is fortunate in having these masterpieces of Karl Bitter, whose untimely death in 1915 deprived America of one of her greatest sculptors.

OVERLOOKING MONONA AVENUE

On approaching the Capitol from Monona avenue, a beautiful group representing "Faith" is seen. The activities of the human mind do not stop with observation, nor even with utilizing the material collected by other minds. These furnish the raw material, as it were, of mental products more refined than those that find their completion in the senses or even in the intellect. Understanding is on a higher plane of mental life than sensation and faith is on a still higher plane than understanding. The artist, no doubt, intended by this group to symbolize religious faith. Bowing the head in obedience to divine and civil law, with a posture expressing love and charity as well as firmness and strength,—that is the attitude in which the artist represents each member of this group. By placing this group over the main entrance to the building, the artist wishes to bring home the truth that religion is, above all, the force to develop good citizenship.

OVERLOOKING WISCONSIN AVENUE

This group represents "Prosperity and Abundance." It is composed of female figures, the center one standing by a vase which is overflowing with rich fruits, while she is extending the right hand in an attitude of giving. Each of the other figures bears a cornucopia which is the usual symbol of plenty. Fertility of soil and climatic conditions determine largely the returns for agricultural effort and these in turn determine prosperity in general. Wisconsin is wonderfully favored in this respect. Her soil is rich and her climate is salubrious. From her many varied industries a great stream of wealth flows through the various channels into the homes of her people, enabling them to provide comfortably for themselves as well as for the maintenance and development of their government whose protection they receive.

This group represents "Strength." The central figure holds in one hand a short sword and in the other a shield, and shows man ready for his country's defense. Of the subordinate figures, one bears a club and the other a hammer, implements pertaining to such industrial acts as require endurance and muscular strength. Man can achieve little without a fair endowment of bodily vigor; the more liberal the endowment, other things being equal, the greater his possibilities of achievement. One of the figures, powerful in appearance, is represented as being blind, suggesting that physical strength alone is not sufficient to serve efficiently and to defend successfully the state and country. But when supported and directed by knowledge its value is increased a thousandfold for service and defense.

OVERLOOKING WEST WASHINGTON AVENUE

This group represents "Knowledge." The central figure shows a man in his prime contemplating a globe representing the earth. He is evidently engaged in the serious task of putting meaning into what he sees. The world's riddles reveal their significance only to him who bends his efforts to their solution. Original study is supplemented and enriched by the recorded observations and experiences of the past, and the artist testifies to the value of this source of information by representing two men earnestly pursuing the records that are preserved in the scrolls or books open before them. These represent the inherited stores of knowledge, both in practical and speculative lines.

Strength, prosperity, and abundance are indeed great blessings, but without knowledge they are of little value and cannot be properly enjoyed. And knowledge guided by religious faith can only result in more telling and efficient service.

It is this inner significance, this almost breathing quality of life in the material, which gives to these groups by the late Karl Bitter their marvelous beauty and grandeur.

OVERLOOKING EAST WASHINGTON AVENUE

STATUE SURMOUNTING THE GREAT DOME

Resting on the great white dome is "The Lantern," encircled by a colonnade of the Corinthian order. On it stands the gilded bronze statue, "Forward," symbolizing this word, which is the State motto. It is fifteen feet and four inches in height, weighing over three tons. This graceful figure bears on the crest of her helmet, at the height of three hundred feet, the badger, emblem of the State of Wisconsin. The right hand points forward, to express the meaning of the motto, while the left hand holds a globe surmounted by an eagle. It is the work of the celebrated sculptor Daniel Chester French.

It is interesting to know that Mr. French built a temporary studio on the cliffs of the Hudson River, where some two hundred feet above the valley he worked and modeled his figure so that he might judge of its proportion and attitude from a proper distance below.

THE DOME

The dome is the wonder of the building. On the outside it dominates the four wings and rises two hundred feet above them. It is interesting to know how the dome is covered and by what process the granite blocks are anchored to the steel framework. As a foundation for the granite, book tile resting on T-irons are riveted to the trusses, thus forming a bed for the stone. The granite blocks are then laid over the book tile, and anchored to the steel trusses with bronze anchors put in hot to keep them snug, and then doweled to the stone below.

The dome has three podium roofs, where it is possible to walk around the dome on the outside.

It is the only granite dome in the United States, and second highest in America, the dome of the Capitol at Washington, D. C., being several feet higher. There are approximately two thousand five hundred tons of steel in the dome.

THE CAPITOL GROUNDS

The approaches with their white granite copings and steps are completed. The semi-circular seats of the same material, the bronze flower vases and delicately modeled bronze drinking fountains are in place, and appropriate shrubbery planted in accordance with the architects' designs.

It is hoped that before the building is entirely completed, funds may be available to complete the architects' conception for the setting of this wonderful building, by the provision of statuary groups to flank the grand stairways to the four pavilions, and also groups of statuary on the balustrade of the terrace upon which the building stands.

SYSTEM OF LIGHTING

The lighting of the exterior of the building is obtained by a series of lights on the balustrades of the terrace and along the approaches to the building. On the top of the end of each wing, concealed batteries of powerful searchlights, forty-eight in number, are installed and so focused as to provide an equally brilliant illumination of the dome from all points of view. Lights also flank the entrance at the ends of the wings.

THE INTERIOR

The Capitol Building is built upon classical lines, both exterior and interior, and is a fine sample of Roman Renaissance architecture. Ample circulation is provided within the building, and the treatment of the grand stairways in each of the four wings is unusual, in that they do not obstruct the circulation or view on the ground floor or first floor, but, on the contrary, on entering the end of either wing, an unobstructed vista is obtained to the extreme end of the opposite wing, a distance of four hundred and thirty-four feet. On the other hand, on entering the building by way of the pavilions which are the main entrances, an impressive view of the rotunda is immediately obtained, another unusual and most attractive feature.

The noble proportions of the great dome are of themselves impressive, its diameter being seventy-six feet, and its height from the ground floor to the ceiling painting in the crown of the coffer dome, two hundred feet. The relation of the rotunda to the grand stair halls of the wings, however, is such that together they constitute part of one great composition of which the dome forms the central point of interest.

The four immense arches, which open into the vaulted stair halls of the wings, are supported in the rotunda on a Corinthian entablature, the frieze of which is in dark rose Numidian marble, resting on columns and pilasters of green Tinos marble, imported from Greece. The material was selected on account of its color and texture, to harmonize with the many beautiful Wisconsin granites which have been used with fine decorative value in the rotunda and grand stair halls. The walls of the rotunda, stair halls, and principal corridors are finished with harmonious, soft toned yellow Kasota stone from the quarries of Minnesota, not far from the Wisconsin border.

Over the piers and between the four arches in the rotunda are pendentive brackets, which make the transition from the octagonal form of the rotunda to the circular form of the dome above. The pendentives are decorated by four panels of glass mosaic of great artistic merit and are the works of the well-known artist, Kenyon Cox. These panels are twelve feet high and have an average length of twenty-four feet, and are made up of approximately four hundred thousand pieces of glass, executed by the Decorative Stained Glass Co., New York, under the personal supervision of Mr. Cox. The introduction of this form of glass mosaic decoration is of unusual interest, as it is the first time it has been attempted on so large a scale in America. The effort of the artist to attain to something of the splendor and purely decorative properties of the Byzantine mosaics, while giving to the figures and ornament a style more in harmony with the purely Renaissance character of the building, has been wonderfully successful. Any attempt at pictorial effect has been carefully avoided. The artist gives the following description of his works:

"The ornamental parts of the scheme are alike in all four pendentives. Each pendentive has a colossal seated figure on a gold ground, surrounded by a circular border based on the fasces with its reeds and crossed ribbons. On either side this central circle is a panel of oak foliage, and the whole panel is surrounded with a simple guilloche border in gold and purple. The four figures symbolize the three divisions of the powers of the state,—the legislative, the executive and judicial,—and liberty, the foundation of all power in a free country.

"LEGISLATION is represented as a powerful old man with a long beard, reminiscent of the accepted type of Moses, the first lawgiver. He has a yellow gown and a blue mantle, his left hand rests upon the table of law, while his right holds the stylus with which he has been writing. His seat is supported by a sphinx symbol of wisdom."

"GOVERNMENT, the executive power, is a man in the vigor of his age armed and holding a leading staff in his right hand. His left hand rests upon a great sword, sheathed and bound, only to be drawn in case of necessity. He wears a buff leather cuirass, ornamented in gold, a scarlet tunic, and a crimson cloak with broad collar."

JUSTICE is represented in the purely judicial function of weighing the one cause against the other, the sword of punishment being left to the executive arm of the government. Seated upon a lion throne, she looks forward in abstracted mood, while with either hand she tests the weights in the scales of the balance which is let down from heaven. She is robed in scarlet and reddish purple. While the attitude chosen for the figure is unusual, it is not without precedent, the hint for it having been taken from a fresco by Giotto in the Arena Chapel at Padua."

"LIBERTY wears the traditional Phrygian cap of red, but is otherwise dressed in two shades of green, color of youth and hope. With her left hand she guards the ballot box, while with her right she points upward as if to say that 'Under a republican form of government, the voice of the people is the voice of God.'"

Over the pendentives is the circular entablature, of which the cornice supports the visitor's gallery, already referred to. Above it, in the barrel of the dome, is a Corinthian colonnade, between the columns of which are large windows lighting the rotunda. The colonnade carries the coffer dome, in the crown of which is the beautiful painting, a masterpiece in ceiling decoration by the distinguished artist, Edwin Howland Blasfield. Mr. Blasfield was chosen for this work on account of his talent and experience in ceiling painting. In order to get the right perspective on a curved surface, he made a huge wooden bowl about six or seven feet in diameter, as a model for the completed dome. After the model was finished, he enlarged it to the right size, which is thirty-four feet in diameter. Each of the floating figures is approximately thirteen feet high, which is hard to realize when seen from two hundred feet below, as it is in such perfect scale and harmony with the surrounding architecture. The technique and detail of the picture has been considered as Mr. Blashfield's best. The subject of the canvas is the "Resources of Wisconsin," and it is worth the most careful examination.

Mr. Blashfield describes his work as follows:

"The design for the dome crown is a symbolization of Wisconsin enthroned upon clouds and wrapped in the folds of the American flag. She holds the escutcheon of the state with the coat of arms of Wisconsin upon it, and in her right hand a scepter of wheat. Around and below her are female figures, holding up specimens of the productions of the state, lead, copper, tobacco, fruit, a fresh water pearl," etc.

The Blashfield decoration in the ceiling of the dome is admirably lighted, indirectly by day from the windows between the interior and exterior domes, and by concealed electric lights at night. The lighting of the upper part of the rotunda is effected by a series of electric lights concealed behind the cornices at various levels with powerful reflectors so arranged as to throw the light in the center of the rotunda, which becomes so diffused that dark shadows are obviated, and many varied and pleasing effects are obtained.

THE CORRIDORS

The floors of the corridors are laid with marbles, chiefly from the United States, though foreign countries constitute a considerable share. Vermont, Georgia, Tennessee, the Lake Champlain region, and Missouri are also well represented among the marbles seen in the corridors, both in the floors and in the supporting pillars of the ground floor halls. There are some very handsome designs in marble in the floors, particularly in the first floor in the pavilions, and in the corridors by the entrance to the department of insurance, board of control, the supreme court, and the treasury and secretary of state departments. It will pay any one to spend time in studying the designs in marble found in the floors.

GALLERY SECOND FLOOR

Throughout the building, the visitor is attracted by the wonderfully interesting combinations of color and form arranged by the architect.

The form of the main stairs and main corridors, the arrangement of elevators, secondary stairs, etc., is identically the same in each wing.

THE INTERIOR DECORATION

The Interior Decoration, with the exception of the Assembly Suite and the Executive Reception Room, is the work of Mack, Jenney & Tyler of New York, who, in constant consultation with the architects, have achieved a most satisfactory and harmonious result in point of color, in which the use of gold has been so handled that it has produced the desired effect of richness while retaining the feeling of simplicity and good taste which is the keynote of the architecture of the building.

The most interesting portions of their work in the building are the ceiling of the Restaurant in the basement, the ceiling of the Senate Parlor, the vaulted ceilings of the third floor and the circular vestibules on the first floor.

THE EXECUTIVE CHAMBER

The Reception Room, with its lobby, which also gives access to the Governor's suite, occupies the first floor of the East wing. The reception room is designed in the Venetian Renaissance style, its general color scheme and treatment inspired by the beautiful council chamber in the Doge's palace in Venice. The ceiling and mural paintings are the work of Hugo Ballin, who was first selected for the ceiling decorations on account of his wide reputation as a Venetian colorist, and later the mural decorations were also awarded to him.

The circle in the center, nine feet in diameter, represents "Wisconsin surrounded by her Attributes, Beauty, Strength, Patriotism, Labor, Commerce, Agriculture, and Horticulture." The beauty of the State is symbolized by a young woman occupying the center of the painting. Its youth is appropriately expressed by the child, and strength by the sprig of oak in the child's left hand. The patriotism of Wisconsin is typified by the stars and stripes showing above and below the central figure. Labor is symbolized by the reclining figure grasping the handle of the tool intended for the use of an unskilled workman. The tall prophet-like figure beside a bale of merchandise, with a trident in one hand and a mariner's compass in the other, represents commerce by water, the method of transportation in early days, and the semi-nude figure, leaning on the same bale of goods, symbolizes the more modern methods of commerce by land. The lactometer in the left hand of this figure typifies the importance of the dairy products in the commerce of Wisconsin. The female figure in yellow silk, carrying flowers and fruit, standing under a luxuriant growth of vines, represents the richness of the State's agricultural and horticultural resources. A familiar quotation from the Declaration of Independence above the picture proclaims the inalienable right of every citizen to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. It is flanked by two panels; that to the left, facing north, "The Seeker of Knowledge at the Shrine of Wisdom," and that to the right, "Labor, attended by the Spirits of Rain and Sunshine." The subjects of the other panels are "Pioneering," "Charity," "Invention," "Justice," "Religious Tolerance," and "Art." The two semi-lunettes above the clock depict "War" and "Peace."

The mottoes are "The Will of the People is the Law of the Land," "The Progress of a State is born in Temperance, Justice, and Prudence," and "Tempus Edax Rerum," (Time the devourer of all things). The smaller panels display the State motto "Forward."

The murals are decorative paintings, illustrating important events in the history of Wisconsin. The painting between the doors on the south wall represents Lieut. Alonzo H. Cushing, Gen. Edward S. Bragg, Gen. John C. Starkweather, and Mrs. Cordella A. P. Harvey, surrounding a symbolic figure representing "Unity," the spirit of the Civil War.

Lieut. Alonzo H. Cushing of Waukesha county was killed at Gettysburg. While suffering from a wound that was doubtless fatal, he fell, defending his battery from the furious onslaught of Pickett. Lieut. W. B. Cushing, who destroyed the rebel ironclad Albemarle at Plymouth, N. C., on Oct. 27, 1864, was a brother. The officer in the center of the group is Gen. Edward S. Bragg as he appeared in the early days of the war. He earned undying fame for himself and honor for Wisconsin as Commander of, the Iron Brigade in the Army of the Potomac. Gen. Bragg died in 1912, mourned by all Wisconsin, and beloved by every member of that wonderful fighting machine, The Iron Brigade, three regiments of which were from Wisconsin.

On the left stands a figure of Mrs. Harvey, widow of the governor who lost his life while on a mission of sympathy and relief to those Wisconsin troops who had suffered at Shiloh. He had occupied the governor's chair only three months when duty called him to Pittsburg Landing to minister to the wounded of the battle of April 6, 1862. On his way back to his own state, he accidentally fell into the Tennessee River and drowned. After a time Mrs. Harvey gave her untiring efforts to the project of building military hospitals in the north. She convinced President Lincoln that the welfare of troops from the north demanded that this be done, and he issued an order for the erection of a military hospital in Madison. The order is represented in the painting by the roll Mrs. Harvey holds in her hand. After the close of the war, the hospital, being no longer needed for military purposes, was made a home for soldiers' orphans and Mrs. Harvey became its superintendent. This explains the children in the painting.

Around each of these names clusters an endless amount of the most heroic incidents in any history.

The painting on the left as one enters (west wall) represents "The Landing of the First White Man, Jean Nicollet, in the state, then a French territory, in 1634." To the right as you enter (west wall), "The Closing Scene of the Winnebago War in 1827," when Red Bird, chief of that tribe, surrendered to Major Whistler, near Portage.

The Winnebago war was caused by an unfortunate misunderstanding on the part of the Indians. Some of the tribe had been confined in jail at Ft. Crawford for a trivial offense, but shortly afterward were transferred to a different fort. When the Indians found these prisoners there no longer, they at once assumed that the whites had killed them and decided on retaliation. One of the first victims was an old soldier by the name of Lip-lap, living in the village of Prairie du Chien. The Indians then started for the home of a Frenchman by the name of Gagnier, who occupied a cabin on the outskirts of the village with his wife and two little daughters. Mrs. Gagnier saw the Indians coming toward the house, and thinking to appease them, she stepped inside to find them something to eat. Before returning Red Bird had shot Mr. Gagnier, killing him. When Mrs. Gagnier saw what had been done, she rushed at one of the Indians, Wekaw by name and wrenched his musket from him, but it was of the flint-lock variety and she was unable to use it. She then escaped to the village with the older of the two children, being unable to take both of them with her. Wekaw was greatly mortified at allowing a woman to take away his musket, and in revenge scalped the little girl. The child lived, however, became Mrs. Cherrier of Prairie du Chien, and died only a few years ago.

Col. Henry Dodge with the militia hastened to the relief of the village. Major Whistler, who was stationed at Fort Howard with a detachment of United State Troops, came up the Fox River and headed off the Indians in their attempt to escape up the Wisconsin. They were met at Portage by Mayor Whistler's command and given the alternative of surrendering the guilty Indian or going into a fight that seemed almost certain to result in the destruction of the entire tribe. Wisely, they elected to surrender and were accordingly imprisoned in Fort Crawford. Red Bird died in prison in 1828; the other two were sentenced by the territorial court to be executed, but they were eventually pardoned by the president. The painting shows the three Indians unarmed and under escort. Red Bird is offering Major Whistler a peace pipe, and carries a flag of truce on the pole in his right hand.

In the left space between the windows on the east wall: "Increase Allen Lapham," father of the weather bureau. The right space between the windows (east wall) "Col. Joseph Bailey" of Red River fame. In early lumbering days Bailey was a raftsmen on the Wisconsin and Chippewa rivers, where he had learned the use of wing dams in controlling water on rapids.

During the Red River expedition in 1864, Admiral Porter's fleet of eleven gunboats found itself hung up above the rapids at Alexandria, La. The regular army engineers decided that it would in all probability take a year to release the fleet. Col. Bailey offered to do the job in three months but, as might be expected, his proposition was ridiculed and rejected. After long waiting, however, and serious deliberation, he was permitted to try his plan and it proved so successful that in eleven days, using dams, he had a sufficient flow of water to carry the fleet over the rapids. It is for this achievement that the allegorical figure is crowning him with a laurel wreath. Admiral Porter paid Col. Bailey the highest possible compliment when he said this was the greatest engineering achievement in history. In recognition of this memorable achievement, the officers of Admiral Porter's fleet presented Col. Bailey with a splendid silver service, which is now on exhibition in the State Historical Museum.

The space in the left corner (east wall) "Wisconsin's First Capitol at Belmont" in 1836. The space in the right corner (east wall) "Wisconsin's Capitol, which was partially destroyed by fire in 1904, occupying the site of the present Capitol." In the narrow spaces at the entrance under the clock are depicted the "Four Seasons and Signs of the Zodiac." The two paintings on the north wall represent the lake of the morning, Monona, and the lake of the evening, Mendota. Mr. Ballin says that these two panels were suggested and executed under the inspiration of Longfellow's poem on the four lakes surrounding Madison:

"Four limpid lakes, four naiades,
Or sylvan deities are these,
In flowing robes of azure dressed,
Four lovely handmaids that uphold
Their shining mirrors, rimmed in gold
To the fair city of the West."

This poem was written by Henry W. Longfellow to accompany two pictures of Madison and its lakes by the artist Thomas Moran. The pictures were shown at the Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia in 1876. The poem will be found in any complete edition of Longfellow's poems.

Mr. Elmer T. Garnsey, who decorated the Reception Room and Lobby, made a special trip to Venice before executing the work, and together these artists have produced a rich Venetian effect quite unique in America.

In a recent article in a leading magazine, Louis Untermeyer, a New York artist and critic, characterizes this room as a miracle in rich porphyry and gold. He says: "Altogether this room will be one of the most striking things in America; it will take rank with the finest imaginative thought we have ever produced, and in sheer force of color it surpasses them all. It will answer in the highest sense the peculiar demands of decoration,—a thing which some of our most inspiring sets of paintings do not begin to fulfill. These paintings are both a justification and a prophecy of Hugo Ballin, the artist as decorator."

The room is finished in wood, painted in rich color of brown, resembling the Egyptian porphyry which is used in the veneer in that room, with the ornament brought out by the use of gold glazed down to produce an antique effect. It is lighted by three arched windows with exterior balconies overlooking the east approach through the park. It is twenty-two feet by forty-two feet six inches and has a large fireplace with mantel and over-mantel of Botticino marble. The fire back and andirons are also Venetian in character. The floor is of teak wood from India, with handsome inlaid border. Three beautiful Persian rugs have been selected for it which harmonize in color with the decorations of the room. The furniture is French walnut, especially designed by the architect, in the carving of which the arms and emblem of the state are artistically executed.

THE PRINCIPAL ROOMS

In designing the Supreme Court Room, the Senate Chamber, the Assembly Chamber, and the Hearing Room, on the second floor, the architects have given attention to the acoustic properties of each, and while avoiding the effects which might have been produced by domical ceilings on account of their doubtful acoustic properties, they have produced rooms not only of singular practical merit, but of great beauty and stateliness. Each of these rooms is preceded by an anteroom lobby, finished to harmonize with it, which is separated from the grand stair hall by ornamental grill screens. The remainder of this floor in each wing is devoted to the dependencies of each branch of the legislature, and provides suitable parlors, consultation rooms, private offices, and business suites, with elevator and service stair accommodations.

SUPREME COURT ROOM

The Supreme Court Room, situated on the second floor of the east wing, is square in plan, its dimensions being forty-two feet by forty-three feet by thirty feet high. It is lighted by a large central ceiling light of low-toned leaded glass work set in a flat coffered ceiling to prevent reverberation. The walls are finished in Italian Botticino marble ten feet six inches high, in which are large panels of selected golden veined Formosa marble, which comes from the quarries in Wetzlar near the River Lahn in Germany. The large pilasters are of Breche Coralline marble from Italy, a very beautiful marble with a purplish veining, which color is also recalled in the Formosa panels. Behind the judges' bench in front of the wainscot is an interesting treatment, recalling the old choir stalls of the Italian Renaissance, the columns being of Benou marble from France, with cornice and seats of Botticino. The Capitals of these columns are of white marble from Harers-town, Maryland, the only known marble resembling the celebrated Carrara marble in whiteness and general appearance.

On entering the room a visitor cannot fail to be impressed by its dignified character with its solid mahogany furniture and woodwork. It is the masterpiece of a master of architect's art; it is chaste in style, and indescribably beautiful in its pure simplicity. It has been regarded by thousands of visitors as the most beautiful room in the building, and one of the most beautiful court rooms in America.

The marble panelling in the walls is a marvel in nature coloring. No brush could produce such delicate tints and such variety in shades and designs as is here displayed. The panels of Formosa marble give the observer a new insight into the beauties that the Creator has hidden in the depths, to be revealed by the industry and the artistic sense implanted in man. The shafts of the pillars behind the chairs of the justices must not be overlooked.

Surrounding the Supreme Court Room are the Judges' suites, finished in quarter-sawn oak, while the lobby is finished in light Botticino marble, with decorative panels of yellow Siena marble.

On the third floor, over the court room, is situated the State Law Library, connected by elevator and stairs to the corridors surrounding the Supreme Court Room, communicating with the judges' offices, and also by elevator to the Attorney-General's Department on the first floor. A reading room is provided for the general public in connection with the library.

THE MURAL PAINTINGS IN COURT ROOM. In the four mural paintings, nine feet by eighteen feet six inches, in this magnificent room, Albert Herter has kept the color scheme of the marble referred to, to a remarkable degree, and has handled the subjects given to him by the justices of the Supreme Court in a masterly manner.

The paintings represent "The Appeal of the Legionary to Caesar Augustus;" "The Signing of the Magna Charta;" "The Signing of the Constitution;" "The Trial of Chief Oshkosh by Judge James Duane Doty." These illustrate the Laws of Rome, England, the United States, and Wisconsin.

"As one enters, the dais that carries the judges' bench lies directly in front and the painting designed for the wall above his honour's head represents the American law. The signing of the Constitution of the United States in 1787 may be called the founding of our law."

"The scene is Philadelphia; Washington is in the chair behind a table on a low dais. To the right foreground are Madison, with cloak on arm, and Alexander Hamilton, standing. Farther back near Washington stands Jefferson talking to another delegate whose back is turned. In the group of four men standing to the left in the foreground, the characteristic face of Benjamin Franklin gives a familiar look. His unpowdered hair hangs loose about his neck."

"The painter has not attempted to introduce all or even a large part of the delegates to that convention to the scene, preferring for artistic effect a central distant group and nearer groups to right and left."

"The light waistcoats and white stockings of those to right and left form notable masses of higher light. The scene of colours is well adapted to the general effect of the marble between which the picture lies."

"Although Washington holds a central position and is separate from the other figures, he has not been given a heroic pose. On the contrary, the painter has shown him leaning on his elbow with left hand under his chin, in a natural, easy attitude, as if to symbolize the citizen who is a president only for a term of years."

"On another wall is a picture called the English Law, the example being the signing of the Magna Charta in 1215, the place an open tent on the meadows of Runnymede. The subject was chosen as a fitting pendant to the Signing of the American Constitution, for the partial liberties wrung by Cardinal Stephen Langton and the barons from King John in the thirteenth Century were added to little by little, until perfected in this land nearly six centuries later."

"King John sits at one end of a table before the royal canopy, and by his furious face and clenched hand expresses the violence he is doing to his real thoughts, the effort he is making while submitting to the demands of his revolted subjects."

"A mail-clad knight, standing at the other end of the table, seems by his gesture to enforce the necessity of his yielding. Behind this knight are other barons. Behind the seated king are the bishops of London and Dublin and other prelates."

"The groups are very happily disposed. The painting is the finest of the four as to picturesqueness of setting, as to composition, and as to the quiet expressiveness of king and rebels. Glimpses of the still waters and verdant fields of the Thames valley are seen behind the tent. In the immediate foreground is the sward, full of flowers, on which the flooring has been placed."

"The third picture, entitled the Roman Law, above the door by which one enters is taken from a little-known episode in the life of Caesar Augustus Octavius, the legend of a legionary who fought for Augustus in his youth and who was involved in a case for slander, or for some violence committed. The legend or story runs that Scutarius, such is the name given him by one Roman historian, came to the autocrat and said: "I fought for you, and you must fight for me." Augustus Caesar acknowledged the obligation, and caused himself to be carried in his litter to the basilica where he claimed the centurion Scutarius as his client, and proposed to defend him. As Augustus was the religious, civil, and military head of the world at the time, it was really rather as judge than as advocate that he made his appearance."

"The painter shows him, beardless and by no means old, reclining in his litter, with his bearers, victors, and other attendants near by, while the judges are seated along a colonnade behind which rise the statues of orators. On the right stands Scutarius in helmet, cuirass and greaves, having his shield on his arm, while with uplifted arm he argues his cause. Groups of senators are in the background. Suetonius does not report that Scutarius won his case. It was not necessary."

"The fourth painting is local in subject and relates an episode in the early history of Wisconsin, when the Indians and settlers came to blows. It is the trial of Chief Oshkosh for the murder of another Indian not of his tribe. The place is a large cabin built of wood, with wide brick fireplace. The Judge whose name was Doty, sits to the right in a simple wooden chair. Oshkosh stands opposite with folded arms, proud bearing and stern face, as he conducts his own defense. Trappers, voyagers, and Indians form the audience. It is recorded that Oshkosh proved that he acted in accordance with the Indian laws, and won his case. The case, however, established a precedent in favor of the spirit rather than of the law."

"In these wall pieces, Mr. Herter has shown what is necessary to success in mural paintings: willingness and ability to subordinate the canvas to the architecture. Observe in the Signing of the Constitution how the columns and panels of the historic room where the Charter was signed fall into line with the interior where the picture is. The simple architecture on the canvas contrasts pleasantly with the more elaborate design of the Supreme Court Room. Note again how the more elaborate architecture in the picture of Roman law suits the same interior. It is, however, in the management of colours that Mr. Herter does most to harmonize the canvases with the hall they embellish."

(Quoted from "International Studio," December Number, 1915. C. De Kay.)

THE ASSEMBLY CHAMBER.

THE ASSEMBLY CHAMBER is situated on the second floor of the west wing, and is approximately seventy-three feet by sixty-eight feet by forty-one feet high. It is lighted from above by means of a large circular ceiling light of low toned leaded glass. On the four sides of the room are very flat elliptical arches with pendentive bracketing between. The speaker's desk and platform occupy the north side, the wall behind the desk and platform being wainscoted in carved oak, above which is a mural painting by Edward Howland Blashfield, representing "The State of Wisconsin; its Past, Present, and Future," the canvas being sixteen feet six inches by eighteen feet six inches.

The artist has prepared an 'interpretation of the painting, and a copy of that interpretation is found in the room. The description reads as follows:

"The decoration is entitled 'Wisconsin.' The setting is a pine forest with an effect of late afternoon sunlight—the westering sun. A female figure, symbolizing Wisconsin, is seated on a rock among figures which are intended to suggest her past. Around her, with aquatic plants twined about their heads and bodies are women, standing and seated, symbolizing Lake Superior, Lake Michigan, and the Mississippi river, the bodies of water by which Wisconsin is surrounded. Beside the figure of the latter is seated Father Claude Allouez, and behind her are Nicollet, Radisson, Des Groseilliers, Le Sueur, and De Langlade. Further to the right is a color guard from one of Wisconsin's regiments of '61. Opposite Wisconsin a female figure 'Today' points through the woods toward the Capitol, which is dimly seen in the distance. Behind her is the 'Present' typified by figures of lumbermen, miners, and farmers with their families. At the extreme right of the picture is a squaw with an Indian who shades his eyes from the light, suggesting the order of things entirely passed away, and at the extreme left a figure symbolizing the 'Future' shelters her little 'Lamp of Progress' with her hand and listens to a figure of 'Conservation of Force' who tells her to take care of her trees.

WISCONSIN, PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE

Since the painting was placed on the wall a badger has crept in and made himself at home."

The visitors' gallery occupies the space under the three remaining arches, which are supported on Breche Violette Italian marble columns, which separate the main auditorium from the entrance lobby and corridors, which in turn give direct access to the loggia on the west front and the assembly parlor on the south side of the wing. The walls of the chamber are finished with South Dover marble, a soft creamy-white New York marble, the finish of the oak and furniture being a soft natural one. The decoration of this room as well as that of the assembly parlor and its dependencies was done by Elmer T. Garnsey.

The walls of the lobby are lined with Botticino Italian marble, with matched panels of light Sienna marble. The whole length of the lobby is brought into correct proportion by the introduction of columns of Royal Tennessee marble.

The Assembly parlor is finished in Circassian walnut panelling, with mantels of Sienna marble at the ends and marble tile floor.

An electric voting machine has been installed in the Assembly Chamber. By the use of this system each member of the Assembly sitting at his desk may instantly record his vote yes or no upon any question submitted to the body, and the record of the vote appears at once upon the board which is placed in front of the gallery on the east side of the chamber. On the desk of each member is a device by which he can tell how he has voted without reference to the board. Any number of changes may be made until the vote is closed: the changes will not interfere with or affect the computing of the device. When the vote is announced closed by the Speaker, the Chief Clerk, by merely opening a switch, shuts the entire system off making it impossible to manipulate the keys until the machine is again cleared. The result of the vote will show immediately at the Speaker's and Clerk's desk when the switch is thrown. A permanent photographic record of the entire board with the names of the members and their respective votes is also at once made and is available in twenty-four seconds.

This voting system is entirely new and the first one to be used in the world.

THE SENATE CHAMBER.

THE SENATE CHAMBER occupies the corresponding location in the South Wing on the same floor, and is connected by a private passage way through the southwest pavilion to the Assembly Chamber. It is an unusually attractive room, circular in plan, thirty-one feet in diameter and thirty-one feet six inches high, with galleries for visitors on three sides. It appeals to the visitor as a model in proportion and in the handsome marbles of its massive pillars and its beautiful walls. The walls are of Italian Taver-nelle marble, a soft tone, cream yellow, with a great deal of texture, but very little veining. The columns and pilasters are of Escalette marble from France, very rich and beautiful, in which many colors are harmoniously blended. Behind the president's platform there are three panels, between the free standing columns, in which are mural paintings by Kenyon Cox, each being eleven feet six inches by seven feet two inches. The three together form one composition, representing "The Marriage of the Atlantic and Pacific," symbolic of the opening of the Panama Canal. While the paintings are strong in color, they were studied to be placed between the free-standing columns, and admirably accomplish their decorative purpose, adding materially to the beauty and dignity of the chamber. The artist provides the following interpretation:

THE MARRIAGE OF THE ATLANTIC AND PACIFIC

"The three panels are to be taken as one picture, symbolizing the opening of the Panama Canal. In the center, America enthroned, blesses the union of the two oceans. The Atlantic, typified by the figure of Neptune, places a ring on the finger of a goddess with a steering oar, who represents the Pacific. Below two children support the shield with the arms of the United States.

"In the side panels Peace and Commerce welcome the nations of the world to the ceremony. To the right, behind the Atlantic, Peace welcomes France with the palette of art, Germany, with the book of Science, and Great Britain. A muscular boatman drags at the barge with gilded figure-head. In the opposite panel Commerce, with the attributes of Mercury, beckons to Japan and China, behind whom is a figure symbolizing the Semitic races. Seated in the prow of the boat is the garlanded figure of Polynesia. A water nymph of the local stream plays beside the barge."

Before leaving this part of the building, the visitor should look into the Senate parlor to see the mahogany furniture and walls, and to take especial note of the decorations and of the mantels and plinth of Greek marble. This, too, is related to the Greek marble in the dome, but is more distinct and of a finer grade. It is hard to conceive anything in the way of marble more strikingly beautiful than this.

The ceiling decoration is, probably, the finest in this country. The work comprises four panels, two central ones being allegorical, and on each end a decorative scheme in gold and color with a cherub in each corner holding a border of garlands. The two central panels are featured with figures representing Diligence and Wisdom, characteristic, according to tradition, of the solons. Surrounding these are six other figures representing Fidelity, Truth, Science, Knowledge, Strength and Forethought.

The cornice is done in elegant gold border effect, glazed down to harmonize with the soft tones in the color scheme, and when the draperies for the windows are in place the room will be one of the most luxurious in the entire building.

THE HEARING ROOM is situated, like the other principal rooms, on the second floor, and is in the north wing. It is used for hearings of the State Railroad Commission and other important gatherings which otherwise might have to be held in the Senate or Assembly Chambers.

The design of this room is very different from that of the other three. It is carried out in a brilliant, yet harmonious, color scheme, the walls being of yellow Verona marble with selected Monte Rente Siena panels between pilasters forming the panels. The wall base and floor border is of Porte d'Or Italian marble, which is black and gold. The room is treated with a coved ceiling, and in the cove are painted decorations by C. Y. Turner of N. Y. City, representing the four methods of transportation in Wisconsin from the earliest colonial times to the present day, the first being "Transportation by Indians with Horses;" the second, "By Trappers in Canoes;" the third, "By Stage Coach;" and the fourth, "Modern Transportation by Steam and Motor." The decorations by Mr. Turner are carried out in a brilliant color scheme in which the yellow note of the Verona marble predominates. Two of the paintings are about twenty-five feet long and seven feet high, the other two are about twenty feet long and seven feet high.

The artist gives the following description of his paintings:

"The first panel, opposite the door, represents a party of Indians on horse back, on an upland, striking the trail. The subject is adapted from a photograph, by permission, made in the National Park."

TRADING .

"The second panel to the right represents a Trading Station on the borders of a lake. The Whites and Indians are bargaining for furs, a great industry carried on during the early settlement of New France. The canoe is the means of Transportation during that period."

THE STAGE COACH

"The third panel represents the Colonial Period; the use of the stage coach which was universally used before the Rail Roads were introduced. The coach is halted at an inn and the horses changed; some of the passengers alight."

A MODERN HARBOR

"In the fourth panel a modern harbor is shown, in which are introduced The Steamship, Railway Trains, The Automobile and Aeroplane. Passengers are alighting from the train and automobile to take a ferry to the ship."

"The various passengers are grouped and arranged to illustrate the subjects chosen and to picturesquely decorate the spaces, and color to harmonize with the room."

THE RESTAURANT. The Capitol Commission has provided, in the center of the basement immediately underneath the rotunda, a large room designed to give facilities for a restaurant with proper kitchen, serving pantry, etc. This room with its walls and piers of white Eschallon marble, and ceiling by Mack, Jenney & Tyler, is worthy of inspection. It is interesting to note that this marble was first specified and imported from Italy and delivered in Milwaukee, to be used in the Assembly Chamber, but was rejected by the architects as not up to the required standard, and it was then decided to use South Dover marble instead. The material was later procured from the importers and used in the restaurant for the same cost as that of the Kasota Stone.

There are many other rooms in the building worthy of inspection which have not been particularly described, as, for instance, the parlors, the private offices, and suites of committee rooms, provided for the use of senators and assemblymen; the consultation room for the justices and their suites of offices; the legislative and reference library; and the "Memorial Hall" for the use of the Grand Army of the Republic, with war relics, portraits of Wisconsin soldiers, and the treasured battle flags of Wisconsin regiments in the Civil War and other wars. The business offices of the many departments housed in this building will also bear inspection, all of which have been specially designed to meet the administrative requirements, in a simple and dignified manner.

HEATING AND VENTILATING

Great care has been taken to design as complete a system as possible for the heating and ventilating of the building. It is heated by direct steam heating apparatus, and the radiators are concealed under the windows in wooden and metal enclosures. Entirely independent from the direct heating system, is a complete system of ventilation which supplies whatever warm air is needed, in addition to that furnished by the direct system. The air is supplied to the various rooms by fans in the basement, and exhausted from the same by fans in the attic of each wing. The intakes for the fresh air are situated in the pedestals on the podium terrace, which carry the groups of statuary. The fresh air is drawn through the shafts, extending from the base of the dome to the basement, where it is passed through air filters and washers, and then over heating coils from which it is distributed to all parts of the building. The temperature of the air and its moisture and quantity are regulated by an electric automatic apparatus, and each room is also provided with thermostatic heat regulation.

SWEEPING SYSTEM. A vacuum sweeping system has been installed in the building with outlets conveniently located to reach all rooms and corridors.

REFRIGERATION. A refrigerating plant has been installed in the basement which provides ice water from the deep well on the property to many drinking fountains, which are conveniently located in the building, and outside the building on the terrace.

ELECTRIC WIRING. Wires have been installed for telephones and telegraph, bell calls, night watch, and automatic clock service.

CLOCK SYSTEM. This system is so constructed that one hundred and sixty-eight clocks are running in unison with one master clock. Each minute air is compressed along through the pipes to each clock moving the hands every minute.

THE BUILDING FOR HEAT, LIGHT, AND POWER

The Capitol Commission has provided a special building for heat, light, and power, which is conducted through a tunnel to the Capitol Building. Near the plant there will also be a warehouse from which the wares will be delivered to the building by means of the tunnel. The heating plant is located about two thousand six hundred feet east of Capitol Park on a railroad siding between East Washington Avenue and Main Street. The site contains four and one-half lots, each sixty-six by one hundred sixty-five feet, which gives a frontage of one hundred and thirty-two feet on Washington Avenue with three hundred and thirty feet on the railroad track that runs along the east side. This is on the lower lands of the city near the Chicago & Northwestern Railway station.

The tunnel enters the north side of the east wing of the Capitol and at right angles to the same near the central portion. It runs from there along the north side of Washington Avenue to Blair Street and to within one-half block of the site along its north boundary, passing under the proposed site of the warehouse with which it will be connected, and enters the rear of the Power Plant.

The residence of the engineer is in the upper story of the Power Plant, and has two floors with a street entrance. He is therefore constantly near to care for machinery.

STATUE IN SOUTHWEST PAVILION

"The West," a beautiful piece of statuary done by Vinnie Ream Hoxie in 1866-68 and given to the State, through the Capitol Commission, by her husband, General Richard L. Hoxie, is placed upon a pedestal to adorn the circular room, first floor, at the West Washington avenue entrance.

The title, "The West," is well exemplified in the work. It represents a female figure about five feet high, buoyant in life, bearing upon the forehead a star, symbolizing the poetic statement: "Westward the star of empire takes its way." Her draperies are swept by the prairie winds. In her right hand is a surveyor's chain and in her left a compass, indicating the work of laying out the western lands. A broken bow and arrow represent the vanquished Indians, while a sheaf of wheat represents the golden harvests to follow the coming of the husbandmen.

STATUE IN SOUTHEAST PAVILION

The marble statue of "The Genius of Wisconsin," done by Nellie F. Mears, of Oshkosh, Wisconsin, is now placed in the circular room, first floor, at the Monona avenue entrance.

It represents a young and graceful female figure with her hand resting on an eagle's head. The marble bird recalls "Old Abe," the famous war eagle of Wisconsin, whose stuffed body was destroyed in the Capitol fire February 27, 1904.

SENATORS.

ROBERT MARION LA FOLLETTE (Rep.) was born at Primrose, Dane county, Wisconsin, June 14th, 1855; graduated from the state university of Wisconsin June, 1879, admitted to the bar February, 1880; elected district attorney of Dane county November, 1880; reelected in 1882; elected a member of the forty-ninth congress 1884; reelected in 1886; reelected in 1888; defeated for reelection in 1890; elected a district delegate to the national Republican convention June, 1896; elected a delegate-at-large to the Republican national convention June, 1904; elected governor of Wisconsin 1900; reelected 1902; reelected 1904; elected to the United States senate to succeed Joseph V. Quarles January 25, 1905. Took his seat as United States senator January 4th, 1906. Reelected 1911 and 1916. His term of service will expire March 4, 1922.

PAUL O. HUSTING, democrat, was born at Fond du Lac, Wis., on April 25th, 1866, a son of John P. Husting and Mary M. Husting, nee Juneau, the latter being the fourth youngest of sixteen children born to Solomon Juneau, founder of Milwaukee. His father emigrated from the Grand Duchy of Luxemburg to the United States in 1855.

Senator Husting moved with his parents to Mayville, Wis., in 1876, where he received a common school education and at the age of 17 years, he became successively clerk in a general store, railway postal clerk, mailing clerk in the Wisconsin state prison and assistant bookkeeper in the office of the secretary of state under T. J. Cunningham. Entered the University of Wisconsin law school, passed the state bar examination and was admitted to the bar in 1895. Immediately commenced practicing law at Mayville, alone, but in 1897 associated himself with C. W. Lamoreux until the latter was elected county judge for Dodge county, when the present law firm of Husting & Brother was formed. Was elected district attorney of Dodge county in 1902 and reelected in 1904, elected to the state senate in 1906 and reelected in 1910. In the senate, he championed the conservation of the state's natural resources, income tax, 2-cent fare, initiative and referendum, election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people, and all laws to improve the conditions of the working men, women and children. Offered the original resolution to investigate and assisted in the investigation of the primary and election of 1908, which resulted in the enactment of the corrupt practices act. Was the first United States senator from Wisconsin to be elected by a direct vote of the people, defeating ex-Governor F. E. McGovern at the November, 1914, election by 967 votes. He succeeded Isaac Stephenson as United States senator on March 4th, 1915. His term expires on March 4th, 1921.
